

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

About Google Book Search

Google's mission is to organize the world's information and to make it universally accessible and useful. Google Book Search helps readers discover the world's books while helping authors and publishers reach new audiences. DIGEST OF GOVERNORS MESSAGES 1903

INCLUDING RELATED TOPICS IN THE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Ap. 1 1902 to Ap. 1 1903

PREFACE

As a contribution to better organization of material for comparative study of state government and laws the State Library now issues three annual bulletins: Digest of Governors Messages, Summary and Index of Legislation, and Review of Legislation.

The present Digest of Governors Messages, the second in its series, is a topical digest covering all the states and including related topics in the president's message.

The Summary and Index of Legislation is a minutely classified summary or index of new laws passed by all the states, including votes on constitutional amendments and decisions declaring statutes unconstitutional.

The Review of Legislation contains contributions from specialists in all parts of the country reviewing governors' recommendations and laws enacted on each important subject.

These three closely related annuals make up a yearbook of comparative legislation useful to legislators, public officers, journalists, investigators and all interested in keeping track of the movement of legislation in general or on any special subject. The subscription price of the three or more bulletins issued each year is $1.

N. Y. STATE LIBRARY GOVERNORS MESSAGES 1903

EXPLANATIONS

Scope. The digest includes all regular messages and all special messages recommending legislation. Veto messages and messages merely transmitting documents are not included. Topics in the president's message related to those with which the states have to deal are also included. As the journals of but few of the states are received in time for use, we have to rely on the executive department of each state to furnish lists and copies of the messages.

Method. The attempt is made to include all definite recommendations concerning legislation made by the governors in the messages. Leading sentences or paragraphs are taken to show all important recommendations. These excerpts are alphabetized by state under each topic. A mere index entry is given at the beginning of each topic for recommendations of minor interest and for general or miscellaneous remarks or comment. A great many of these index entries will be found under each important subject such as Labor, Agriculture, Schools etc. In most cases when coming under these very general Roads they stand for a few very general comments or a number of miscellaneous facts or statistics.

Citations. The citations give state, governor, day, month and year of message, and inclusive paging. The abbreviations used are given below. Many special messages are received in manuscript form and no page reference can be given.

Classification. The classification of the digest is the same as that used in the Summary and Index of Legislation and will continue unchanged from year to year, except for insertion of new headings necessitated by new subjects of legislation. The numbers assigned to headings will also remain unchanged so that readers can follow recommendations and laws on any subject by looking under the same marginal number in each bulletin. The numbering corresponds to the consecutive numbering of headings in our card index of legislation 1890 to date. Where there are no recommendations this subject number is skipped.

LAW (GENERAL)

Statutes

Preparation of statutes

- a Me. Hill. "There should be no shadow of doubt as to the exact intent and meaning of every measure proposed for enactment. Every provision of the law should be absolutely plain and clear. The utmost care should also be exercised in scrutinizing the constitutionality of all contemplated legislation. . . ." 8 Ja 03, p.26
- b N. Y. Odell. ". . . There should be some competent authority to pass on legislative bills before their introduction, or at the time of introduction, subjecting them to a scrutiny which will determine their constitutionality, or whether they conflict with or duplicate existing laws. This would not only secure statutes which would stand the test of the courts, but would avoid much unnecessary delay and reprinting of documents." 7 Ja 03, p.24

Time of taking effect

- a N. M. Otero. "§ 3781, Compiled Laws of 1897, now provides that no law shall go into effect in less than 30 full days after the adjournment of the Legislature, unless otherwise provided. . . But it has been the custom of the Legislature to make every act take effect from and after its passage. This is a very grave mistake, and should never be done except in extreme cases, which actually require the immediate execution of the law. At the last Legislature, for instance, changes were made in civil and criminal practice and in general laws which took effect at once; while the laws were not printed and distributed until July, courts were held all over the territory, and both court and counsel did not know what the law was, and I earnestly urge that you do not put any laws into immediate effect, except where it is absolutely essential, like the revenue act." 19 Ja 03, p.54

Revision and compilation

- a Mich. Bliss. ". . . The bulky statutes of the state challenge attention. For instance, the laws referring to the insane could better be embodied in a single act instead of being scattered through various acts as now. Passage of such a measure will be urged at the present session, and favorable action is recommended. Again the laws of corporations is a fruitful field, there being 200 separate acts. The result is that general principles do not apply, and court decisions in one are not a guide in the legal construction of acts relating to another class of corporations."

8 Ja 03, p.11-12

- b N. C. Aycock. "Provision for a new code is worthy of your careful consideration."

7 Ja 03, p.43

- c O. Nash. "... I suggest that by joint resolutions you refer the school laws to the state commissioner of common schools and the attorney general; the laws relating to the compensation of county officers to the auditor of state, secretary of state and the attorney general; the laws relating to registration and elections to the secretary of state; and the laws relating to annual boards of equalization to the auditor of state with instructions to revise and recodify said laws, remove therefrom all imperfections, and have their work ready for presentation to the next General Assembly of Ohio, on the first Monday in January 1904. The officers named are entirely familiar with these laws, and I am sure they would make a perfect revision of the same."

25 Ag 02, p.5-6

- d S. D. Herreid. "On the 7th day of May, 1901, 'by and with the advice and consent of the judges of the Supreme Court,' I appointed 'a commission of three competent and worthy persons, learned in the law, to revise and codify the laws of this state' in accordance with chapter 183, laws of 1901. . . I would recommend that the work of the commissioners be adopted without delay and the passage of acts adopting these codes during the first week of the session in order that all bills that may be introduced amending or changing the laws of the state may refer to the sections, chapters and articles of the Revised Codes of 1903."

18 Cessions to United States

- a U. Wells, 13 Ja 03, p.44.

Statistics

- a N. C. Aycok. “. . . Heretofore the statistics [collected by the attorney general], while showing the number of crimes committed by white and colored people separately, do not show the particular crimes which each race commits. . . Provision ought to be made, also for the collection of statistics by the clerks of the courts showing the number of crimes committed by the illiterate, as compared with those committed by the literate.”

Bureaus of statistics

See also Labor bureaus, 2041

- a U. Wells. “. . . The commissioner’s [commissioner of statistics] suggestions to the effect that county assessors be required to collect only agricultural statistics, and that all other statistics be collected by the bureau itself, is a suggestion born of the experience of two years’ ineffectual attempts to get accurate information under the present law, and should find favor with you. . . ”

Revision

- a Ala. Jelks, 14 Ja 03, p.1-3; changes necessitated by new Constitution. Ct. Chamberlain, 7 Ja 03, p.8; method of revising Constitution. Neb. Savage, 6 Ja 03, p.10. R. I. Garvin, 6 Ja 03, p.8-10; constitutional convention recommended.
- b Del. Hunn. “I would suggest . . . the propriety of publishing the proceedings of the last Constitutional Convention. . . ”
6 Ja 03, p.20
- c Ga. Candler. “. . . The convention of 1877 went as far in the direction of economy and even parsimony as that of 1868 had in extravagance and wastefulness. Under the latter the flood gates were opened, under the former enterprise has been hampered and energy paralyzed. . . It is often ambiguous and always ill adapted to the conditions which now prevail. Hence, there is among thinking men a widespread feeling in favor of another convention of the people to revise the Constitution and amend it so as

CONSTITUTIONAL LAW CONSTITUTIONS

- to improve it and adapt it to the conditions which now surround us. . . In Georgia there are three crying evils demanding a remedy, either one of which is of sufficient importance, if the convention should do nothing else, to warrant the people in assembling in convention. First. The restriction of the elective franchise and the elimination of the venal and corrupt vote. Secondly. A constitutional provision giving the Legislature more ample power in dealing with trusts and corporate monopoly. . . Third. A better and safer method of selecting judicial officers. . . ” 22 O 02, p.16
- d Ill. Yates. “A constitutional convention, to amend or abrogate the present Constitution, has recently been advocated, in certain quarters. I recommend that no steps in this direction be taken by this General Assembly. I do not believe that a need for such convention has as yet arisen. . . ” 7 Ja 03, p.14
- e Mich. Bliss. “I strongly favor submitting to the people at the ensuing spring election the question of the general revision of the Constitution. Originally far from elastic, the progress of the times has compelled the making of so many amendments that the Constitution is something of a patchwork affair, and this condition must necessarily grow worse owing to the fact that the organic law of the state was drafted too much along lines of legislation instead of being purely a basis for legislation.” 8 Ja 03, p.11
- f Neb. Savage. “. . . The state of Nebraska has so developed in its industrial, educational and commercial resources that it can no longer be subjected to that degree of restraint embodied in the Constitution as it now exists without material interference with its growth and welfare.” 6 Ja 03, p.3
- g W. Va. White. “Our present state Constitution, as I have before publicly remarked, creaks in nearly every joint. We can not have an efficient and ideal tax system under our present Constitution with its limitations. I have already twice called attention to one feature of this matter in my comments on the recommendation of the Insurance Department, as to the present method of taxing insurance companies, and in my recommendation for a tax upon the gross incomes of public service corporations. The present Constitution should be amended in many particulars, if the problems discussed by the Tax Commission are to be effectually met and solved. We can not have an efficient secret ballot law under our present Constitution.” 14 Ja 03, p.20

Amendment

- a Tenn. McMillin, 12 Ja 03, p.14.
- b Cal. Gage. "Constitutional amendments are easily passed at each session of the Legislature, for, unlike laws, the governor has neither the power of approval nor of disapproval. When passed by resolution of the Senate and Assembly and submitted to the people, comparatively few voters really understand the character and purpose of these amendments, when appearing by title and number on the ballot; hence, as a rule, the electors vote on them in a very perfunctory manner. Whether carried or lost, these constitutional amendments generally receive a smaller portion of the popular vote than the several state candidates of the two leading parties. In this apathy of the electors danger is concealed." 5 Ja 03, p.60-61

- ar Id. Morrison. "A disposition to create new departments and new offices rather than make more comprehensive and efficient those which exist, when indulged, as shown by past experiences, has met with public condemnation and the offices created proved little less than political sinecures. . . ." 5 Ja 03, p.4
- b Ind. Durbin. ". . . Other states have separate bureaus with retinues of officers and clerks for insurance, building and loan, banking, lands, railroads and varied departments of governmental oversight, that furnish meager duties and substantial salary lists, but Indiana saves this unnecessary expense by merging under central authority these subordinate divisions, thus not only saving thousands of dollars in superfluous expenses, but giving the public much better and more methodical service." 8 Ja 03, p.2
- c Ind. Durbin. "I consider it is timely to direct attention to the fact that in Indiana we have been creating bureaus at a prodigious rate; some desirable, others of small practical consequence, and still others that are next to needless. . . Additional deputies, additional excuses for spending money in order to provide preferred persons with employment, are matters with which each succeeding Legislature is called on to consider in connection with general and specific appropriations. . . ." 8 Ja 03, p.13

- d Mass. Bates. "I recommend . . . consolidating the department of the comptroller of county accounts with the auditor's department." 8 Ja 03, p.35
- e Mon. Toole. ". . . The people should elect all important officers of the state government. Under the law, as it now stands, the governor of the state appoints the state examiner, state inspector of mines, state coal mine inspector, state boiler inspector, commissioner of agriculture and labor, state veterinarian, register of the state land office, state land agent and game warden. . . . It is the system that is reprehensible—a system which is inconsistent and inharmonious with the genius and spirit of our institutions in its attempt, without reason or necessity, to mingle and fuse together disagreeing elements of a democracy and a monarchy. In short, in my opinion, executive appointments or patronage, if you please, and popular sovereignty are antagonistic elements in our form of government, and ought to be abandoned. . . ." 5 Ja 03, p.42-43
- f Neb. Savage. "The government of the state as now constituted, symbolizes extravagance in a marked degree. Those who framed the existing Constitution established departments that for the next 25 years, under the most favorable circumstances in the growth and development of the state, will be an unnecessary burden on the taxpayers. . . A careful study of this phase of the question justifies me in my own mind in recommending the abolition of the departments of auditor of public accounts and commissioner of public lands and buildings, and the assignment of the duties incumbent thereon to those departments officered by the secretary of state, the treasurer and governor. . . In the conflict for political spoliation the office-seeking class seems to have outgeneraled and defeated those who stand for economy, with the result that a large number of names have been added to the pay roll, and bureaus and departments have been established absolutely without any apparent justification. . . A critical investigation will show that in many instances one department is duplicating the work of the other with no other object than to find employment for those whom the Legislature has from time to time established in public office." 6 Ja 03, p.5-6
- g Or. Geer. "The system of government provided by our Constitution embraces a form which, for economy, is not equaled by any other state in the Union. Oregon has fewer officers than any other state, and therefore, they perform more duties than are required of similar officers elsewhere. The four principal state officers, consisting of the governor, the secretary of state, the state treasurer, and the superintendent of public instruction, control and direct all our public institutions, as well as the vast business connected with our state lands, the irreducible school fund, our enormous fishing industry and other interests not now necessary to mention. . . .”

- h W. Va. White. “Including the capitol buildings and mansion as one of the number, we now have 22 public institutions to provide for. Besides that, we have 28 boards of administration of various sorts, and five boards of commissioners.”

Governor

- a Cal. Gage. “The Constitution has fixed a most inopportune time for the inauguration of the governor and the assembling of the legislators. The newly elected executive is, under the existing laws, compelled to face a busy session of the Legislature at the very beginning of his official career, before he can inform himself in detail of the state’s necessities, or outline a complete policy of state administration.”
- 5 Ja 03, p.5
- b Cal. Pardee. “At present, the governor of California is inducted into office under circumstances which greatly militate against his efficiency. Elected in November, he goes into office early in January, only two months afterward. Unable, in this short space of time, to gain the mastery of the intricacies of so great and complicated a business as is presented to him by the manifold affairs of the state; unable even to visit, much less to study, the many state institutions; precluded from informing himself in any satisfactory manner as to the needs of or abuses in any of the many departments of the state government, the governor, as his first official duty, finds himself face to face with a Legislature, most of the members of which are as inexperienced as he in the business they have in hand. Would it not be better to have the state election held two months earlier, say about September first? If this were done, the newly elected officials would have four, instead of two, months in which to study the situation and inform themselves on their new duties. To do this, would, of course, require a constitutional amendment.”
- 7 Ja 03, p.17
- c Nev. Sparks. “By mutual agreement between my honored predecessor and myself, I have been favored with the promise that he will report to your honorable bodies such information as is considered properly within the constitutional powers of the government of this state. ple, and future requirements in legislation, it affords me pleasure to submit to your honorable body for careful consideration his recommendations. . . .” 23 Ja 03, p.4

d Or. Chamberlain. “While the mandate of the Constitution requires the incoming as well as the outgoing executive to embody in a message to you such suggestions as may seem proper with reference to legislation, in the very nature of things the suggestions of the retiring executive deserve and will receive at your hands more attention than any I can make. . . .” 14 Ja 03, p.3

e Pa. Pennypacker. “It is my wish always within reasonable limits to confer with all persons who may have facts to impart or conclusions to present, and it is my purpose to consult specially with those who in common parlance are called politicians. There is no more dangerous public vice than the prevalent affectation of disrespect for those who are engaged in the performance of the work of the cities, the commonwealths and the nation, because it is in effect an attack on popular government, and its tendency is to undermine our institutions. There was a time when proper deference was shown even to those officials lowest in authority, and the cultivation of a like spirit is a much needed public virtue.” 20 Ja 03, p.2

a W. Va. White. “. . . If the executive does his duty, he will find that he is an overworked man, and that he should be relieved absolutely of any necessity of attending to private business to make ‘both ends meet,’ in order to maintain his position respectably. A liberal salary should be paid, and the governor should draw the largest salary of any official of the state, for obvious reasons. . . .” 14 Ja 03, p.22-23

b Cal. Gage. “Added to this impeding disadvantage [see above, 40] is the constitutional provision which restricts the time to 10 days after the adjournment of the Legislature for approval or disapproval of the numerous important and unimportant bills which are left to the governor for action by the outgoing legislators, and which increase his many great responsibilities. During the last week of the session hundreds of bills, many of them very lengthy, and nearly all involving intricate questions of law as well as of policy, are thrust on the wearied executive, and it is expected that he can determine these many vexed problems within this narrow constitutional limit of 10 days. . . In the absence of a constitutional amendment remedying this matter, and till the adoption of such a measure, I recommend that the Legislature make use of their discretionary power, and, by concurrent resolution, frame and pass all bills designed for laws and present them to the governor eight or nine days before the final adjournment. This time would, in addition to the constitutional time, give the governor 18 or 19 days within which to pass on the numerous measures enacted. These remaining eight or nine days of partial legislative inaction could be profitably used, among other ways, by the Senate and Assembly in most carefully considering and deliberating on resolutions and constitutional amendments, pursuing investigations, and acting on the reports of committees, and the members might also, in their individual capacity, materially assist the executive by furnishing him with needed information concerning the nature of the bills submitted for his signature. . . contracts let thereunder beginning the December following. It has, therefore, been in operation for three years. Being a radical departure from the existing manner of purchasing supplies for the eleemosynary institutions, it has required experience in order to secure harmonious working. The results accomplished are gratifying. . . The advantages of the present over any former system may be briefly stated to be: (1) the purchase of supplies at wholesale prices and in larger quantities, thereby insuring lower prices; (2) the reduction of purchases in the open market and in private manner, thus preventing favoritism, and, in many instances, direct fraud; (3) the purchases being made by the agent, whose office is at the capitol, wide publicity and easy access is given to all transactions; (4) the smallest institutions pay no more for similar articles than do the largest—all being on an exact equality as to cost; (5) cash payment on delivery lessens the cost; (6) the bidders are not confined to the localities at which the institutions are established; (7) the entire time of the agent being devoted to the business, he can better acquaint himself with the range of prices and the best sources from which to draw supplies; (8) the superintendent, with the storekeeper representing the institution, and the purchasing agent, are a check, each on the other, the contractor being responsible to both; (9) the method is justified by the practice and experience of all the railway systems and other great public utilities in the country, and by every department of the federal government. . . ”

"The Board of Control as constituted has proved in the past a satisfactory solution of the problem of management of the territorial institutions placed in its charge, and is perhaps the most economical and best method yet found for the management of public institutions. . . ." 19 Ja 03, p.15
- c Col. Peabody. "The Board of Charities and Correction, serving as it does without compensation, except as to its secretary, is so hedged about by restrictions and limitations in the act creating it as to make its labors unproductive of practical results. Its duties are purely visitatorial and supervisory, without authority to enforce or carry into effect any of its recommendations. The act creating it seems to be an attempt to create a board which shall have some sort of control over the various penal, correctional and charitable institutions of the state, but, if such was the intention of the act, it falls far short of accomplishing any such result. "It has been recommended to previous Legislatures that a board of control be established which should have full control and custody of all such institutions, both as to their management and financial affairs. The creation of such a board would not fail to accomplish better results and a more economical administration of the affairs of these various institutions, as it is clearly shown by the reports of similar boards in other states. My recommendation is that the Board of Charities and Correction be reorganized along the lines above suggested, or that the act creating it be repealed, thereby saving the expense of maintaining it under the present law." 13 Ja 03, p.93-94
- d Minn. Van Sant. "At the last general session a bill was passed, now known as the board of control bill, and pursuant to its provisions a board was appointed and immediately entered on the discharge of its duties. The wisdom of the adoption of the board of control system has been amply vindicated. A brief year of the administration of the board has passed, and its work has surpassed the most sanguine expectations of its friends. Prompted by the same abiding faith that recommended its creation, which has been strengthened a hundredfold by its splendid work during the past year, it is safe to predict that the board of control system will be permanently maintained. The success of this system in Wisconsin and Iowa, coupled with its effective work in our state, will, in my judgment, eventually result in its adoption by every state in the Union. . . I firmly believe that the institutions in charge of the Board of Control have never been in a higher state of efficiency, and that the inmates thereof are safe in the hands of the board, and I do not hesitate to say that the great saving to the state has been brought about solely by the new departure in the purchase of supplies and by enlarged and improved business methods, and not in the least at the expense of efficiency. . . A perusal of the report will show that the total gross savings amount to $171,000; from this deduct the expense of the Board of Control for the fiscal year, and we have a balance, as the net saving for the year, of more than $147,000. . . I am strongly of opinion that the management of the university and the normal schools should be wholly removed from the Board of Control. It was not the intention of those who originally favored the measure to include them. . . The affairs of the university and normal schools will be safe in the hands of the regents and the normal school board. . . " 7 Ja 03, p.8-11

e Neb. Savage. "I recommend that the management of the state institutions be placed under the supervision of a nonpartizan board of control and pardons. This board should be heavily bonded and should be required to purchase supplies, inspect institutions and accounts thereof and exercise supervisory control over the several institutions. . . The State Board of Charities has failed by its achievements to justify its further existence at public expense, and I respectfully recommend that this work be left to the churches and charitably inclined and that the law creating said board be repealed." 6 Ja 03, p.7

f S. D. Herreid. "It is with feelings of peculiar satisfaction that I have transmitted to you the splendid report of the Board of Charities and Corrections. Never before since the establishment of these institutions have they been in charge of officials possessing such preeminent qualifications and the complete confidence of the people. Never before have these institutions been so effectually under the control of a board of control in fact as well as in name. Never before have these institutions been managed so strictly in accordance with business principles so well recognized among successful business men. Today these institutions are distinctly state institutions, managed by the state and in the interests of the state. By purchasing the supplies in large quantities from the lowest responsible bidders large sums of money have been saved. . . "

- f U. S. Roosevelt. "There is a growing tendency to provide for the publication of masses of documents for which there is no public demand and for the printing of which there is no real necessity. Large numbers of volumes are turned out by the government printing presses for which there is no justification. Nothing should be printed by any of the departments unless it contains something of permanent value, and the Congress could with advantage cut down very materially on all the printing which it has now become customary to provide. The excessive cost of government printing is a strong argument against the position of those who are inclined on abstract grounds to advocate the government's doing any work which can with propriety be left in private hands." 2 D 02, p.23

- a Col. Peabody. "Many of the scandals connected with the administration of county and state affairs seem to be connected with public printing and stationery supplies, due to the fact that the present laws on this subject provide no competent official who shall have charge of these matters. No reflection is intended to be cast on any official of preceding administrations, but from the very nature of the case (printing being a technical art), abuses have crept into this branch of the public service, and as a result great extravagance, to say the least, prevails in all departments requiring printing and stationery supplies, as may readily be seen by a simple reference to the annual appropriations and expenditures for these items. My recommendation is that the office of supervisor of printing and stationery supplies be created, providing for the appoint-

- a Mich. Bliss. "If this Legislature will veto as well as pass bills the session can be made notable. Many sins of legislation are committed in the name of courtesy to members. A statute-burdened state asks the adoption of the policy of no special acts where general laws can apply. It protests against laws taking immediate effect where a real emergency does not exist, and requests a return to the rule that generally laws shall not be operative till 90 days after the Legislature has adjourned. A short session is suggested, and in the line of legislative economy a movement looking to the abolishment of the 50 day limit for the introduction of bills, which is a farce as far as preventing the introduction of new matter is concerned, its only appreciable effect being to keep the Legislature practically idle for 50 days while bills are poured into the legislative hopper. The House and Senate journals are burdened with hundreds of titles whose only purpose is to nullify the time limit. An additional step toward a short session will be the payment of a fixed salary to legislators, a reform it is believed the state is ready to adopt. More effective laws will be secured through committees consulting freely with the departments in regard to the administrative features of any proposed act with the execution of which they may be charged. Doing away with the legislative recess taken for the purpose of permitting committees to visit state institutions, was favored two years ago, but extended observation forces the conclusion that this recommendation was in error. It is preferable to get through with this work in as brief a time as possible, to prolonging it through the session. . . .” 8 Ja 03, p.3

- b R. I. Garvin. “In Rhode Island, largely owing to the long continuance in power of one party, certain abuses have sprung up—abuses which are recognized generally and condemned by public opinion. Among these abuses of governmental functions are (1) the passage of laws by one General Assembly which, according to their terms, can not be amended or repealed at will by a subsequent General Assembly; (2) boards of police commissioners, created for two of our cities and one town, under which from one fourth to one eighth of all the taxes raised for local purposes in these municipalities are expended by three state commissioners who are in no way responsible to the electorate contributing the taxes; (3) post-election sessions of the General Assembly, at which a Legislature whose successors have been chosen, passes improper and unpopular laws, such as it would not dare to enact at the January session; and, finally, (4) an irresponsible third house dominating both branches of the General Assembly, and causing legislation, which should be just and solely for the public welfare, to become a mere matter of sale to the highest bidder.” 6 Ja 03, p.6-7

- b Ct. Chamberlain. “. . . With the large increase of population in a few towns, and the concentration of more than one half the population of the state in 11 of these, there has been presented a problem the solution of which has received the earnest attention of many thoughtful and patriotic citizens who earnestly desire what is right and what is best for the people of this state. It is my opinion that in the House of Representatives it is best for all the people of Connecticut that the people of each town shall forever have one representative, but it is also best for all our people that the people of every town shall have a representation sufficient in number to carefully and intelligently attend to every matter of legislation in which the people of such town are interested. . . . An amendment providing that the people of each town whose population was less than 5000 might send one representative, and that the people of those towns the population of which was from 5000 to 25,000 might send two representatives, and that the people of those towns whose population was from 25,000 to 50,000 might send three representatives, and that the people of those towns the population of which was from 50,000 to 75,000 might send four representatives, and that the same ratio of population be observed as to additional representation from larger towns, would, it seems to me, be a plan of representation which would safeguard the interests of all towns and provide sufficient representation for the people of each town." 7 Ja 03, p.5-7 c Or. Chamberlain. "A glance at the act of 1899 redistricting the state into senatorial and representative districts is sufficient to condemn it as a measure of the grossest partizanship, entirely without merit, and wholly unjust to many of the border counties of the state. . . ." 14 Ja 03, p.44

d R. I. Garvin. "By the census of 1900, the population of this state was given at 428,556. Of that number, 98,526 inhabited 30 towns, and the remaining 330,030, or 77%, lived in eight cities and towns. These eight urban municipalities are represented in the Senate by but eight of its 38 members; constituting but 21% of that body, which possesses a veto power on all legislation. A less degree of injustice exists in the House of Representatives, and yet there the discrimination against cities and populous towns is very great. The abuses to which I have referred are a necessary consequence of such a travesty on representative government. Inevitably, when one twelfth of the inhabitants of a state, dwelling in small towns controlled politically by petty considerations or corrupt influences, possesses more power in legislation than the remaining 11 twelfths, unjust laws will be enacted and many wise acts will fail of passage." 6 Ja 03, p.7-8

The congressman at large, while he has the same rights on the floor and in the committee room as the member who has a district, is practically denied other prerogatives of a member. Each congressional district is entitled to certain recognition, certain patronage. Kansas practically loses one eighth of what she is entitled to under the present apportionment. The fact that a district has 60,000 or 70,000 more population than it is entitled to does not entitle the people of the district to any more recognition than they would have if they had the number contemplated by law. . . After a careful revision during its passage this law was enacted by a vote that was practically unanimous and in exact accord with its provisions the popular vote was held last June. . . In many states of the Union the result of this first attempt at the popular vote for United States senators is watched with much interest, and its prompt observance and ratification will not only encourage its adoption in other states, but will prove the sincerity of our protestations in favor of popular elections of senators, and render impossible a repetition of former experiences in Oregon, to prevent which, this law was formulated, supported and adopted."

c U. Wells. ". . . I am constrained to reaffirm the views expressed in my message two years ago as to the desirability of electing United States senators, as we now elect United States representatives, by direct vote of the people. It ought not to be possible for a legislative deadlock, or the obstinacy or machinations of candidates and their supporters, to deprive any state of its constitutional representation in this branch of the national Congress. . . . Moreover, questionable and improper methods to elect one candidate or defeat other candidates, would lose their efficacy under the system proposed. . . " 13 Ja 03, p.8

a Cal. Gage. "In my inaugural address and, subsequently, in the first biennial message, I adverted to the evils of overlegislation, and now, after an experience of four years, the belief entertained by me that much damage results to the state from the multiplication of new laws has grown into positive conviction. . . Statutes require time for their maturity in order to manifest their equitable, or disclose their inequitable, effects. They need the soil of usage, and the water of judicial interpretation for their growth and development; and, when once planted, the legislative plow should be tardily exercised. . . ”

- b Col. Peabody. “Hasty, ill advised, unwise and immature legislation leads to confusion, uncertainty, needless litigation and a consequent disrespect for all law. Nothing is more detrimental and retarding to the prosperity of a nation or state than the uncertainty of legislation; and if it be a fact that Colorado today is not participating to the fullest extent, as it should, in the prosperity of the nation, this condition is largely due to the fact, in my judgment, that previous General Assemblies have done too much ‘tinkering’ with Constitution and laws. . . Radical and far-reaching legislation, fundamental changes in our laws, with resultant doubt, uncertainty, litigation and chaos, have been the affliction under which the people of this state have existed during several administrations last past, till the time has arrived when the people of this state demand, in no uncertain terms, a period of rest, so that they may familiarize themselves with the laws and adapt their interests to the existing conditions. Legislators seem, too often, to be imbued with the idea that their only duty is to introduce bills and enact laws; whereas, the chief duty of a wise and conservative legislator is to prevent all legislation which will have a tendency to unsettle conditions or result in radical changes. . . ”

- g U. Wells. “. . . It has been aptly said that, while prosperity may be destroyed by mischievous enactments, it can never itself be created by law alone. The strength of a state exists not in the multitude and complexity of its statutes. It is their clearness, consistency and justice—in a word their harmonious perfection—which gives stability to the social system. Such crudities and errors as experience may have shown to exist in our present laws should, with care and calmness, be corrected without delay. Much further than this, however, we may well hesitate to go, save where at wisdom’s promptings the enactment of new and wholesome legislation will promote the general welfare as well as give to individual capacity the fullest scope, for on this latter, after all, depends the prosperity of the whole. . . .” 13 Ja 03, p.4

- a Ala. Jelks. “I appeal to you . . . to see to it that the time heretofore trifled away in local legislation, the continuous hunt by representatives for local monetary or other small advantage to his immediate constituents shall be given to the larger study of questions affecting the whole state. It is fortunate for you, too, that local legislation is, in a large way, out of your reach. It has heretofore had a tendency to dwarf our legislative stature. Under new conditions, the largest personality, and the strongest, will take his easy place at the head. . . .” 14 Ja 03, p.1
- b Ala. Jelks. “Of the new statutes growing out of the 31 local subjects about which you shall legislate only in a general way, only two or three are likely to give you great concern. The subject which you will find the most serious will be the one which prohibits any special law incorporating a city, town or village. Your duty requires you to pass a comprehensive statute providing a plan under which towns of any size may be incorporated with privileges dependent on its size and needs. To formulate such a law will tax the capacity of your wisest members.” 14 Ja 03, p.2
- c Ark. Davis. “. . . I desire to state to you frankly that the work of the last session of this honorable body was, in my judgment, too largely consumed with local or special legislation. . . CONSTITUTIONAL LAW LEGISLATURE

d Cal. Gage. "Incidental to this evil of overlegislation is an inclination on the part of legislators to enact general laws to fit special cases in order to evade § 25 of art. 4 of the state Constitution, which prohibits local or special legislation. General laws are often passed which, in fact, are only designed to benefit particular individuals or localities, or to relieve special conditions, but, though the special purpose be good, it often happens that the very generality of the law impairs other and more material rights. Different conditions, as a rule, require different laws. It is a matter to be regretted that the constitutional provision against special and local legislation is so wide reaching in its effects. While the evil that was intended to be remedied and guarded against by § 25 of art. 4 was a very serious one, still the new evil of the enactment of general laws to fit special cases is more serious, and it would be well for this constitutional section to be so amended as to permit necessary exceptions, thereby doing away with this injurious method of legislative evasion." 5 Ja 03, p.5

e Mich. Bliss. "An evil in legislative practice in this state is the time consumed in the consideration of so called local bills, and this evil will probably continue till prohibited by constitutional provision. . . The present legislative practice contemplates home rule by conceding to the legislators from any given municipality that they reflect local sentiment regarding local legislation. While as a rule this is satisfactory in results, in operation it occupies entirely too much time. The Legislature, as a basic proposition, should be restricted to the consideration of general bills only. If this is not done, as an alternative the legislative practice of a referendum sometimes obtaining on local bills, ought to be made mandatory. Municipalities should be given the largest measure of home rule consistent with their relations to the state and the operation of general laws. . . ." 8 Ja 03, p.11

f Mon. Toole. "If the Constitution invited or permitted special legislation, each of you would, no doubt, be ready to formulate at once and press with insistence the measures required by his particular constituents; but, happily, legislation which is not obnoxious to the fundamental law, must, as a rule, relate to the people as a whole and affect all portions of the state, thus requiring from each of you a larger and broader view of every question than that circumscribed by the limits of your several districts; making you individually and in a large measure the representatives of the whole people." 5 Ja 03, p.5

g N. Y. Odell. "The increase in the statutory laws of the state, through what are known as special acts, not only consumes the time of the Legislature, but renders it more difficult for the legal profession to keep in touch with the changes that are constantly being made in our laws. General laws should govern so far as possible. Amendments to the game laws, special amendments to the charters of villages and cities should be discouraged, and relief afforded through general enactments whenever and wherever practicable. The Legislature could well afford under the direction of the Forest, Fish and Game Commission to accord to the boards of supervisors the right to regulate, under a general statute, the game laws for their own particular localities. The veto power which was accorded to the mayors of cities of the state had for its object not only the prevention of undesirable legislation, but also a reduction of the number of amendments to city charters. One of the sources of these legislative ills are measures which seek to restore, to repay or reimburse persons through some failure of power which should be lodged in municipal or state authorities. The time of the Legislature is not only consumed, but they sometimes act without a proper knowledge of the merit or demerit of the case and often thus lay the foundation for the establishment of illegal claims. Repairs on roads, the erection of bridges over the canals and other expenditures to be made by the state should be included in the annual appropriation bill on the recommendation of the heads of the departments affected. By so doing unnecessary improvements would be avoided and money saved to the state. . . "

h N. Y. Odell. "I desire to call the attention of the Legislature to the numerous bills which through failure to observe some feature of the statute governing the issuance of bonds are brought before the Legislature each year. While there should be no reason, and perhaps there is no intent, to act in any other manner than as laid down in our statutes, yet the insistence of purchasers of bonds for their validation under the slightest pretext, will in the near future make it necessary for every bond to be legalized by special act of the Legislature. In view of this and also of the fact that bills introduced for this purpose but seldom set forth the defect which it is desired to remedy, it seems to me that some local body should be vested with power to legalize such bonds and to correct such defects without burdening the Legislature with their consideration. If a general law were enacted authorizing the boards of supervisors of the various counties to pass on these questions, it would be a greater safeguard to the interests of the taxpayers than the

What benefits the territory at large, must necessarily benefit each county and locality, while the converse of this proposition is not true; and what may prove a benefit to certain localities may be an actual detriment to the territory at large; this is particularly true in reference to the location of territorial institutions, and appropriations made for their maintenance and support." 19 Ja 03, p.3

Direct legislation

- a Mass. Bates. “Our fathers established here a representative form of government. In most matters that come before the General Court its members must take the responsibility and decide for the people. But it is not an attempt to shift the burden of responsibility for a Legislature elected to make laws for a single year, to refer to the people of a special locality for their direct decision such matters as the granting of franchises where the people of that locality alone are to be affected, where their interests only are to be subserved, and where, as the result of such action, their welfare is concerned, not for one, but for many years. I am in entire accord with the views of those who believe that legislation in such cases should be referred for the approval or rejection of the voters of the community most interested." 8 Ja 03, p.29

- b Mon. Toole. "I know of nothing more in accord with the genius and spirit of American institutions than what is popularly known as 'direct legislation.' If such a change is made in our fundamental law as will permit the people at the ballot box to approve or reject certain legislation, those having private interests to serve will not infest these chambers or obstruct the public business. Moreover, the Legislature and the executive will exercise more care as to the nature of the measures passed and approved if the voters have the power to demand that their voices be heard at the ballot box directly on these measures. . . ." 5 Ja 03, p.35-37
- c Or. Chamberlain. "The people have seen fit to adopt an amendment to the Constitution providing for the initiative and referendum. . . Legislative contests over the election of United States senators, and lobbies in the interest of railway and other corporations, have so obstructed legislation in years gone by, that many laws actually demanded have failed of enactment, while others absolutely without merit and vicious in their tendency have found lodgment on the statute books. As a means to check these evils—sins of omission and of commission—the initiative and referendum is to be attempted, and there is no question but that the effect will be beneficial. To give the amendment a fair trial some legislation ought to be had at this session to make it effective. . . ." 14 Ja 03, p.33

Educational qualifications

- a S. C. Heyward. "According to the reports of the superintendent of education for several years past, it is shown that more negro children than whites are attending our public schools. Do our white people realize what this means for the future? Do they realize that, if they allow their children to grow up in ignorance, the Constitution of their state—a constitution of their own making and adoption—will, later on, deny the ballot to their sons? . . . - b W. Va. White. "The corruption of voters and the blackmailing of candidates by corrupt voters is an evil which, in the latter respect at least, is growing with the years, and the man or men who can find a remedy, or who will apply the remedy in the present laws, so as to land a few hundred of these conscienceless blackmailers of candidates and sellers of their votes in the penitentiary, and disfranchise a few hundred or thousands of them for all time to come, will confer a great blessing on the state. A man who sells his vote ought to be disfranchised, as well as the man who offers his vote for sale, or endeavors to extort money from candidates for the delivery of his own vote or that of others. It is suggested that every candidate for public office, either at a primary or at a general election, should be required to submit an expense account under oath, showing the amount of money expended by himself personally, or through any agent or friend, for election purposes, and making it a felony for him to submit a false or evasive statement. It is also suggested that if our law was amended so as to fix a severe penalty on the seller, and not on the buyer, it would result in more convictions."

Corruption and miscellaneous offenses

- c Ala. Jelks. "We have come to honest elections in this state. Whatever may have been said in condemnation or justification of frauds heretofore, there is no further occasion for anything short of absolute honesty in both the primary and the election. . . In this connection, you will be called on to provide a more nearly perfect primary law than the one we have and a statute looking to registration under the permanent plan of the new Constitution. The very letter of the law should control in the registration under the permanent plan. The Sayre election law ought to be repealed and the new statute should provide for representation at the polls of two or more political parties, looking to the impossibility of election frauds."

Bribery

- a R. I. Garvin. "That bribery exists to a great extent in the elections of this state is a matter of common knowledge. No general election passes without, in some section of the state, the purchase of votes by one or both of the great political parties. It is true that the results of the election may not often be changed, so far as the candidates on the state ticket are concerned, but many assemblymen occupy the seats they do by means of purchased votes. In a considerable number of our towns bribery is so common and has existed for so many years that the awful nature of the crime has ceased to impress. In some towns the bribery takes place openly; is not called bribery, nor considered a serious matter. The money paid to the voter, whether two, five, or twenty dollars, is spoken of as a 'payment for his time.' The claim that the money given to the elector is not for the purpose of influencing his vote, but in compensation for time lost in visiting the polls, is the merest sophistry and should not deceive any adult citizen of ordinary intelligence. It is well known that in such towns, when one political party is supplied with a corruption fund and the other is without, the party so provided invariably elects its assembly ticket, thus affording positive proof that the votes are bought and the voters bribed. . . I recommend that the governor be empowered to appoint, with the advice and consent of the attorney general, a commissioner at an annual salary of $1000, who shall serve for three years, and whose duty it shall be to employ agents to detect the crime of bribery and to bring to justice offenders against the bribery law (ch. 14 of the General Laws) at or in connection with the general election held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November of each year, and that, exclusive of his salary, an appropriation of $3000 be made by this General Assembly to defray expense of the commissioner for the current year."

- b Ari. Brodie. "I recommend that a primary election law be enacted by this Legislature, and suggest that such a law should prescribe that the primaries of all political parties in the territory

- desiring to place candidates in the field at any election, shall be held at the same place and on the same day. The benefits to come from such a law can easily be seen." 19 Ja 03, p.10-11
- c Col. Orman. "Our government is popularly supposed to be a government of the people, but in some particulars I fear we have strayed away from our first principles. Therefore, I desire to urge on you the wisdom of enacting a primary law which shall put the nominating power solely in the hands of the people. If the people are able to govern themselves, they are able to say as to whom they want to represent them, but as primaries are now conducted the people have but little to say. . . ." 10 Ja 03, p.65
- d Ill. Yates. "There are many who believe that a great deal of the friction which does arise in all parties, is due to the varying kinds of primaries held, and to the scattering of the county conventions throughout four months. It is argued that if it would be absurd to hold an election in Cook county on Monday, in Peoria on Tuesday, Kane on Wednesday, Sangamon on Thursday, St Clair on Friday, and Morgan on Saturday; why is it not absurd to hold 100 conventions on 100 different days? If it is desirable to vote at the polls on the same day throughout the state, why is it not desirable to vote at primaries on a common day? Why not have all the ward and township primaries of all parties held on a given Monday, the county conventions on the next day, Tuesday, and the state convention on the third day, Wednesday, and thus simplify the whole matter? It would keep every politician at home, and the colonizer and walking delegate politician would be 'out of a job.' It would leave every county and township and ward to settle its own affairs, and so give home rule. It would remove from every contest the hampering question of its effect on other contests at other times. And it would compel every county to give up the unprincipled idea of joining the winner at the last moment. As to primaries, the day is sure to come when every man must vote his direct choice, by ballot, for both delegates and candidate. The plan is American, republican, and productive of honest politics. I sincerely hope to see it enacted into law at this session in some form." 7 Ja 03, p.8
- e Me. Hill. "Every safeguard of the general election should be placed about the caucus. Our present system is liable to grave abuse, and I earnestly recommend and urge the enactment of a direct primary law which will more completely preserve the purity of the ballot, and under severe penalties prevent the members of one party from participating in the caucuses of another. . . ." 8 Ja 03, p.10
- f Mass. Bates. "Our state recognizes in its caucus and election legislation not only the existence of parties, but also their necessity and utility; yet no provision has been made which sufficiently provides for the designation of those who are entitled to vote in party caucuses. . . . It would seem to be just, to provide by legislation for an enrolment of the voters on party lines, such enrolment to be made by the public authorities, and sufficiently far in advance of a caucus as to be made under normal conditions, and with such provisions for a change in party enrolment as may be necessary to prevent errors and to permit the voter to fully exercise his free will. Such legislation will not only tend to the purity of the ballot at the primaries, but will also tend to fix party responsibility, which is of the greatest importance. . . .”

g Mich. Bliss. “Attention is earnestly invited to the necessity of a satisfactory primary election law. Both the great political parties of the state have declared in favor of such a measure, and the subject is therefore one in which people of all shades of political belief are interested. The system by which the nomination of candidates for public office is made, underlying the foundation of the election machinery itself, should be protected fully and perfectly, and should be regulated by a law that will be safe, effective and equitable in order that the best results may be obtained. I recommend the passage of such a law.”

h Minn. Van Sant. “After a trial of the primary election law the consensus of opinion seems to be that the law will be a permanent method of nominating candidates for office. Experience has suggested amendments and will continue to do so from time to time. Many amendments have been suggested and discussed in the public press and otherwise, and undoubtedly some of these suggestions are meritorious. A change in the time of holding the primaries seems to meet with popular favor, and after mature consideration I recommend that a change be made providing for the holding of the primaries late in June or early in July. I also recommend that the filing of certificates of candidates be limited to 30 days prior to the date of the primary election. I am also of opinion that it would be advisable to so amend the law that a person desiring to become an independent candidate be compelled to take the necessary steps prior to the primary election and not afterward, as he may do under the present law. It would be well, also, for you to consider whether it would not be wise to so amend the law that the different tickets would appear on one ballot rather than for the elector to call for the ticket representing his political views, as under the present law. Many other amendments will probably be suggested and will undoubtedly receive your careful consideration. It is desirable to perfect the law as nearly as possible at this session, as there are many defects, as experience has shown.”

7 Ja 03, p.26-27

- i Mont. Toole. "Direct nominations at a primary election are just as essential as direct legislation. . . If the primaries of all political parties were held at the same time and places, before the same judges, with the names of all the candidates printed on a ticket of uniform size and color, or on one ticket, such as now prevails at general elections, the possibility of one political party controlling the nomination of another political party would be removed; the temptation to corrupt the voter be largely withdrawn and the elector's choice be registered beyond question." 5 Ja 03, p.41
- j N. J. Murphy. "The last Legislature authorized the appointment of a commission to consider an amendment to the election law which should provide for the regulation of primary elections. That commission was appointed. They have given much study to the question, and, as a result of their investigation, they have prepared a bill which I commend to the favorable consideration of the Legislature. . . The present condition is bad. It might possibly be worse, but, in some counties of our state, not very much worse. . . ." 13 Ja 03, p.4-5
- k N. Y. Odell. "Both the primary and election laws are constantly violated in the city of New York. Acting under advice, which at that time seemed to me to be such as to merit confidence, I vetoed a measure passed by the last Legislature which prohibited the transferring of voters from one locality to another by certificates prior to primaries. I am now convinced that this power is a dangerous one, and that the law should be so amended that those who register their party affiliations on the days of registry during the fall should alone be permitted to express their preferences at primaries. While the objection may be raised that this would deprive a number of people of a voice in the selection of party candidates, yet this objection does effect equally those who remove from one election district to another prior to election. This power of transfer has been abused in the city of New York by alliances entered into by district leaders of opposite political faith by having a sufficient number of their followers register themselves as being affiliated with the opposite political party for the purpose of influencing contests for party control or for the nomination of candidates at primaries. Of course this is only done when the leader who desires to aid one of opposite political faith knows that he will have no contest for control in his own district. If the period between the date of registering party affiliation were six or eight months prior to the primaries, it would be a preventive in part against the misuse of such powers which can only be used with impunity by a district leader when he is certain that there is to be no contest within his own political party. . . ." 7 Ja 03, p.26-27

- 1 Or. Geer. "For many years there has been a general demand for reformation in the manner of making nominations for public offices. . . The instances where a county or state convention tramples under foot the demands of the people have been too numerous and flagrant to require any argument in support of their proof. The convention system is a superfluous agency for doing that which the people may themselves as well do directly. The people of the entire state, of every party, meet before the opening of every campaign in what are called primary meetings. . . While assembled in their primary meetings the people had as well express themselves directly as to their preference for county and state candidates as to choose representatives to do the same thing, or, as is often the case, to not do it. . . " 10 Ja 03, p.19
- m Wis. La Follette. "The right of suffrage then may be divided into two separate and distinct transactions, each necessary as a complement to the other. First, all of the proceedings, acts, and measures necessary to insure to each citizen the right to vote directly, under the sanction of a law which shall protect him from interference, in the selection of the men as the candidates of his party to be voted for at the general election. Second, all of the proceedings so well provided for at the present time by statutes governing the general elections. The first step in suffrage is exercised in the selection or nomination of the candidates of each party. The second step in suffrage is exercised in the election of the candidate to office. Any interference with the citizen in the exercise of his prerogative in either case is equally destructive to his right of suffrage. It is no longer open to dispute that the nomination of candidates for office has in a very large measure passed out of the hands of the citizen. For many years it has been popular with certain theoretical writers on the subject to place the responsibility for this entirely on the citizen himself, and to charge him with dereliction of duty and want of interest in public affairs, absorption in business interests and pursuit of fortune being assigned as primary causes of neglect of these elementary duties of citizenship. But it is fair to say that the citizen always has manifested the same willingness to participate in the affairs of government, to perform his duties in the elections, to serve in the rank and file of his party in the campaigns, that he has to defend his country in the field when the sterner duties of war summoned him in its defense. A close study of the history of caucuses and conventions will convince any unbiased mind, in search for truth, that the voter has been gradually eliminated as a factor, after long, patient trial, because the delegate system has utterly failed to represent him or to reflect his opinion in its results. . . It is not enough to say that the voter has his opportunity to attend on the caucus and express his choice as to delegates. This is to offer the form of the thing for the substance. If the voter, time after time, casts his ballot and elects the delegates of his choice only to discover in the end that he has been in some way betrayed, and the decision of the majority in fact reversed, it is inevitable that he should as a serious minded citizen refuse further to participate in the farcical proceedings. It is this that has driven the majority of the voters from the caucus till it is only in times of profound public concern and intense public feeling that even a respectable minority of the voters are represented in the caucus and convention system. The largest attendance on caucuses in the history of political contests in Wisconsin resulted in polling less than 40% of those entitled to vote, and in many counties as much as 90% of the party vote failed to appear in the returns. . . It is not for us to determine what shall be the scope of a law to nominate candidates by direct vote. This has been settled by the people of Wisconsin, to whom the matter has been referred and referred again. They have determined that all candidates for state, legislative, congressional and county officers shall be nominated at a primary election on the same day by direct vote under the Australian ballot. . . Parties

- a Wis. La Follette. "Since the adoption of the federal Constitution, government in this country has been through the agency of some political party. Political parties are not organized or maintained on the personality or strength of individuals, but around certain deep seated ideas which lay hold of the convictions of men. These ideas when formulated and proclaimed become the party's declaration of principles, its promise to perform. This declaration of principles, this promise to perform, is of the highest importance to each citizen. When so proclaimed, it enables him to determine his party affiliation. He well understands that one political party or another will control government, will make and administer the laws. Hence, he gives his support to that party which promises to do the specific things that he regards of the highest importance to the state and to the welfare of every citizen. The party promise, therefore, is a covenant with the voter on which he has staked his faith and his interests. He has given his support, he has invested the party with his authority, he has made it possible for the party to control in government. On its promise and his support the party has become the custodian of his political rights as a citizen, of his property right as a man. . . But the party must select men as its medium of expression in government from the members of its organization and make them public officials to execute the will of the majority. On the public official then there falls the full weight of this double obligation. He represents the individual citizen in person. He is the custodian of the party honor. He can not play fast and loose with clearly understood personal and party obligations and maintain a semblance of official integrity. He has no more moral right to quibble and evade, to say that he will perform a part and repudiate some of the specific promises of the party, than he would have to use in part trust funds committed to his keeping. If this be counted too exact a standard of public duty to-day, be sure that it will not be so regarded tomorrow. The citizen is being rapidly schooled by experience throughout the entire country, and is fast acquiring definite ideas of the right relation of the political party to government, of the citizen to his political party, and the duty of the public official to the citizen, to his party, and to the state. . . General. Ballot reform

- a Cal. Pardee. "The ballot law, which was adopted in this state in the belief that it would correct the evils which prevailed when the old party ballot was used, has developed a weakness which could not have been foreseen, and legislative remedy is necessary. In its desire to exclude all opportunities for fraud and to obtain absolute secrecy, the Legislature required strict uniformity in the marking of ballots; and the courts have interpreted these requirements with equal strictness. The consequences are that many voters, through carelessness or lack of understanding, make mistakes which are fatal; and the ballots have to be rejected. . . It seems probable that, in the ballot machine, which has now been clearly legalized by a change in the Constitution, we shall ultimately find relief from the perplexities of ballot laws which are so frequently too loose or too strict to work well. . . "

- b Del. Hunn. "The present election laws of this state have with one exception completely disappointed the expectations centered in the Australian ballot system. Practically the only good feature as compared with the old method of voting was the introduction of the booth and what might be termed the police regulations surrounding the polls, which undoubtedly have made the elections of this state much freer from public disturbance." 6 Ja 03, p.13
- c Me. Hill. "Our present ballot law is manifestly defective in some important details. It should be simplified and made so clear and plain in all of its provisions that every citizen can understand it. It frequently happens that election officers, through a misunderstanding of the law, fail to count ballots which should be included in their returns. In every state election, hundreds of citizens lose their votes by reason of their failure to mark their ballots in accordance with the strict requirements of the law. This is not as it should be. No man should lose his ballot by reason of a mere technicality, when his intent is so clearly expressed as to be evident to all. . . " 8 Ja 03, p.10
- d Pa. Pennypacker. "The present ballot law, suggested in the interest of reform and adopted by the Legislature in an effort for the improvement of public affairs, has proved in practice to be both cumbersome and inefficient. It needs either careful amendment or reconstruction. . . The great mass of voters have neither the time nor the inclination when they reach the polls to study the methods of voting, however meritorious they may be, and the plan adopted ought to be one easy for them to understand. The thought that something ought to be done by means of the law to encourage independent voting and to make it difficult for the prohibitionist, socialist, democrat or republican to vote his full party ticket, if he so wills, is mere vicious theorizing, and would be an interference with the right of the voter which should not be attempted." 20 Ja 03, p.3
- e Wy. Richards. "We have in this state a class of legal voters, consisting of a considerable number of our most industrious and faithful citizens whose business, one way or another, is connected with the railroads, either in the railway mail service or as railroad employees. Their duties take a very large number of them from their home on election day, thereby depriving them of exercising the dearest right of an American citizen—the right of suffrage. The unfairness of this deprivation must be apparent to all, and I would therefore recommend that a law be passed giving to those employed on railroads in any capacity, whose duties take them away from their voting precinct on election day, the right of voting at some other point within the state, where their duty calls them, and providing that special blanks shall be furnished at railroad voting precincts, so that their votes may be sworn in, and their ballots returned in sealed envelopes to the place of their residence, there to be counted in the election returns. The privilege has been granted in some other states; and it seems to me that it is a matter of justice and propriety that we should make provisions so that this class of our citizens, who are compelled to absent themselves from their voting precinct, shall not be deprived of their right of suffrage.”

- b Minn. Van Sant. “. . . Some plan should be devised which will require electors to give attention to measures requiring ratification and to proposed constitutional amendments. Under an old law measures of this character were placed at the bottom of the ballot, but, owing to the fact that the voters failed to heed them, the law was changed requiring such measures to be placed at the top of the ballot. . . The result has not been what was anticipated. . . To meet the difficulty referred to I would suggest a plan to which I am advised there is no legal objection. . . It is to so amend existing laws that each proposed constitutional amendment or measure requiring ratification be placed on a separate ballot. . . ”

- d Neb. Mickey. “During recent years a number of attempts have been made to secure needed changes in the organic law of the state, by submission to the voters of proposed amendments to the Constitution. Under the constitutional provisions, all proposed amendments must be submitted at the general election at which members of the Legislature are voted for. By the present law such proposed amendments, in abridged form, are made a part of the regular ballot, and a majority of all votes cast must be recorded affirma-

- tively for each proposition before it can be adopted. In the greater interest attaching to the election of candidates the voters lose sight of the importance of constitutional changes, and a majority of them fail to vote on the propositions submitted. As each failure to vote is in effect a negative vote on the question, or questions, it becomes practically impossible to amend the Constitution by such means, even in cases where the people are generally agreed that the change should be made. As a correction of this difficulty and a means of securing the needed constitutional modifications, I recommend that your body propose an amendment to § 1 of art. 15 of the Constitution which will provide that amendments to the Constitution may be submitted to the electors for approval or rejection at a general or special election, and I further suggest that the present election law be so changed as to authorize a separate ballot for the submission of such questions." 6 Ja 03, p.46-47

- f N. Y. Odell. "The constantly increasing tendency to defective ballots in our state and municipal elections presents some phases which should direct your attention to a more perfect ballot system than exists under the present law. Partizan action too often causes the rejection of ballots. The number of defective ballots cast at the last election was almost as great as the plurality received by the successful candidate for governor. While it may be true that these ballots are divided evenly between the parties, yet the right of every citizen to express his choice of candidates and have his ballot counted should not be denied because through inadvertance or ignorance of the law it has not been marked in such a way as to satisfy the critical examination of partizan judges. . . ." 7 Ja 03, p.28 a Ind. Durbin. “. . . The 62d General Assembly created what is known as a ‘Voting Machine Commission,’ the report of which will be submitted for your formal consideration, and I trust it will receive your earnest attention. We are confronted with abundant proof that the ‘Australian system,’ while it is in many respects superior to former methods, is lamentably deficient in the respect that it permits of the practical disfranchisement of an astonishingly large number of electors whose ballots should be counted as they were intended to be by those who cast them. The efficacy of the voting machine has been tested, and it is the consensus of opinion among those who have given the subject thorough consideration that it guarantees more satisfactory results than may be hoped to be obtained by any other method. The great expense involved in the proposed machine system of voting is the only objection, but I am nevertheless inclined to the belief that the matter of cost, where reasonable concessions can be secured, should not stand as the sole obstacle against any movement designed in good faith to protect the people to the utmost degree in the exercise of their inalienable rights.”

b N. J. Murphy. “The last Legislature provided for the appointment of a commission to investigate the desirability of a voting machine to replace the ordinary ballot. . . The only serious objection that appears against the adoption of the machine in place of the ballot is its cost. . . I suggest that if the report of the commission is favored by the Legislature, the state should provide the first machines to the people, with the understanding that repairs and additional machines be provided by the counties. It is true this will require a large appropriation, perhaps half a million dollars; but how can the money of the state be so well used as in providing a means by which the corruption of the ballot is made impossible? . . . ”

a Col. b Del. Hunn. “The requirement of a biennial registration of all the voters might be amended with great accommodation to the people and without in any way bringing injury to the state. The very large percentage of the voters of each district are permanent

- c N. Y. Odell. “The influx of voters into cities and the well known as a means of identification on the day of election, and in case of his inability to write, that his identity shall be vouched for in a manner satisfactory to the full board of registry and election in-

Criminal Laws and Criminal Correction, for this state. This commission was appointed and a draft of such codes was printed and submitted to your honorable body by my predecessor, and I understand that copies were sent to the several judges throughout the state. Under a concurrent resolution adopted at the session of 1900, a committee was appointed, composed of two senators and two members of the House of Representatives with the attorney general as ex officio chairman, to whom all amendments to this code should be submitted. . . In considering this subject the utmost caution should be observed so as not to unsettle the law and jurisprudence defining crimes and offenses. I deem it advisable that some legislation be had looking to the speedy trial of all criminal cases. . . "

Apprehension

- a Ala. Jelks. "The states around us provide in their statutes for the payment by the respective counties of the expense incurred in the capture and return of absconding felons. It now depends alone on the governor whether he will issue requisition with expenses by the state. This is not a fair burden to the state treasury. Local boards of county commissioners know better whether it is advisable to incur the expense of sending for these criminals. . . "

208 Reward

- a Ga. Candler. "I . . . advise the enactment of a statute authorizing the governor to pay all rewards earned in the apprehension of fugitives from justice out of the hire of convicts and not out of the contingent fund."
- b N. M. Otero. "Under the present law the executive is not allowed to offer rewards in any case for the apprehension of criminals. This should be amended so as to allow the executive in a proper case to offer reasonable rewards. . . "
- c Okl. Ferguson. ". . . The reward policy has worked well in Oklahoma. Many desperate characters in the past history of the territory have been forced to answer to the law for misdeeds because rewards were offered for their arrest, who doubtless would have gone unpunished had no reward been offered. . . "

Prosecutions

- a Or. Chamberlain. "The act of 1899, empowering the several district attorneys of the state to file original informations against those charged with crime has resulted in a great saving to the taxpayers. The courts are still invested with a discretion to empanel grand juries if they see fit. But as a rule, there is little for them to do, except to investigate the books of the several county officials, and to visit and inspect the public institutions of the counties, cities and the state. . . ."

General and miscellaneous

- a Vt. Stickney. "The courts of this state have always had difficulty in securing the attendance of persons found in the state of New York as witnesses to testify in criminal causes pending in this state. For many persons possessed of knowledge of facts necessary to be shown on the part of this state in such causes have exhibited a disposition to trade on the necessities of the state, and insisted on the payment of exorbitant compensation before coming into this state to testify. This difficulty became so aggravated in a recent case that persons desired as witnesses in behalf of the state insisted on the payment in advance of $100 a day and expenses each. The governor called this matter to the attention of the governor and Legislature of the state of New York, and that law-making body, seeing at once the justice and propriety of remedying this evil, enacted a law which became operative on the 6th day of March 1902, whereby any person within the borders of the state of New York can be compelled by subpoena to attend as a witness in all trials of persons charged with offenses of the grade of felony in the courts of this state, on proper application for such subpoena by the proper officers of this state, and tender to the person desired as a witness of the sum of 10 cents for each mile to be traveled to and from the court wherein the trial is pending, and the sum of $5 for each day that his attendance is required. Our own statute on this subject (V. S. § 1919 and 1920) is reciprocal except that it provides for the payment of a sum so much smaller than this that it seems inadequate to meet the necessary expenses of a person sent into a large city for several days, and it is recommended that our statute be made reciprocal in respect of fees." 2 O 02, p.15-16

Expenses. Costs. Fines

- a Tenn. Frazier. "While the reform inaugurated several years ago resulted in materially reducing the costs of criminal prosecutions in the state, we are still paying out too much money for that purpose. . . I would invite your attention to one suggestion which it seems to me should be adopted in justice to the state, and that is that in all small felonies where the prisoner is sent to the workhouse or jail for less than a year, as now provided by law, the state do not pay any costs. In such cases the county gets the services of the prisoner and can reimburse itself, if it desires, by working him in its workhouse. In cases sent to the penitentiary the state can repay itself the costs of the prosecution by the labor of the prisoner, but in workhouse cases it can not." 23 Ja 03, p.20-21

- b W. Va. White. Criminal charges. "It is shown that certain items, now charged to this expense, should properly be borne by the counties. As usual, a large deficiency exists in the appropriation for this purpose as a result of the inadequacy of the appropriation for the last two years." 14 Ja 03, p.8

Sentence. Execution

- a Or. Chamberlain. "Within the past few years there have been a number of executions for murder in this state. These executions have taken place in the jail yards of the several counties, and of necessity have been more or less public. In two cases in Multnomah county, at least 400 invitations were issued to officials and others to witness the double execution of two notorious criminals, and applications were made for as many more. . . All executions should take place within the walls of the penitentiary, out of hearing and out of sight of all except officials, and the bodies of those executed ought to be forfeited to the state as well as their lives, buried within the prison precincts and not given to either relatives or friends to be publicly paraded and viewed by persons whose tastes incline to the morbid. . ." 14 Ja 03, p.22-23

Criminal jurisdiction

- a W. Va. White. Jurisdiction of state courts in criminal matters. "On the 9th day of October 1901, the prosecuting attorney of Wood county notified me that one Ellis Glenn, charged with the crime of forgery, committed in Wood county, and tried on that charge in the Criminal Court of Wood county, at the May term thereof, had been released by the Circuit Court of the United States for the northern district of West Virginia, on habeas corpus proceedings instituted by herself. Her trial in the Criminal Court resulted in the jury being unable to agree, and the court, after the said jury had considered the case for two or three days, discharged said jury. The state, through the prosecuting attorney of Wood county, was a party to the habeas corpus proceedings, filing his answer to the petition for the writ and denying in said answer the jurisdiction of the said United States court in the matter, and also denying the validity of the point of law on which such proceedings were instituted. That point of law is that Ellis Glenn did not consent to the discharge of the said jury, and that placing her on trial again would be putting her twice in jeopardy. . . The case is now in the United States Supreme Court, and the decision is shortly expected on the point raised. . . I feel that we can not surrender the right to try criminals in our own courts for violations of state laws."

Crimes and offenses

Penalties incidental to enforcement of statutes are not duplicated here, but references to them will be found in the subject index under Penalties.

- a Pa. Pennypacker. "The modern tendency to invent new crimes ought to be curbed. To obliterate the marked line which distinguishes between mere breaches of contract and crimes is to bring the law itself into disrepute. To threaten with imprisonment him who has filled a bottle intrusted to him, the contents of which he has bought, or him who sells a railroad ticket, the evidence of a right of transportation for which he has paid, is no doubt a convenience to corporations and others in enforcing their contracts, but it takes from the prison much of its effect as a restraint on those who do evil. Juries refuse to convict where they believe the charge ought not to be sustained, even though the facts come within the terms of a statute, and thus men are taught to disregard the law. . . "

- b N. M. Otero. "Since the last legislative Assembly adjourned, President McKinley met his tragic death under circumstances which shocked the whole civilized world, and the enormity of the crime appalled the people of the United States, and the swift punishment which followed the assassin was no panacea for the crime. . . Such crimes are more than murder; they are not directed against the individual, but against the office, and I would recommend that you pass a special act covering even an attempt of similar offenses, in this territory." 19 Ja 03, p.3
- c U. Wells. ". . . Freedom of speech and of the press is a sacred safeguard, a bulwark of our institutions which none would be so senseless as to assail. Yet there is a plain broad line between liberty and license, which legislators and judges should be competent to define. . . I am of the opinion that unbridled exhortation to lawlessness and conspiracy is clearly outside the luminous boundary which encircles the right of free speech, and therefore should be the subject of quick and effective restraint. Not less impressed am I with the view that so atrocious a crime as conspiring to kill or attempting to kill the president or any official in the line of presidential succession should subject the guilty to condign punishment. It is the intent which constitutes the essence of the crime. . . ."

As protection of the public is paramount to the punishment of the criminal, so is the subject of reformation superior to that of punishment, and in imprisoning criminals the state should prevent as far as possible the contamination of one by another criminal of a more hardened class. . . As at present constituted, the penal institutions stand practically on the same basis and do not follow a proper classification. Local institutions349 County and township jails and workhouses

- a Ala. Jelks. "The state paid out the last fiscal year $97,564.60 for feeding prisoners in the county jails. . . You will be called on to increase the appropriation. This disbursement would be something less but for some special statutes which allow the court in one or more counties to sentence a man to jail rather than to hard labor. . . . If you should not see fit to repeal the act altogether, you might so amend it that the county will have the burden of its enforcement." 14 Ja 03, p.17-18
- b Ind. Durbin. "In some of the county jails in Indiana there is little or no sex separation, nor is there an attempt at classification of prisoners according to their respective crimes. of actual expenses incurred, on claims properly verified, presented to, and audited by the secretary of state. - b Ari. Brodie. "... At the prison there will be work for the convicts for a period of one or two years, after which time other work will have to be found for them, as constant employment is not only for the benefit of their health but is also conducive to good discipline. I recommend this subject of future employment of convicts to your careful consideration." 19 Ja 03, p.18
- c Col. Orman. "Probably the most vexatious question confronting the management of the penitentiary is that of giving the convicts employment. . . It is imperative that the prisoners be employed, and profitably employed; that is, it should be something that the prisoner could see growing and developing; something that increases in value under his workmanship. . . Our prisoners have heretofore been largely employed in the manufacture of lime and brick, but a ban was placed on the brick, and that avenue of employment is now gone. The lime business was fairly prosperous, but the quarries have been practically exhausted, so that, if this work is to be continued, new quarries will have to be purchased. It has been suggested that they might be profitably employed in coal mining on state land; but, indeed, if this was done, the only sale of the product of the mines that could be made would be to state institutions, and the cost of producing such a small amount of coal as would be required would make it cost more than it is worth. . . I am of the opinion that if a branch prison was located on a large farm, in one of our agricultural valleys, that it could be conducted in such a way as to balance accounts at the end of the year, or at least if there was a deficit it would be small. Farming appears to be about the only remedy available, unless some way can be devised to give them employment inside of the prison walls, which will not come in conflict with free labor. . . " 10 Ja 03, p.32-34
- d Col. Peabody. "My personal and intimate knowledge of the affairs and present conditions at the State Penitentiary impel me to suggest a possible remedy for the evil of keeping the convicts there confined, in enforced idleness. The experiment of employing convicts in the raising of farm products during the past few years

- has not proved successful from any point of view, for reasons unnecessary to state. The prevailing sentiment against convict-made goods and material renders it impossible to utilize the convicts in these branches of work, while every consideration of humanity demands that these unfortunates be given steady employment of some kind. . . The labor necessary for the completion of the canal and the construction of the reservoirs, could be supplied from the convicts in the State Penitentiary, this affording steady and healthful employment to these unfortunate beings, and ultimately furnishing the state with a site for the establishment of a convict farm, where the labor of the convicts could be made profitable, would be permanent, and eventually the State Penitentiary might become self-sustaining." 13 Ja 03, p.95-97
- e Del. Hunn. " . . . Hitherto imprisonment in this state has been synonymous with absolute idleness, a condition at once an expense to the taxpayer and a source of further deterioration to the convict. . . I strongly urge on the Legislature the erection of a workhouse as a state institution for the employment of long term convicts where they can be the most profitably employed; or, if more feasible, the purchase by the state of the grounds and buildings of the New Castle County Workhouse now in operation in that county. . . " 6 Ja 03, p.17
- f Ill. Yates. " . . . The competition of convict labor with free labor should not exist. I am in favor of altogether abolishing such competition, and I have reason to hope for a satisfactory solution before the adjournment of the present General Assembly. . . " 7 Ja 03, p.28
- g La. Heard. " . . . In pursuance of the mandate of act 70 of 1900, the state took charge of the prisoners on Jan. 1, 1901, after 33 years of the lease system. . . The experience of recent years in those southern states which have been endeavoring to solve the problem of complete state control without any vestige of the lease system has demonstrated that a very large percentage of the prison population can be most profitably employed in agricultural work, and that this work can be conducted on lines entirely consistent with humane treatment, and reformatory principles. So it was determined to cast the new system largely on that basis, still retaining a portion of the forces physically adapted to the work on the levees. The plantations purchased are in the most fertile sections of the state, and the buildings and equipments have been of as permanent and substantial a nature as the means at command would permit. . . " 12 My 02, p.37-38
- h Mass. Bates. "In 1896 an act was passed to authorize the governor and Council to take waste or unused land for the purpose of reclaiming and improving it by the labor of prisoners. . . In 1899 a small appropriation was made to carry this act into effect, but no action was taken, and the appropriation has now lapsed. . . If this experiment were made in the limited way contemplated by the law, it might develop an industry that would supply steady and laborious occupation for able-bodied prisoners who can not otherwise be given suitable work. . . "

In addition to this the state receives the sum of $2000 per annum for the rent of the foundry plant."

- l Tex. Lanham. "The hiring of convicts to private contractors, to be worked outside the penitentiary walls, has been long reprobated, and our state officials under different administrations have expressed their dissatisfaction with and declared their objections to the continuance of such a practice. The only assignable reason why it has not long since been abandoned is the fact that a financial profit has resulted from its operations. . . It is gratifying to believe that we are rapidly approaching the time when additional convict labor can be expended on our state farms which have been enlarged by recent investments, and which may perhaps be still further expanded to the advantage of the state, and that short term convicts, not needed for the state industries indicated, can be utilized for the improvement of our common roads. . . "

21 Ja 03, House Journal, 124

- m Wis. La Follette. "The subject of prison labor continues to present an unsolved problem. The contract under which the labor of the prisoners at Waupun was employed expired Dec. 31, 1902. The Board of Control, in view of the apparent conflict between public sentiment and public interest, has deferred action in the matter of new contracts, pending some determination of policy with legislative authority. It is essential for their own welfare that prisoners shall be employed. It is equally important that they be employed in some line of industry which will equip them to earn a livelihood in that employment when discharged from prison. Whatever they do in this line of work while in prison will, of course, be in competition with those who are employed outside. To limit the prisoner to labor which does not compete with an outside employment is to teach him a kind of work in which he can find no service at the end of his term of imprisonment. Experience has shown that they can be employed with best results to all concerned under contract; and, while it logically follows that by this means wage-earners are brought most directly into competition with prison labor, it seems unreasonable to assume that the labor of a number of men scarcely sufficient to equip one ordinary factory, can exercise much influence on either the wages of workmen or the price of products under existing conditions. At present prisoners are employed by the former contractors under temporary arrangements pending legislative action. In the absence of such action it is probable that the Board of Control will enter into new contracts under the most favorable terms and conditions possible. . . ."

It may be said with entire truth that their condition during the present administration has been much improved. . . . But despite all these precautions, it can not be denied that there have been cases of bad usage which have never come to the knowledge of the penitentiary authorities, and so long as the system of maintaining convicts in temporary quarters and separate bodies shall continue, it will be impossible to insure their proper treatment at all times . . . I approved the purchase, during the years 1899-1900, of 8212 acres of land in Brazoria county, well located on the Brazos river, and of great fertility. . . . If properly managed this property is destined to become a model convict farm, the operation of which will be conducted without expense to the treasury, and where the convict can receive all the consideration that humanity can dictate."

- b Ala. Jelks. "There are now engaged for the state on its farms and leased to contractors 1878 state prisoners. There are in various camps leased under contract for counties 870 misdemeanants, or what is known as county convicts. The state has direct supervision and control of what is known as state convicts, but the department can only interfere with the hire of county convicts to the extent, through the governor, of abrogating the contract on a showing that they are not fairly treated by the lessee. When such contract is abrogated, the counties are suffered to take them again and release them. The state can abrogate but it is powerless to otherwise interfere. The felony man has the state's constant care. The inspectors visit the various camps monthly, and, if they find men unfitted to do the special work assigned, they are sent to other and more wholesome occupations, and, if unable to work at all, are carried to the walls at Wetumpka, where the state's hospital is. But a county convict or a man who is merely a misdemeanor has no such overshadowing care and attention. If he falls into a place which his constitution can stand, it is well; if he should happen to be sent out to labor on a work which he is wholly unfitted to perform, he may live—or die. Death comes to many of them. The greater number work in the mines with the Tennessee or the Sloss people. They come from jails in which they perhaps have been locked up with 50 and even 75 men in one cage. They can live in these places a few months. If they reach the mines, they are frequently far gone in some chronic disease, and may die before they take up pick or shovel. . . I hope . . . you may undertake to furnish radical relief. There is a partial remedy which is a simple one: Pass an act requiring the approval by the head of the Convict Department of every contract for the hire of county convicts. . . But by an unwarranted stretch of the law other chain gangs authorized by county authorities, and nominally under their control, but worked not by the county nor for the benefit of the county, but by private individuals or companies for personal gain, have been established in quite a number of counties, sometimes two or three in the same county. . . It is alleged that in some of these camps convicts have been overworked, poorly fed and inadequately clothed, and that the punishment inflicted on them has sometimes been cruel, and in one instance that has come to my knowledge even brutal. . . . sary: 1st. The law should be amended so as to legalize private chain gangs, expressly authorizing the hiring of misdemeanor convicts to private parties as well as to counties, towns and cities. 2d. All convicts, misdemeanor as well as felony convicts, except those worked by counties according to law, should be put under the immediate and direct control of the State Prison Commission, who should prescribe and enforce the same rules and regulations for the working and management of all classes, and be allowed to employ and discharge all guards and physicians, whipping bosses and overseers, and to employ a sufficient number of prudent, humane wardens to visit at least once a month, and oftener if necessary, every camp in the state, and see that the rules of the commission are properly observed and the convicts humanely treated. 3d. The fee system should be abolished and all money derived from the hire of misdemeanor convicts should be paid into the county treasury, and all county judges and all solicitors should be paid salaries out of the county treasury. None of them should be dependent on fees. Thus the temptation to institute frivolous prosecutions and to impose heavy fines and exact exorbitant costs in trivial cases would be removed, and there would be no ground to charge that any county court is run in the interest of the proprietors of private chain gangs." 22 O 02, p.9-11

- c Col. Orman. "Probably the most vexatious question confronting the management of the penitentiary is that of giving the convicts employment. . . It is imperative that the prisoners be employed, and profitably employed; that is, it should be something that the prisoner could see growing and developing; something that increases in value under his workmanship. . . Our prisoners have heretofore been largely employed in the manufacture of lime and brick, but a ban was placed on the brick, and that avenue of employment is now gone. The lime business was fairly prosperous, but the quarries have been practically exhausted, so that, if this work is to be continued, new quarries will have to be purchased. It has been suggested that they might be profitably employed in coal mining on state land; but, indeed, if this was done, the only sale of the product of the mines that could be made would be to state institutions, and the cost of producing such a small amount of coal as would be required would make it cost more than it is worth. . . I am of the opinion that if a branch prison was located on a large farm, in one of our agricultural valleys, that it could be conducted in such a way as to balance accounts at the end of the year, or at least if there was a deficit it would be small. Farming appears to be about the only remedy available, unless some way can be devised to give them employment inside of the prison walls, which will not come in conflict with free labor. . . has not proved successful from any point of view, for reasons unnecessary to state. The prevailing sentiment against convict-made goods and material renders it impossible to utilize the convicts in these branches of work, while every consideration of humanity demands that these unfortunates be given steady employment of some kind. . . The labor necessary for the completion of the canal and the construction of the reservoirs, could be supplied from the convicts in the State Penitentiary, this affording steady and healthful employment to these unfortunate beings, and ultimately furnishing the state with a site for the establishment of a convict farm, where the labor of the convicts could be made profitable, would be permanent, and eventually the State Penitentiary might become self-sustaining." 13 Ja 03, p.95-97

The experience of recent years in those southern states which have been endeavoring to solve the problem of complete state control without any vestige of the lease system has demonstrated that a very large percentage of the prison population can be most profitably employed in agricultural work, and that this work can be conducted on lines entirely consistent with humane treatment, and reformatory principles. So it was determined to cast the new system largely on that basis, still retaining a portion of the forces physically adapted to the work on the levees. The plantations purchased are in the most fertile sections of the state, and the buildings and equipments have been of as permanent and substantial a nature as the means at command would permit. . . The only assignable reason why it has not long since been abandoned is the fact that a financial profit has resulted from its operations. . . It is gratifying to believe that we are rapidly approaching the time when additional convict labor can be expended on our state farms which have been enlarged by recent investments, and which may perhaps be still further expanded to the advantage of the state, and that short term convicts, not needed for the state industries indicated, can be utilized for the improvement of our common roads. . . ”

The Board of Control, in view of the apparent conflict between public sentiment and public interest, has deferred action in the matter of new contracts, pending some determination of policy with legislative authority. It is essential for their own welfare that prisoners shall be employed. Whatever they do in this line of work while in prison will, of b Col. Orman. “. . . I desire to call attention to the report of the juvenile division of the County Court of Denver. . . While we have no juvenile law on our statute books, the judge of the County Court has, through the cooperation of the district attorney, and a liberal construction of the present law, been able to accomplish about all the results that would have obtained through the operations of a special juvenile law. However, there is no reason why we should further delay its enactment, and specially now that we have before us an example of what the practical workings of such a law would be were it in active operation throughout the whole state. . . .”

During 18 months 454 juvenile delinquents were tried in the County Court and put on probation, at an average expense of $11.89, resulting in a saving to the county and state of $88,827.68. In addition to this, these juvenile delinquents, with scarcely an exception, have been turned into the right path and give every indication of becoming upright, honorable citizens. . . "

- b Col. Peabody. "Under the Constitution the executive is vested with the power of granting pardons, and must, necessarily, assume all final responsibility for the exercise of this power. The Board of Pardons, as constituted, is simply advisory to the executive, who is, ex officio, a member and president of the board, and is, necessarily, in attendance at all meetings of the board, hears the testimony and arguments in behalf of the petitioner, participates in the discussions of the board, receives and considers the recommendations of the board, and finally decides the matter. From the foregoing it will be seen that the duties imposed on the executive by the existing law increase, rather than diminish, the burdens resting on him, and; as he is the final arbiter, the responsibility of final action is his. What has been said is without any intention of reflecting on the efficiency, disinterested devotion to duty and patriotism of the present or previous boards, but simply to call attention to the law as it exists, with the recommendation that the Board of Pardons be either given final authority in the matter of pardons; that its conclusions be made binding upon the executive, and that it be charged with full responsibility, or that the existing law be repealed. In my judgment, the mere fact of the existence of a Board of Pardons is an invitation to those confined in penal institutions to make frequent applications for pardon, which are wholly without merit, with a resultant unrest on the part of the applicants, which is highly detrimental to that strict discipline so absolutely necessary in almost all such institutions. I am also persuaded that the indeterminate sentence law has failed of accomplishing any good results; and that a return to the old system would be desirable. If the criminal classes can be made to know that conviction, sentence and punishment are sure, speedy and certain, without hope of pardon, reprieve, commutation of sentence, or parole, except in clearly meritorious cases, a large falling off in crimes of all descriptions would be immediately noticeable." 13 Ja 03, p.92-93
- c III. Yates. "The wisdom of the establishment of the Board of Pardons has passed beyond the experimental stage. The careful investigation of every application for pardon or commutation which is made by the board, has added great strength to the administration of the criminal laws of the state. . . ." 7 Ja 03, p.17
- d Ind. Durbin. ". . . The work of requiring the rules of executive practice to be complied with, examining the cases, hearing evidence, if necessary, and listening to appeals in behalf of those who apply for clemency, is of necessity very burdensome on the governor, and the results are unsatisfactory. . . I recommend that a board, to be known as a parole or pardon board, should be created by law with power to examine each case wherein application is made for clemency and to report to the governor the results of such examination, together with any recommendations they may have. . . Fully one third of the time of the executive is taken up in the details of application for paroles and pardons." 8 Ja 03, p.31

- e Neb. Mickey. " . . . I believe that the public good would be greatly enhanced by the creation of an advisory board of pardons to which should be referred all applications for relief from punishment for penal offenses and matters pertaining thereto. Such board should be authorized to hear and weigh all evidence on which the application for pardon is predicated and within a reasonable time to report its findings to the governor with a recommendation for or against the exercise of executive clemency, as each individual case may seem to require. . . " 6 Ja 03, p.45-46
- f Vt. In disposing of the questions the judges used the following language: 'The power to grant pardons is given to the executive by the constitution in unrestricted terms, except in cases of treason, murder and impeachment; and that such general power includes the authority to grant all kinds of pardon known to the common law, is well settled. The grant may be for a full, partial, absolute, or conditional pardon, provided the condition be not illegal, immoral, or impossible to perform. This power can neither be restricted nor taken away by legislative action. Nor can a like power be given by the Legislature to any other officer or authority.' " 2 O 02, p.13-15

If the Legislature should pass a parole law as recommended by me, I would suggest that the law constituting the Pardon Board be amended so as to have one member of the board a permanent salaried officer with headquarters at the capitol, who should be known as the pardon clerk. . . He should call into consultation with himself the associate members, one of whom I think should be the attorney general of the state, and the other should be a person appointed by the governor. . . The governor should be authorized to formulate rules by which the Pardon Board should be governed in the preparation of cases, and no case

Unless the offense with the commission of which he stands charged is a serious one, better results are obtained through releasing him on probation. At the very best, imprisonment is a mark which can never be effaced, and to a greater or less degree is a handicap. . . Should the probation system be adopted in this state, in order to prevent the creation of a large number of official positions, I suggest it may be wise to place the probationers under the supervision of the county agents of the State Board of Corrections and Charities, whose compensation should be on a sliding scale, according to population.”

states which have adopted it are so emphatic as to its many virtues over the old system, we should have no hesitancy whatever in giving it our approval. Whatever tends to simplify, make safe and add to public convenience is what we desire in our laws, and that is what the Torrens system does. With that system in operation, when a party has secured his title, he is secure in his possessions. It effectively settles titles and simplifies transfer, doing away with the records and abstracts of the old system, thus removing a burden from owners of real estate, and effects a great saving in the expense of having abstracts examined and continued every time a transfer is made. . . - a Cal. Gage. "Our laws, both civil and penal, are numerous and stringent for our physical protection against death, illegal restraint, and bodily injury. Yet, strangely, the greatest of our constitutional rights, that which we most prize, which alone makes life worth the living, on which depends the right of enjoying life and liberty and of pursuing happiness (art. I, § I, Constitution of California)—the right to be preserved in that good reputation and character which we labor and struggle to earn and leave as a heritage to our children . . . this supreme right is less fortified in law than our most trivial rights of property. . . Unhappily, a few glaring instances are to be seen of newspapers conducted by morally irresponsible corporations and certain millionaires which represent, in fact, not the pure and free voice of public opinion, but the business and political interests of the owners, who use them as a means for the attainment of their own ambitions and the expression of their private hates and prejudices. Capable of misrepresenting public as well as private interests, when they can not dictate to public officers in the performance of their sworn duties, they do not hesitate to resort to vilification. . . If timorous or pliant men should, under the present imperfect laws, chance to be elected to public office, it may well be foreseen that such officers may become the mere toys or tools of these ambitious publishers. . . It is time to place a public barrier against newspaper intimidation of private citizens, legislators, and other public officers, and to demonstrate that our state government must not be conducted by and for a few newspapers, but by and for the people. If individual reputations may be torn to shreds at the sport or malignant will of a libeler who stands entrenched behind his money bags, yet public officers ought at least to be permitted to conduct official duties without interference and vilification. At least for the present, as a remedy against wanton and libelous assaults on the reputation of private individuals and public officers, respect for law and decency may possibly be enforced by making the crime of libel a felony, with a maximum penalty of 25 years' imprisonment in the state prison and a minimum imprisonment therein of one year. . . I recommend a constitutional amendment changing § 9 of art. I of the Constitution, whereby this legal anomaly of now permitting the libeler to submit the law for the determination of the jury be abolished, and the court be given the power to determine the law as in other cases."

The doctrine of the liberty of the press, conceived at a time when it was necessary to disclose the movements of arbitrary power, has become in recent days too often a cover for base and ignoble purposes, and, like the sanctuaries of old, a place of retreat where any wrongdoer may secure immunity from punishment. Sensational journals have arisen all over the land, the owners in concealment and the writers and purveyors undesignated, and they have thriven by propagating crime and disseminating falsehood and scandal, by promulgating dissension and anarchy, by attacks on individuals and by assaults on government and the agencies of the people. They are a terror to the household, a detriment to the public service and an impediment to the courts of justice. . . I suggest for the consideration of the Legislature whether or not it would be well to extend to such cases the law of negligence as developed by the decisions of our courts, so that there should be liability in damages for the physical and mental suffering caused by publications made without 'reasonable care.' I further suggest an inquiry as to the propriety of requiring the names and residences of the owners of newspapers to be published with each issue. . . "

No corporation should be permitted to incorporate in Indiana with a capital stock published to the public unless such capital stock has been paid in cash, or its equivalent, such payment to be made within a reasonable time after such articles are filed. . . . The Legislature recognized the need, when, at its last session, it provided by statute for the appointment of a committee to consider the laws of the commonwealth in relation to the formation, taxation and conduct of business corporations, and their effect on trade, commerce and manufacture, and to consider and determine what legislation, if any, is necessary to make the relations existing between the commonwealth and such corporations more advantageous to the commonwealth and to the public interests. . . .”

This fact is made apparent by the many instances wherein Nevada owners are compelled to go to other states in order to satisfy proposed investors. Such a law would remedy this inconvenience and will be acceptable to all concerned, and would, in my judgment, be productive of additional revenue to the state." 23 Ja 03, p.8
- e Tex. Sayers. "Experience in recent years, particularly within the last few months, has demonstrated the necessity of more stringent regulations with reference to the organization of corporations under the laws of the state, and granting permits authorizing foreign corporations to transact business. The records of the State Department show that of the very many charters that have been granted within the last few years to oil corporations, 164, of which 155 were authorized in 1901, have a capital stock of $181,164,000. . . In other words, $5,251,259 of property, as disclosed by the tax rolls, is the basis on which $181,164,000 of stock depends for its value. One of two conclusions is certainly true: either the state has been grossly defrauded of its just revenue, or many to whom this stock was sold were scandalously victimized. It should be also noted that the authorized capital stock of these oil companies is larger, by $49,642,430, than the outstanding stock on 10,559 miles of railway in the state. For this reprehensible condition, from which so many have suffered, the legislation of former years is directly responsible. The requirement that the stockholders in a proposed corporation shall furnish satisfactory evidence to the secretary of state that at least 50% of the authorized capital stock has been subscribed and 10% paid in before the charter shall be granted, is an entirely insufficient safeguard against what is commonly known as 'wildcat' corporations. To the business world the methods adopted in order to evade this requirement, are well known and need not be stated. It is believed to be sufficient to call the attention of the Legislature to this manifest defect in the law, and, without recommending any specific remedy, to urge a consideration of the subject and the provision of such other safeguards in the formation of corporations as will prevent their use as a means for imposing on the public."

- c N. J. Murphy. "It is the impression of some who are ignorant of the facts that the corporation laws of New Jersey are specially liberal and that corporations organized under them have unusual and perhaps unwise powers. This is not so. The New Jersey law recognizes the right of property to protection. It recognizes, as well, the right of the people to equal protection. . . Corporations that want to do a dishonest business have a hard time of it under the New Jersey law. Corporations that desire to conduct their business as honest men conduct theirs, are protected as fully and completely as is any individual in the state, but not more. New Jersey has justly won the confidence of the country because its laws protect alike, and with equal justice, the rights of the people and the rights of property. The result of this confidence has been, that so great a number of corporations have organized under her laws that the fees and taxes from this source are sufficient to pay the annual expenses of the state, to pay a large proportion of the cost of our public education and to leave a handsome surplus besides. Other states, envious of our prosperity, have copied our laws, reduced our fees and solicited our business. Their success has not been important. Our revenues from this source continue to increase. The inference is fair that it is because of the greater confidence the country has in that public sentiment back of our laws that makes our laws secure. . . Whether with just reason or not, what is generally known as the trust question has become the absorbing question of the time. . . In the development of our prosperity small concerns have grown to large ones, and those already large have grown larger. As their capital has increased, competition has become more vigorous, till in many instances it has become destructive to profits. The owners of a business will not long conduct it without a return on the capital invested, any more than a mechanic will long continue to work without his wage. In casting about for a remedy, combination was devised to replace destructive competition. It is a business plan, evolved by the necessities of the case, to accommodate the conduct of business to the changed conditions of the present time. Combination means a larger concern, but it does not necessarily mean a monopoly. As a matter of experience, it is found that, when it approaches monopoly, new capital is found for new establishments, and competition again appears. . . "

We have on our statute books strenuous laws against trusts, and it is in your power to provide funds for their efficient enforcement; and I recommend that you set apart a fund which, under the direction of the governor or attorney general, or both acting in conjunction, can be applied to that purpose. You can also do something by requiring that publicity which will force organizations of this kind doing business in the state to report to the secretary of state all the essential facts concerning their capitalization, bonded indebtedness, receipts, expenditures etc. Something can be accomplished by this publicity; but it will take more than publicity to reach the root of the evil in many cases."

- e Tex. Sayers. "The Legislature in 1889 enacted what is commonly known as the antitrust statute, and, owing to a defect indicated in a decision of the Supreme Court of the state, the law was amended in 1895. The act of 1889, as amended by the act of 1895, exempted from its provisions live stock and agricultural products in the hands of the producer. Following a decision of the United States Supreme Court construing a similar statute of Illinois, the courts of this state have held the law of 1895 to be unconstitutional and void. In 1899 there was further legislation on the subject, in which it was declared to be cumulative of all kindred laws previously enacted, and at least one district judge of the state has held such legislation to be void because of the exemption referred to. The case, in which this decision was made, is now pending before the Supreme Court. Whatever may be the determination of the court in the premises, it is thought that additional legislation on the subject should be had at as early a date as practicable. . . Stringent legislation is . . . recommended prohibiting the combination or consolidation of existing corporations; and the law authorizing their formation should be so amended as to exclude a charter for the purpose of establishing or maintaining more than one plant or business, and also to require the place of its business to be stated in the charter, with a restriction as to its operations elsewhere. . ."

16 Ja 03, p.22-23

- f Tex. Lanham. "It is conceded that the decision of the Supreme Court of the United States in what is known as the Illinois case has practically nullified, to say the least, a portion of our antitrust laws. There is a contrariety of opinion as to the full extent to which it affects our previous legislation on this subject, it being believed by many of our able lawyers that our statute passed in 1899 is still in effect, while others maintain that it is no longer operative. The consensus of opinion seems to be that our legislation of 1889 and 1895, relating to trusts, is no longer valid and enforceable. In the absence of some authoritative and final judicial determination by the federal court of last resort, concerning the constitutionality of our act of 1899, we can not afford to leave this matter in any uncertainty, and hence it seems essential that we should reenact our statutes of 1889 and 1895, or add so much thereof as may be necessary to that of 1899, omitting any provisions that would come within the inhibition defined by the Supreme Court in the case to which reference has been made. In addition, it is respectfully suggested that there must be some way whereby the federation of corporations in restraint of trade and wrongful consolidations of competing properties can be prevented. . . ."

g U. S. Roosevelt. ". . . Corporations, and specially combinations of corporations, should be managed under public regulation. Experience has shown that under our system of government the necessary supervision can not be obtained by state action. . . . Publicity can do no harm to the honest corporation; and we need not be overtender about sparing the dishonest corporation. . . . I believe that monopolies, unjust discriminations, which prevent or cripple competition, fraudulent overcapitalization, and other evils in trust organizations and practices which injuriously affect interstate trade can be prevented under the power of the Congress to 'regulate commerce with foreign nations and among the several states' through regulations and requirements operating directly on such commerce, the instrumentalities thereof, and those engaged therein. . . . The Congress has not heretofore made any appropriation for the better enforcement of the antitrust law as it now stands. Very much has been done by the department of justice in securing the enforcement of this law, but much more could be done if the Congress would make a special appropriation for this purpose, to be expended under the direction of the attorney general. One proposition advocated has been the reduction of the tariff as a means of reaching the evils of the trusts which fall within the category I have described. Not merely would this be wholly ineffective, but the diversion of our efforts in such a direction would mean the abandonment of all intelligent attempt to do away with these evils. . . . To remove the tariff as a punitive measure directed against trusts would inevitably result in ruin to the weaker competitors who are struggling against them. . . . The question of regulation of the trusts stands apart from the question of tariff revision."

h Wis. La Follette. "The so called antitrust law of Wisconsin is an act without force or effect under existing conditions. It applies only to corporations organized in Wisconsin. There are no trusts of the first class native to this state. Yet few states perhaps suffer more directly through the influences of these artificial monopolies of trade than our own. . . . In my judgment the coal famine now existing throughout this state presents a subject calling for prompt legislative inquiry with full exercise of the large powers granted to legislative committees. . . . I renew the recommendation made to the Legislature two years ago for an entire revision of the laws relating to this subject. . . . An examination of legislation of this character in the several states affords evidence that prohibitory laws are most abundant, but that the most of them are found lacking and inefficient through failure to provide means for their enforcement, or to prescribe suitable penalties for their violation."

Courts

Names and general organizations of courts vary greatly in different states. Courts are here grouped according to actual jurisdiction. The precise names of the courts are preserved in entries and subordinate headings.

General

- a Ala. Jelks, 14 Ja 03, p.3; redistricting the state for judicial purposes. Ari. Brodie, 19 Ja 03, p.10; division of state into judicial districts. N. Y. Odell, 7 Ja 03, p.34; commission to inquire into delays in 1st and 2d judicial departments. U. Wells, 13 Ja 03, p.41; increase in judicial salaries recommended.
- b Col. Orman. "For the last several years the question as to the wisdom of abolishing the Court of Appeals and the enlargement of the Supreme Court, has been under advisement; and has always met with the hearty approval of the bar of the state. . . The number of justices should not be less than five nor more than seven, and in my judgment the term of office should not exceed 12 years. Public policy forbids a longer term than this." 10 Ja 03, p.66
- c Col. Peabody. "With practical unanimity, the members of the legal profession, through the State Bar Association and local associations, for a number of years have advocated the abolishment of the Court of Appeals and an increase in the number of the justices of the Supreme Court. . . I am also of the opinion that a reduction of the number of district courts is desirable from every point of view." 13 Ja 03, p.106
- d Ct. Chamberlain. "Your attention is called to the overcrowded dockets of our higher courts and the expense and delay of trials which result from this condition." 7 Ja 03, p.10
- e Ga. Candler. ". . . Georgia has in her past history employed at different times four different ways of naming these [judicial] officers, but it can be safely said that the present mode is the most objectionable of all. It will not do, and this is being demonstrated every day, to have the officers who are to sit in judgment on the rights and liberties of the people chosen in the arena of partizan and sometimes corrupt politics. We have as yet had no corrupt judges, but under the present system it is only a question of time when we will." 22 O 02, p.17

- f La. Heard. "It is evident that the increased labors of the Supreme Court, and the crowded condition of its docket, demand that some plan be formulated to relieve the congestion. . . The true ideas which lie at the organization of the intermediate courts of appeal are: first, to relieve the Supreme Court, and, second, to reduce for litigants the cost of appeals in smaller cases. . . It costs $20 now to file any appeal in the Supreme Court, and this is tantamount to a denial of appeal in smaller cases, specially when the expenses of the attorneys attending to the cases are considered. All appeals before these courts should be tried on the original papers, at the minimum cost. I think, then, that the country parishes should be formed into two circuits, the northern and the southern, with appellate courts of three judges in each one, with jurisdiction extending to all cases, civil or probate, when the matter in dispute shall exceed $100 exclusive of interest, and not exceeding $3000 exclusive of interest. . . With the adoption of this system, the District Court might, with no injury to the public, be reduced to the minimum number indicated in the Constitution, say to 20, instead of 30, as now existing." 12 My 02, p.47-48
- g Mass. Bates. ". . . Delay is denial of justice. In certain of the counties, notably in Middlesex, men under arrest may have to wait months for a trial. . . The increase in civil business in the Superior Court is constant, and, notwithstanding the addition of three judges under legislation of the past year, it is still evident that something further must be done. The condition in Suffolk county particularly demands relief. More and more, the law business of the state is centering in the city of Boston. Cases have so accumulated that, if all were tried, they would consume the entire time of the court for several years. . ." 8 Ja 03, p.35-36
- h Mon. Toole. "I have long been of the opinion that the election of judicial officers should be removed as far as possible from the influence of politics. . . It is believed that this could be done by requiring justices of the Supreme Court and judges of the district courts to be elected at a time other than a general election. . ." 5 Ja 03, p.15
- i N. J. Murphy. "The last Legislature passed certain amendments to the Constitution which provide for certain changes in our judicial system. The overcrowded condition of the courts emphasize the urgent need of the final adoption of these amendments. . ." 13 Ja 03, p.16
- j W. Va. White. "It is generally conceded that the salaries of our judges are inadequate, and generally expected that the Legislature will raise them. . . It has been suggested that a provision be added, when the salaries are fixed for all the judges, limiting the age of judges and providing for their retirement on part pay, till the term for which they were elected has expired, when they reach the age fixed for retirement. . . ” 14 Ja 03, p.24

Supreme courts

Including only those highest in state, of whatever name, e. g. Court of Appeals but not Supreme Court of New York. In New York, New Jersey and elsewhere the Supreme Court is a district court and is classed below, 609. The Court of Appeals in New York, New Jersey, Kentucky and Maryland is the highest court, but in Colorado, Kansas, Missouri and Texas it is subordinate to the Supreme Court.

605 General and miscellaneous

- a Vt. Stickney, 2 O 02, p.16.
- b Cal. Pardee. “The inability of our Supreme Court, even with the help of its assisting commission, to hear and determine, within a reasonable time, the causes submitted to it, seems to call for prompt relief. I therefore recommend that the Legislature, after asking the advice and assistance of the judiciary, endeavor to devise some better plan, to be submitted to the people in the form of a constitutional amendment, in order that justice may be sooner done and the expenses of litigation may be curtailed.” 7 Ja 03, p.16
- c Neb. Mickey. “Your attention is urgently called to the necessity of providing for the continuation of the Supreme Court Commission. The present commission has performed commendable service and reduced the volume of litigation for years pending in the Supreme Court. While the number of commissioners might be decreased, I am firmly of the opinion that the number should not be less than six, considering the rights of litigants, and the imperative demand of the people that every case should receive fair and full consideration. . . ” 6 Ja 03, p.44-45
- d Neb. Savage. “The Legislature at its last session enacted a law which created a Supreme Court commission composed of nine members. The measure is of doubtful constitutionality; but congested conditions required that something be done to relieve the court and remove obstacles in the way of the speedy administration of justice, and, this being the only available remedy, it was resorted to. At the time of appointment of the commission, there were 1700 cases on the docket. Aided by the commission, the court has succeeded in disposing of these cases and it is now in a position to give early attention to controversies submitted to it for determination. The act limits the term of the commission to two years. . . This state has, however, outgrown the adjudicating capacity of the court, and, when revision of the organic law shall be undertaken, provision should be made for a substantial increase in the number of judges. . . ” 6 Ja 03, p.21-22

- 615 Circuit court
- a W. Va. White. "It will also be the duty of the Legislature to redistrict the state for judicial circuits, and in that connection it is urged by many that the number of circuit judges be increased, and inferior courts abolished. . . ." 14 Ja 03, p.24
- 633 District courts
- a Mon. Toole, 5 Ja 03, p.14; district judge in Lewis and Clarke county.
- b Neb. Savage. "It is the consensus of opinion of those well informed on the subject that the state has been prodigal in the creation of district courts and judges. . . In many of the districts, particularly in those of minor commercial importance, the volume of litigation is by no means sufficiently large to occupy half the time of the court. . . A retirement of at least one fourth of the judges will in no way delay the administration of justice, while it will make a saving approximately of $25,000 per year to the people." 6 Ja 03, p.22
- 657 Court officers
- For officers of special court, see above under that head
- a Wy. Richards. "The attorney general recommends that our laws be so amended that a district attorney and a court stenographer shall be appointed for each judicial district in this state; and that any fees collected by said stenographers shall be covered into the state treasury." 13 Ja 03, p.14
- 669 Notaries public
- a W. Va. White. "I recommend that our laws in regard to the appointment and government of notaries public be changed. I see no objection to the authority of a notary public extending to the limits of the state, as in New York and other states. . . There should be a term limit to the office, and these officers should come under the review of the governor at least every four years. . . ." 14 Ja 03, p.93-94
- 695 Civil procedure
- Including such provisions as apply to both civil and criminal cases
- 725 Jury. Verdict
- 732 Verdicts
- a Col. Orman. "I desire to renew my recommendation of two years ago, relative to the submission of a constitutional amendment, providing that in all civil cases in courts of record, tried by a jury, three fourths of the number of jurors may concur and return a verdict. This would, if adopted, in my judgment, effect a great saving to the people, besides expediting litigation. . . ." 10 Ja 03, p.66

733 Appeals. Review

- a O. Nash, 25 Ag 02, p.3; appeals to Supreme Court.
- b Mass. Bates. "Much of the time is taken up in hearing appeals from the lower courts. It has become a practice on the part of some attorneys to bring their cases in the lower courts, in order that they may discover the evidence of their opponent, and then appeal. The judges of these lower courts are men of experience and ability. In case of an appeal, the finding of these judges upon a hearing should be by law given the effect of an auditor's report. This could result in no injustice to any one, but would make the number of appeals much smaller, and thereby diminish pressure on the overburdened higher court." 8 Ja 03, p.37

739 Special actions

- 749 Writs: certiorari, injunction, mandamus, prohibition, quo warranto, scire facias
- a Cal. Pardee. "Complaint is frequently made against our courts for what is alleged to be a too frequent and an ill advised use of the writ of injunctions. . . While it will be well to look thoroughly into it, I am strongly of the opinion that hasty legislation might be very bad legislation. . . " 7 Ja 03, p.4-5
- b N. J. Murphy. "I call your attention to the advisability of passing a law requiring litigants who seek to enjoin corporations or others in the state from carrying out plans adopted by them, to give a bond of indemnity to the party attacked, in such sum as the chancellor shall deem proper, in case it be finally determined that the applicant for the injunction was not entitled to the writ. I am informed such a law exists in New York state. . . " 13 Ja 03, p.22
- c W. Va. White. ". . . I would call the attention of the Legislature to the subject of the alleged abuses of the writ of injunction by our state courts. . . " 14 Ja 03, p.89

- a Mass. Bates. "Public service corporations, rightfully managed, are of great benefit to the people; but the interests of stockholders sometimes conflict with those of the public. . . For years there has been a growing tendency on the part of certain public officials in state and city governments to request employment for their constituents from such corporations. . . It is time for legislation that will prevent such use of labor patronage by making it an offense for any official to make, or any corporation to grant, directly or indirectly, such a request." 8 Ja 03, p.32-33

Appointment

- a R. I. Garvin. "As an instance of the many vicious laws now on our statute books, none has less excuse than the one enacted two years ago transferring the power to appoint, and even the power to nominate, from the governor to the Senate. This innovation, so far as I can learn hitherto unknown to legislative government in any part of the world, is wrong in principle and can only lead to bad results. The law should be repealed forthwith, and its reenactment should be rendered forever impossible by means of a constitutional provision." 6 Ja 03, p.8
- b S. D. Herreid. "Two years ago, in obedience to the will of the people, nearly all official positions and some of the institutions required appointments in harmony with the new administration, and subsequent developments in three of the institutions revealed conditions which not only justified but imperatively demanded a change. Never before had the executive of the state been confronted with so many vacancies. Impressed with the belief that the affairs of the state should be managed according to rules of business recognized by managers of great and successful industrial corporations, my first efforts to apply these convictions came in the selection of men to fill the various positions in the service of the state. I soon found that my ideals of good government were not easily put into practice. Whenever I believed that the public service could be made better, I have ignored applications for appointments and even the recommendations of my best friends in order to carry out my convictions of duty. Generally speaking, the offices have been seeking the men. Sometimes it required a personal appeal to their sense of duty as good citizens to assume official burdens which to them meant neither honor nor reward. . ."

Civil service examinations (general)

- a Ill. Yates, 7 Ja 03, p.1; special message, transmitting civil service bill and recommending passage.
- b Cal. Pardee. "The platforms of the two principal parties adopted before the recent election contained declarations in favor of the merit system in the civil service of the state. . . In this matter, gradual progress is the best of all progress, because it is the surest and most enduring. The success which has been obtained in the classified civil service of the federal government, after 20 years of trial, points the way to the eventual evolution of a similar system under the state government." 7 Ja 03, p.16-17
- c Col. Peabody. "The business of the state should be administered on business principles, and to the accomplishment of this end I know of no method or means which would more effectually bring

- d Ill. Yates. “. . . The question is, shall appointments for merit be compelled by law? I answer that the gratifying success obtained under this administration by the retention of the main part of the old forces at the charitable institutions, shows what a calamity it would be to have the whole force removed, from time to time, by the preferment to power of first one political party and then another. Moreover, the present system under which, not only superintendents, but trustees, legislators, party leaders and the executive himself, are in spite of everything that can be done, embarrassed and harassed, from year's end to year's end, by applicants for small positions, who clamor for the hearing of their claims—involves a serious loss of time and waste of energy of officials, which loss and waste the people have the right to complain of and to abrogate by appropriate legislation. No one can possibly be more earnestly in favor of a reform in this particular than an official who for even one year has been subjected to this trial. . . .”

7 Ja 03, p.9-10

- e Neb. Savage. “. . . It would be a measure reflecting sober judgment and reason, one in harmony with the most advanced thought of the age, to establish a system of civil service extending over and including all the state institutions and all the departments of state government, excepting the judicial, legislative and executive departments. While recognizing the necessity of political parties, I do not believe that humanity should be required to pay such enormous tribute to partizanship as is customary, neither do I believe that the withdrawal of the spoils of office would jeopardize the existence of any political organization worthy of existence. . . .”

6 Ja 03, p.9

- f N. Y. Odell. “I recommend . . . that, where changes have not been sanctioned by the State Civil Service Board or the governor, that no salaries shall be paid by the local authorities or the state treasury, and that the power to enforce such payment in the courts shall be denied. . . .”

7 Ja 03, p.35

- g U. S. Roosevelt. “Gratifying progress has been made during the year in the extension of the merit system of making appointments in the government service. It should be extended by law to the District of Columbia. It is much to be desired that our consular system be established by law on a basis providing for appointment and promotion only in consequence of proved fitness.”

Reports

- a Id. Morrison. “. . . In view of the embarrassment incident to delay in the making of these reports, I submit as a suggestion for your serious consideration the advisability of a law, in harmony with said constitutional provision, making it incumbent on the officers indicated to have their reports available by the first day of December preceding each regular session of the Legislature."

5 Ja 03, p.5

- b N. M. Otero. "I recommend that you pass an act requiring all officers, boards and commissions who are required to make reports to the governor, superintendent of public instruction, the Legislature, or any other person, should do so at the close of each fiscal year, and providing that a failure to do so for a period of 15 days should subject the party so failing to removal from office and a heavy fine to be collected from him and the sureties on his bond."

19 Ja 03, p.6

- c Wy. Richards. ". . . Under the present laws, no appropriation or provision is made for the printing of any reports excepting those of the treasurer and auditor, whereas the reports of the secretary of state, the state superintendent of public instruction and ex officio register of the Land Board, the State Board of Charities and Reform, and the state examiner contain information as interesting and instructive as the two former. . ."

Salaries. Fees

- a Ari. Brodie, 19 Ja 03, p.9-10; fees should be turned into treasury and offices made salaried.
- b Ari. Brodie. "I . . . believe the present to be the proper time for a correction of the fee system now to some extent in vogue in the territory, and a readjustment of the salaries paid territorial officials." 19 Ja 03, p.14
- c Del. Hunn. "Owing to the . . . uncertain amount of business incident to any one of these civil functions, the fees received vary to such an extent that the most important offices have at times the least remuneration, and thereby the public service suffers. In view of this fact, it seems advisable to place all offices on a salaried basis, as rapidly as it can be done in accordance with the restrictions of the Constitution. . . " 6 Ja 03, p.16-17
- d Ind. Durbin. "The fee and salary act of 1895 was a step in the right direction, in that it placed the officers of the state on a basis of annual salaries and provided for the conversion of all fees into the public treasury. It has been demonstrated that there are inequalities in the compensation paid state officers, also in the different counties of the state, and in the case of the state's judiciary, the salaries named are inadequate for the duties performed. . . " 8 Ja 03, p.30
- e Mass. Bates. "The tendency of legislation in recent years has been to provide that, where officers are paid salaries, all fees provided for by statute and received by them in the discharge of their duties shall be turned into the treasury of the state, county or municipality, as the case may be. This policy has met with approval, and should be made more complete. . . " 8 Ja 03, p.25

- f Nev. Sadler. " . . . I am most decidedly in favor of increasing the salaries of the deputies employed in the several departments of the state government. . . " 19 Ja 03, p.6
- g Or. Geer. " For many years there has been a growing dissatisfaction among the people as to the fee system which is applied to the payment of certain public salaries. During the past year the question was given a degree of prominence which secured for it a place in every party platform demanding its abolition. . . " 10 Ja 03, p.21
- h Or. Chamberlain. " The platforms of both parties prior to the last election declared in favor of putting all the state officers on fixed annual salaries, and the payment of all fees earned by them in the performance of official duties into the state treasury. . . Since the last election it has been asserted in some quarters, that under this constitutional provision [art. 13, § 1] no other or different salary can be given by the Legislature to any of the officers therein named than those prescribed. . . That body is prohibited from giving to the officers named a less salary than the amount prescribed therein; it is prohibited from giving to any of them any fees or perquisites for the performance of official duty, but it does not prohibit the Legislature from exercising the discretion of increasing their salaries beyond those named therein. . . If the pledges of your platforms are carried out, and the governor, secretary of state, treasurer and judges of the Supreme Court placed on reasonable annual salaries, and all fees earned paid into the treasury, it will result in a saving to the state. 14 Ja 03, p.12-16
- i S. D. Herreid. " . . . The people of this state expect and demand the highest order of business ability in the management of their public institutions. For these services I believe they are now ready and willing to pay a fair compensation. Gratuitous services are no longer expected, and, I am convinced, are not desirable or profitable. . . " 6 Ja 03, p.37
- j W. Va. White. " The . . . state officials are very poorly paid as compared with the salaries provided for similar officers with like responsibilities in other states. The attorney general's salary should be largely increased, and the Constitution amended so as to require his residence at the capital, as his services are needed almost continually. This is another instance of the defects in our present organic law." 14 Ja 03, p.23-24

- a Col. Peabody. " Speaking for myself, and the other officers elect of the executive department, I assure you that it will be our endeavor to see to it that ' the servants of the state ' give the state the same amount of competent service that employees of mercantile and industrial establishments give; and, in this connection, I would suggest that you only employ such clerks and assistants in the discharge of your labors as may be absolutely necessary to perform the work in hand. There is no good reason why the Legislature should require as many clerks and assistants in the discharge of its duties as there are members of both houses; and the placing on the pay roll of a single clerk or other assistant simply for the purpose of giving a personal or political friend a 'job' is entirely indefensible. What has been said of the civil service of the state applies with equal and greater force to all departments of our county and municipal governments." 13 Ja 03, p.89-90

- b S. D. Herreid. ". . . The act of the Legislature of 1901 giving the governor power to unceremoniously remove officials is a most important step toward good government. In the performance of his duties the executive is constantly hampered by a mass of restrictions and limitations of power that should be swept away. A distribution of responsibility is demoralizing and not productive of the best results to the people. With greater freedom of action, more power, would come greater personal accountability. An enlightened and active public sentiment under such conditions would be productive of the highest degree of efficiency in every department of the public service. . . ." 6 Ja 03, p.4

"The state's land agent finds in an effort to straighten out the state's land books that there are 225,000 acres of sixteenth section lands, which, according to any showing we have, is the property of the schools, but which is now claimed by persons under adverse or other real or pretended titles. . . I suggest that a small committee of each house be appointed, having this matter in care, to confer with the land agent and agree on some needed legislation." 14 Ja 03, p.18
- b Col. Orman. "The business of the State Board of Land Commissioners has reached such proportions that I am constrained to add my earnest endorsement to that of the other members of the board, and earnestly urge on you the submission to the people of a constitutional amendment, providing for the creation of a state board of land commissioners, to be composed of three members, two of whom shall be elected, with a term of office of four years, one member to be elected every two years, the third member of the board to be the state superintendent of public instruction, who, by virtue of the office, represents the public school interests of the state, and who should at all times have a voice in the management of the school lands of the state. . . .”

- c N. M. Otero. “For the protection of our lands there should be a law requiring the judges of the district courts to specially instruct their grand juries to investigate into the cutting of timber or other depredations on school sections or other territorial lands, and making it the duty of each district attorney to prosecute any such offenders.”

- ci Or. Geer. State land agent. “Under the law of 1899 his principal duty has been to look after the farms acquired by the state through the foreclosure of mortgages given to the common school fund. . . . It has been his duty to find purchasers for these farms as fast as possible, at the best obtainable prices, to find renters where sales were not to be had and to look after the collection of the rents. . . .”

10 Ja 03, p.12

- d Or. Chamberlain. “There is now in the state treasury $729,435.42 of the irreducible school fund unloaned, and consequently bringing no revenue to the public schools. Under these circumstances, there is no reason for continuing the sales of the public lands of the state at minimum prices. It might be the part of wisdom to withdraw them from the market entirely for two years at least; but, if the present policy of selling them is to be continued, the State Land Board ought to be invested with a broader discretion than they now possess, and permitted to refuse applications to purchase, or to sell either for their actual value after proper ascertainment thereof, or at public auction to the highest bidder, with power to reject any and all bids that might be offered. . . . There have been at all times more or less abuses in connection with the sale of the public lands, and consequently much scandal has attached to various officials and private individuals because thereof. Duties which the law has intended should be performed by the clerk of the land board and other officials have not in times past been performed by them, and contemplated purchasers have been compelled to pay private individuals exorbitant prices for information which ought to be furnished by the records of the land department. . . .”

14 Ja 03, p.37

- e S. D. Herreid. “The difficulties encountered relating to the investment of the school funds have developed two distinct lines of thought or policies to be pursued by the state with the unsold school and endowment lands, numbering 2,570,923 acres. On the one hand it is maintained that these lands should be sold within a reasonable time, not only for the interest to be derived from the investment of the proceeds, but for the occupation of these lands and development of the localities where these lands are found. Counties with large tracts of untaxed state lands object to a policy which retards their development and throws an undue share of the burdens of taxation for public improvements on the owners of the improved lands. Objection is also made to an elaborate state system of tenantry. The argument in favor of leasing these lands is briefly and best stated by President Beadle: 'It would cost far less to administer the lands and funds on the rented plan. There would never be any risk to the principal; it would remain in the lands, safe. . . The collection of these sums would be more easy, less expensive and safer than the loan of the money, and an easier and safer proposition. We have this alternative: to sell the lands and accept a steadily declining rate of interest on a fund that can not increase, or to lease the lands and receive an increasing income from a permanently increasing capital. Interest declines; real property advances. Let us keep the best security and income.' "

- f Tenn. McMillin. "On a prior occasion I recommended to the Legislature the repeal of all laws authorizing the granting of lands in Tennessee. . . Unfortunately, there are thousands of instances where the lands have been granted two, three, or four times. . . If the state really owns large bodies of land, it should not give them away without remuneration, and in tracts containing from 1 to 90 square miles. If it does not own them, it should not pretend to grant them."

During the past 40 years I believe there has been no fire in any public building, save the recent fire at the reform school. This fact shows that the chances for loss of property from fire are too small to justify incurring the expense of insurance. The most valuable of our state buildings, the capitol, is not insured for a dollar and never has been. . . There should be a law instructing the different boards to insure the state buildings in an amount definitely specified, or, you should declare that since the state's resources are stronger than those of any insurance company, it is the policy of the state to carry its own insurance." 10 Ja 03, p.27

 b Ala. Jelks. "Under the Constitution, it is made the duty of the governor, auditor and attorney general to prepare a revenue code for your 'information.' That duty has been discharged. The work was done under the more immediate supervision of the auditor. In its preparation, we had the advice, for several days, of several county assessors, collectors, and at least two back tax commissioners. I hope you will find it an improvement over the revenue codes of the past. There is one startling innovation in it to which I call your attention. This is a stamp tax on mortgages. Under the operation of old codes, there was no tax duty resting on foreign concerns lending money in the state. Our own people were thus discriminated against. There are several other important changes. . . ." 14 Ja 03, p.22-23

- c Col. Orman. "The attempt to equalize between the counties is of but little avail. The hands of the [state] board are so effectively tied that it is impossible to do this work with any kind of justice or satisfaction to the members of the board or of the counties, and the attempt might as well be left undone. The board has no power or authority to equalize particular kinds or classes of property as between the several counties. All they can do is to raise or lower the aggregate. . . However, this is a matter that will require a constitutional amendment, as the Supreme Court has already held that the Board of Equalization has no other alternative in the matter of equalization between the counties. . . I deem it advisable that a constitutional amendment be submitted to the people, creating a tax commission, to be composed of three members, with a term of office of six years, one member to be elected by the people every two years, whose duty it shall be to assess the corporate property within the state now assessed by the State Board of Equalization, and who shall also have power to equalize between the counties on an equitable and fair basis. . . " 10 Ja 03, p.69-70
- d Kan. Bailey. ". . . For many years it has been generally conceded that our present tax law is insufficient for present conditions, crude and inequitable in its operation. Framed 34 years ago, when Kansas was a frontier state and all its property visible and easy of assessment, it is now imperfect, and wholly inadequate to meet the changed conditions of society. . . These inequalities and injustices have attracted the attention of our lawmaking power for many years, and many attempts have been made to adjust the law to the new conditions, but the brief time allowed by the session has prevented a comprehensive and satisfactory plan; and so thoroughly has this been proved that the session of 1901 adopted the plan which has been followed with success in most of the northern and western states in recent years, of a state tax commission. . . " 13 Ja 03, p.12-13
- e La. Heard. "Our present revenue laws are the result of years of experience and conscientious effort on the part of our lawmakers . . . and, with some modifications and amendments relating to the taxation of credits and indebtedness to foreign corporations . . . and the taxation of credits and obligations assigned to third parties by original owners, will, I think, be found satisfactory. . . " 12 My 02, p.5
- f Mich. Bliss. "After years of agitation Michigan's system of taxation is quite clearly defined, and the work of the future will consist in perfecting the system rather than in making radical changes. . . State supervision of the assessing machinery has already wrought decided results and the powers of the Board of State Tax Commissioners should be increased rather than diminished. . . It is clear that, if the work of the state board is to be given its greatest efficiency and the results of its work saved to the people most in need of assistance, some change is necessary to control, or at least to regulate the authority of county boards of equalization. . . Since 1899, when the Board of State Tax Commissioners began its work, the assessed valuation of the state has increased from $968,000,000 to $1,418,000,000 in 1902, an increase of $450,000,000. Of this vast sum the increase in personal property was $189,000,000. For the purpose of comparison it is interesting to note that during the 13 years previous to 1899 the total increase in personal property assessment was only $3,000,000. . . The immense increase of $189,000,000 during the period of three years emphasizes the imperative necessity of state supervision and control over assessing officers, for this result could never have been attained had not systematic attention been given to large properties which previously had been undervalued and in many cases had escaped assessment altogether. . . The knowledge of the commission gained by experience and the employment of skilled assistants has enabled it to render assessing officers invaluable service, has brought large amounts of property to the rolls, and at the same time, there has been uniformity in assessment. As an illustration, to ascertain the value and secure uniformity of assessment in different districts through which electric railway lines extend, requires examination by experienced and practical men, and this can be made only under the direction of a board like the Tax Commission, having knowledge of such properties and authority to enforce its judgment. . . " 8 Ja 03, p.8-9

h Minn. Van Sant. " . . . I earnestly recommend that you provide for the resubmission to the people of the amendment [taxation] as submitted at the last election. Should such proposed amendment be submitted to the people and be adopted and ratified, the door would then be open for new methods of taxation. Under such conditions the Legislature would be enabled to pass a graduated income tax; also a registry tax on all mortgages, a tax on franchises, and, if desired, to provide for a gross earnings system as to public service corporations in lieu of direct taxation. In a word, it would permit tax reform and all the property in the state could be brought under equal and uniform taxation. Should an amendment of the character indicated be passed and ratified, the Legislature would then be enabled to pass such legislation as would largely increase the public revenues, which, together with the proposed gross earnings law pertaining to railway companies, would make it possible to do away entirely with taxation for state purposes. Experience has taught us that it is utterly impossible to pass a code changing the entire system. Legislation along tax lines must come by evolution, and till the constitutional limitations are removed, in my judgment it would not be wise to enter on general tax legislation. . . "

i Or. Geer. " I regard an amendment to our laws on taxation providing for raising revenue from corporations as one of the first duties which call for your prompt attention. This should include a tax on inheritances, a just and equitable manner of raising revenue that has been adopted by many states with satisfactory results. Real estate, a form of property that is always in sight, and, therefore, easily found by assessors, but which is generally less productive than many other kinds of property, has long been, and is now, the bearer of the greater share of our governmental burdens."

k Tenn. Frazier. "The State Equalization Board now consists of the comptroller, treasurer, and secretary of state. . . Their examinations of these assessments must necessarily be hurried, and hence can not be as thorough as their importance deserves. . . The railroad commissioners, charged with the assessment of railroad, telegraph, and telephone properties in the state, are, by reason of their position, constantly studying questions of taxation and value. . . I recommend that the railroad commissioners be constituted the State Board of Equalization and be required to perform the duties now devolving by law on that board, without additional compensation."

l Tex. Sayers. "The comptroller recommends legislative action looking to the improvement of the present system for the assessment and collection of taxes. The subject was brought to the attention of the 26th and 27th Legislatures, but nothing was done. It is strictly true that the amount of property escaping taxation steadily increases year by year, and that when rendition is made, it is so rated as to hardly reach one third of its true market value. . . . Again, the disparity among the counties in the valuation of lands is such that, when generally understood, can not but cause great discontent. Investigation will show that the poorer and less fertile lands are assessed much higher in proportion to their value than are the richer and more productive. . . "

m Wis. La Follette. "The Legislature of 1901 came from the people commissioned to enact such legislation as would require each individual and every corporation transacting business within the state to pay a just and equal share of the taxes. To aid them in the discharge of this duty to their constituents, they had been provided with a tax commission composed of able gentlemen, skilled in the subject of taxation, who had given it much study, and who had been authorized to employ at public expense whatever assistance should be necessary in furtherance of the work. . . With a unanimity not usual in any legislative body, the bills designed to secure a uniform and more complete assessment of the property of individuals and private corporations were passed through both branches of the Legislature, though the bills designed to insure the payment of a more justly proportionate share of the taxes from railroad and other public service corporations were defeated in the Assembly late in the session, and were never reported for action from the committee to which they were referred in the Senate. . . "

The state of New York has reduced her state taxes many millions of dollars recently, and will probably abolish them altogether. The State of Ohio just last year reduced its state taxes from 28c on the $100 to 13½c. Personal property

- a Cal. Pardee. ". . . The amount of personal property assessed in California is actually less by several millions than it was 30 years ago. As long ago as 1872, the assessors found nearly $220,000,000 worth of personal property. A few years later the assessment had shrunk to a little more than half of that sum, and, though there has since been a slow increase, it amounts, for the current year, to only $200,000,000." •

- b Mich. Bliss. "Great pressure will be brought to bear on you, gentlemen, to exempt from taxation, in whole or in part, the vast sums of money loaned on real estate mortgages, under the argument that double taxation is involved. There is no more reason why money loaned on real estate should be favored than that loaned on personal property which pays a tax, if the law is followed by the assessing officers. The result of thus favoring the owner of encumbered real estate is either that mortgage credits are altogether exempted from taxation, or that indebtedness, when secured by real estate mortgage, may be deducted from the value of the real estate, while the owner of personal property chattels has no such privilege, he being permitted to deduct his indebtedness from credits only. . . ."
8 Ja 03, p.10
- c N. Y. Odell. "The present method of mortgage taxation is unfair because it reaches only a small proportion of the whole, and permits an excessive tax. Whatever may be the reasoning as to the propriety or justice of imposing such a tax, the experience of other commonwealths has demonstrated beyond any question or doubt that the tax on mortgages must be paid by the borrower and, therefore, to that extent it becomes double taxation. We must consider, however, the disinclination of local assessors to relieve those who loan money, on the theory, in which there is much justice, that if mortgage taxation were entirely abolished a greater burden would be imposed on real estate free from mortgage debt. . . We may assume, therefore, that, while it is impossible at the present time to entirely eliminate some form of taxation on mortgages wherever found, that we can still satisfy the localities by a more equitable distribution of the tax and thus bring about a lowering of the tax, with the natural sequence, a lowering of the interest rate. . . I recommend therefore that the rate of taxation on mortgages shall not exceed 4 mills annually, and be in lieu of all other taxes, the mortgages to be assessed locally, two thirds of the amount collected to go into the local treasuries and one third to the state, excepting only from the operation of this law mortgages and bonds held by savings banks, fraternal orders, local building and loan associations, life insurance companies and charitable, religious and educational bodies. This law would produce as near as can be estimated $8,000,000 annually. . . Bonds of corporations, owing to the difficulty of reaching them for taxing purposes, can be left for assessment under existing law."

- e Wis. La Follette. "With the rapid accumulation of wealth, the increase in the amount and value of intangible property but strengthens year by year the reason and justice of its taxation in some form. That vast accumulations of wealth may be invested in interest-bearing securities, insuring large incomes to the holders, who throw their share of the expense of maintaining streets and schools and public institutions, and all the burdens of municipal and state government on the owners of factories and shops and stores and farms and homes, violates every principle of equal rights and equal responsibilities guaranteed to each American citizen. . . "

With respect to mortgage taxation, which, it is to be remembered, represents only a part of the vast amount of intangible property subject to taxation, it is not so difficult to discover and secure the assessment of the property interest represented by the mortgage. This may easily be done by assessing the mortgage as an interest in realty, and providing that, if the tax levied thereon be not paid by the owner of the mortgage interest, it may be paid by the owner of the mortgaged property and deducted from the amount of the mortgage debt. As no piece of taxable property should be taxed twice, wherever this plan is proposed it is agreed that the owner of the mortgaged real estate should have the valuation of the assessment on his mortgaged premises reduced at the time of the assessment, by deducting from the value thereof the amount of the mortgage thereon. . . Two years ago I devoted a large part of my message to the Legislature to an elaborate discussion and presentation of this question, as had all my predecessors, concluding with the following recommendation: 'In my judgment you should adopt one of two theories. The best one, if it can be had, will be to devise some system by which the state can assess a certain amount against each county, for state purposes, in proportion to its wealth or population, providing that the first taxes collected shall be paid on the state tax. This would at once and effectually destroy the incentive to undervaluation, would result in a benefit to the state and county, would remove the annoyance and expense of delinquent taxes and dispense with the necessity for a state board of equalization.' This recommendation was adopted by the Legislature and the present law on the subject of assessment was passed. That it has met the expectations of its supporters is evidenced by the fact that at last the question has been eliminated from the list of subjects falling within the scope of public discussion. There seems no disposition anywhere to attack the central feature of this law." 10 Ja 03, p.4-5

Under the statutes, they each pay a license fee and an annual tax of 2% on gross premiums less losses and premiums returned. . . Why may not a system be devised for making each and all of these corporations, organized as they are under the laws of the state, contribute directly to the expense of state administration, either by license fees or taxation proportioned to capitalization, or both? Telephone, telegraph, express, surety and railroad companies, whether organized abroad or under local statutes, could be brought within the same category as insurance companies, and so the burden now borne by real estate measurably lightened."

The officials and directors of every corporation should be made, under sufficient penalty, to promptly inform the state department of its abandonment of business, or its dissolution, and inasmuch as they have entire control of its assets, to be responsible for the payment of this tax."

"In this connection I desire to call attention to the successful workings of House bill no. 277, passed by the last Legislature, which, among other things, changed and reclassified the rates of the annual license tax on the charters of corporations. Under the operations of this act the receipts increased for the year 1901 over $240,000 above the highest amount ever before received from this source of taxation. A marked tendency of this act has been to raise the standard of West Virginia corporations and to restrict and shut out undesirable concerns. The revenues from this act fell off nearly $5000 for the second fiscal year, reaching but $375,560.46, but this is easily explained by the decrease in the capital stock of 53 resident and 88 nonresident corporations, and the fact that quite a number of corporations withdrew their charters from this state on account of the increased tax. It is estimated that the income from this source of taxation will increase during the present and succeeding years, as the law becomes better known. The corporations now coming into our state are of better character, and there will be a less percentage of their charters forfeited from year to year." 14 Ja 03, p.6-7

At least one of the states in the Union which has not as liberal laws as our own in respect to the organization of corporations, is deriving sufficient revenue from fees collected from corporations organized within its jurisdiction to cover, or nearly so, the expense of the state government; therefore, there is no reason why, with a fair and just fee charged by our territory to the corporations which take advantage of our laws and organize in Arizona, sufficient revenue should not be derived by the territory to assist in defraying its current expenses. . . ." 19 Ja 03, p.7

Every corporation incorporated under the laws of any state or territory of the United States, or of any foreign state, is also required to pay a like fee on the filing of a certified copy of its articles of incorporation. In some of the states the fee payable on the filing of such articles is made to depend on the amount of the capital stock of the corporation. . . I would therefore recommend that the fees for filing articles of incorporation, or certified copies thereof, in the office of the secretary of state, as well as the annual license fees required of corporations for the privilege of doing business in this state, be made to bear some relation to the capital stock of such corporations; and that some method be adopted insuring the payment of such license fees when they fall due. . . ”

It is charged that such deposits, while legally taxable to the owners as money in hand, escape the taxation which those in savings banks are compelled to bear, and are therefore unjustly favored. . . It is suggested that the national banks should be required to make returns which will disclose to the local assessors the ownership of the interest-bearing deposits, that they may be taxed at the local rates, which would undoubtedly result in their withdrawal and investment elsewhere.”

There should be no separation of the items entering into the building and operation of a railroad. It should be treated as a unit. . . The true measure of the value of any piece of property is its earning capacity. . . Nobody is so well fitted to judge of the value of a railroad as the men who deal in the stocks and bonds of railroads. Perhaps every railroad in the state has, in addition to its stock, a bonded debt. Its true value is indicated by the price at which its stock and bonds sell in the markets. If a railroad company has put on the market a million of dollars of its bonds and a half million of its stock, and if these bonds and its stock sell in open market at par, the real value of the road is a million and a half dollars, because it pays a fair interest on that amount and therefore ought to be taxed on that valuation. . . I therefore recommend that a law be enacted making the aggregate market value of all the stock and bonds of a railroad partly or wholly in this state the basis of taxation of such railroad when its stocks or bonds, or both, have a market value, and that, when they have no market value, the price at which the materials in the road and equipment would probably sell if taken up and offered at auction be taken as its true value, and that the proper officer of such companies be required to return their property for taxation on this basis. . . It is clear to me, as it must be to all who have given the subject intelligent consideration, that the board has not yielded to clamor for high valuation against this class of property, nor has it been awed or unduly influenced by this immense aggregation of wealth, but has been actuated only by a desire to do its full duty. The amount of taxes from railroad properties due in July 1902, was $1,483,906, while the amount resulting from the assessment just referred to will be $2,850,211. I refer to the gross earnings system under which railway companies pay into the state treasury in lieu of taxes 3% of their gross earnings. Our state seems committed to this policy, and the simple question for your consideration is, should the rate now fixed by law be increased? . . . In view of the fact that officials and others who have given the matter thorough consideration have concluded that a rate of 4% is just and equitable and substantially exacts from railway companies what they would be required to pay if they were subject to direct taxation, I recommend that the rate be fixed at 4%." 7 Ja 03, p.23-25

- j Mo. Dockery. "The franchise law, enacted by the last General Assembly, has greatly simplified the assessment of public service corporations. While franchises were in fact assessed prior to the passage of this act, grave uncertainty existed as to the power of the state to tax this class of property under the then existing laws. The new law leaves no question as to the legality of the assessment.

The assessment of public service corporations has reached $120,000,000, an increase in the past two years of $17,500,000, or more than 15%, while the increase in the assessment of real and personal property for the corresponding period is scarcely 5%." 8 Ja 03, p.4-5

l N. Y. Odell. "It has always appeared to me to be dangerous to lodge power in any taxing officer which permits him to discriminate in the levying of assessments, and that the nearer, therefore, we can approach a system which has for its object a constant valuation, the nearer we are to a perfect system of taxation. . . The franchise tax, which is still the subject of litigation, seems to me through the few years that it has been in operation to have demonstrated that it is inequitable, and a source of annoyance and constant litigation. Some corporations can bear this burden without serious results following. But, as is well known, the continued increase of street railroad traffic and the demands for lighting, water, telephone and other public utility facilities have perhaps brought into existence many corporations which can not bear the excessive burden which is now imposed under the present law. . . With corporations as with individuals we should be fair, and, while perhaps these corporations had not been paying the proportion which they should, still whatever is of value for a franchise should be paid for to the state, because it creates the corporation; while for the use of the streets there should be a direct contract between the company seeking such privileges and the municipality affected. . . . It seems to me, therefore, that the only safe and conservative way of assessing such corporations is on their earning capacity, a plan which would not permit unfair discrimination. This would avoid many complications and would be a much safer system than the one now in operation."

m N. C. Aycock. " . . . The laws now in the statute books provide for equality of assessment, but by equality of assessment it is not understood that those who have secured franchises from the state and thereby enjoy special privileges should be exempt from payment of taxes on the value of the franchises and privileges which they enjoy. Mr Justice Miller, in a case before the Supreme Court of the United States, declared that, 'it has been a desideratum, perhaps not yet fully attained, to find a method of taxing this species of property, which will be at the same time just to the owners of it, equal and fair in its relations to taxes on other property, and which will enforce the just contribution that such property should pay for the benefits which more than property generally it receives at the hands of government.' The law now on our statute books for the taxation of railroads follows the line of this decision. That law provides the method for ascertaining the value of the property of the railroads, and the method provided seems to me to be fair and just. This law has the advantage of having been passed on by the Supreme Court of the United States in cases going to that court from other states. Much of the value of corporations is intangible, and no tax law which ignores this intangible property is just to the owners of tangible property assessed at its true value. The law now in force recognizes this fact and provides for the assessment of this intangible property, and lays down rules by which it can be done with reasonable accuracy. These rules proceed on the idea that 'whatever property is worth for the purposes of income and sale, it is also worth for taxation.' No just man demands more than this, and no fair minded man can justify anything less."

- o Wash. McBride. ". . . The aggregate assessed value of all railroad property in the state, used for railroad purposes, is $20,604,659. By those who have inquired into the matter, the statement that this property is worth at least $200,000,000, is deemed conservative. But I am not advocating that it should be assessed at the full sum of $200,000,000; for I believe that throughout the state, quite generally, property is assessed something below its real value. But that the disproportion between the real and the assessed value of other property is anywhere nearly so great as the disproportion between the real and the assessed valuation of railroad property, no one can be found to contend. . . The State Board of Equalization, consisting of the secretary of state, the commissioner of public lands and the state auditor, is powerless to afford relief in the matter of the proper assessment of railroad property. This board simply apports among the several counties the amount of tax to be raised in the state for state purposes. . . The valuation placed on railroad property by county assessors, as equalized by the boards of county commissioners, is the basis on which the tax levy is made for both state and county purposes. . . In the event of the passage of a railway commission bill, the commissioners selected would necessarily have to ascertain the value of all the railroad property in the state. They might be required to certify such values to the State Board of Equalization for its information and guidance; or, what would, perhaps, be better, they might be made ex officio members of the board."

It is a tax on the electric light, gas, natural gas, pipe line, waterworks, street, suburban or interurban railroad, express, telegraph, telephone, messenger or signal, union depot, and railroad companies. This tax in Ohio is in addition to their franchise license tax, and their state tax on the real estate, etc., owned by these corporations. . . Our present tax laws and the laws recommended by the Tax Commission levy excise taxes on a number of the companies enumerated in this Ohio law. - s Wis. La Follette. ". . . After weeks and months of delay, during which lobby agents and representatives of the railway companies were busy, the recommendations of the Tax Commission were rejected and the bills prepared by them and submitted to the Legislature, in accordance with law, were defeated in the Assembly, action on the same having been delayed in the Senate till after the measures proposed by the Tax Commission had been beaten in the Assembly. Again the question of equalizing the burdens of taxation has been submitted to the people of Wisconsin; and your honorable body assembles with obligations renewed for the third time, and with responsibilities increased, finally to accord justice to the taxpayers of this commonwealth. . . In determining that we should abandon the license fee system of railroad taxation in Wisconsin, the commission will simply reaffirm the declaration made two years ago that the license fee system would be 'superseded by a more scientific method' of railway taxation. . . The license fee system if fairly adjusted as between railroads and other taxable property of the state today on an agreed percentage would furnish no assurance of a fair division of tax burden a year hence.

Conditions arise from time to time in the commonwealth requiring an increase in the rate upon taxable property. At such times property taxed under the ad valorem system must bear all of the increased burden, while the percentage on which the license fee is based remains the same. . . The railroad companies under the license fee system have no interest and no concern respecting the money appropriated by the Legislature. . . The taxation of railroad property, as of all other property, on its actual value, can work no injustice to any one. The effort, by those interested in preventing the adoption of the ad valorem system for railroads, to make it appear that the value of railroad property can not be ascertained, is not entitled to serious consideration. That which has a sufficient physical existence to stand as security for the loan of vast sums of money; that which is represented in the markets of the world as among the most readily salable property; that which is productive in its earning capacity of an enormous annual income, has all of the essentials in certainty and definiteness that property requires for the purposes of taxation. . . " 15 Ja 03, p.16-19

Mining

- a Ari. Brodie. " . . . I believe, in justice and fairness, that owners of producing mines in this territory would willingly pay a tax on the output of their mines, such tax to be a just and proportionate one as compared with other territorial taxes. . . " 19 Ja 03, p.7
- b Id. Morrison. " . . . We are without an adequate and equitable system of taxation for mines and mining property, and in consequence in some counties of the state where the mining interests are large there are uncertainty and pending conflict in the matter of assessment and collection of taxes. . . This session should not pass without placing on our statute books a much needed law providing a fair and certain method for the taxation of mines. . . " 5 Ja 03, p.25
- d W. Va. White. License tax on the mining of coal. " This tax should be small and fixed for a long term of years. The State Tax Commission give five uncontrovertible reasons why a tax of one third of a cent per ton is a just tax to levy on the right to mine coal for sale. A license tax on the production of oil and gas, such as is recommended by the State Tax Commission, is so reasonable in view of the fact that this business has so largely escaped taxation hitherto, that, I take it, it will not be necessary in this connection to argue at length in favor of such a license tax in case the state taxes are abolished." 14 Ja 03, p.17-18

- e Wy. Richards. "The coal lands of this state, owned by companies or individuals, on which productive mines are being operated, do not pay their proportionate share of the taxes of the state. Some regulations should be devised equalizing the values of productive coal lands belonging to mining companies or individuals, with other property in this state, either by an assessment ad valorem, or by complying with the provisions of § 3, art. 15 of the Constitution of Wyoming, which provides for a tax on the gross output of mines." 13 Ja 03, p.5

- ci Ind. Durbin. "The tax rate in Indiana is one of the lowest of any of the states of the Union, and when the growing necessities, both as to permanent improvements and yearly maintenance, are taken into account, was never as light as at present. The state

- revenue and benevolent institution levies of 14c are really all that go into the general fund. The school revenue is redistributed on a statutory basis; the slight specific levy for the state debt can be used only for its prescribed purpose, and the 1% to the educational institutions, aggregates the 29% of the state's share of taxes. The average rate in Indiana is about $1.50 on the $100, so it will be seen the burdens of taxation are local. . . . " 8 Ja 03, p.2-3
- d Me. Hill. " . . . In addition to $1,791,570.32 received from the tax on cities, towns, plantations and wild lands during the past two years, the tax on savings banks has amounted to $1,038,191.43; on trust and banking companies, $45,147.66; the tax on railroads was $618,479.92; on telegraph and telephone companies, $36,809.91; on express companies, $17,320.32; on insurance companies, $152,208.26; on collateral inheritances, $78,828.43; on corporations, $78,140; organization of new corporations, $131,485; other taxes and miscellaneous items, $441,924.27; making the total revenue from all sources $4,430,105.52." 8 Ja 03, p.5

- et Pa. Stone. " At the beginning of the present administration, there was a large deficit in the state treasury. At the beginning of the last session of the Legislature, there was a surplus of a million and a half of dollars. After deducting all outstanding debts and the unusual and unexpected expenditure of over a million dollars for the suppression of industrial disturbances, the beginning of the present fiscal year shows a balance of over 7 millions of dollars. . . . " 6 Ja 03, p.1
- f Or. Chamberlain. " It is to be expected that, as the state grows in population and in wealth, there must be a proportionate increase in expenditure to successfully administer its affairs. But it does not follow that the general rate of taxation should continue to increase. The steady growth in wealth, constantly adding to the aggregate assessed valuation, ought to keep down the rate of the tax levy. . . . " 14 Ja 03, p.4
- g S. C. Heyward. " While the bonded debt of the state is comparatively small . . . I nevertheless feel that it is incumbent on me to call attention to the necessity the state is under to borrow money to meet the deficiency occasioned by its current obligations exceeding its revenue. This being the case, the deficiency naturally increases yearly, and if allowed to continue will assume serious proportions, and become a burden to the taxpayers. Reference to the treasurer's report discloses the fact that the deficiency for the last year alone amounted to $125,000, in round numbers. . . . " 21 Ja 03, p.13

It was found necessary by the executive to delay the expenditure of some extraordinary appropriations during the year of 1901, when legislative expenses were met, and till revenues were received for the year 1902. It follows that the certificates of indebtedness above referred to were issued contrary to the express inhibition of the Constitution, and such indebtedness so contracted, under the Constitution as it stands, is absolutely void, and no General Assembly can pass a constitutional relief bill for the purpose of paying such certificates of indebtedness. . . I am opposed to any attempt to meet and discharge these obligations by attempted evasion of the constitutional provisions relating to the same, and, therefore, earnestly urge the adoption of a bill to submit to the people a constitutional amendment providing for the funding of these certificates of indebtedness and excess warrants. . ." 13 Ja 03, p.81-84
- c Ga. Terrill. "I . . . suggest that this General Assembly submit a constitutional amendment limiting the tax rate to 5 mills, exclusive of the sinking fund and what may be needed for the protection of the state in time of insurrection or war." 8 N 02, p.4
- d Mich. Bliss. ". . . Probably all state institutions, boards and commissions would prefer the permanent appropriation or mill tax

852 Governor's contingent fund

- a Ari. Brodie. "On assuming the duties of governor on July 1 last, I found by act 89, laws of 1901, the governor was allowed to draw $750 for each of the years from July 1, 1901, to July 1, 1903, on his own receipt, and for which no voucher was required to be returned. As I am a firm believer in the rule that appropriations should be made for specific purposes, and that proper vouchers should be required and returned in all cases where public funds are distributed by public officials, I have, since my induction into office, left this appropriation untouched in the territorial treasury. . . - a Wis. La Follette. "Under ch. 433 of the laws of 1901, it is made the duty of the executive to install a central system of accounting for all state officers and state institutions. Pursuant to ch. 133 of the laws of 1899, the preceding administration had been authorized to establish such an accounting system for all state offices in the capitol. . . It was found impossible, however, to apply it because of the fact that certain state institutions were outside of the terms of the law of 1899. . . It was . . . believed to be desirable to ascertain the methods of bookkeeping and accounting in operation in some of the older states. To that end the systems in use in Massachusetts, New Jersey, and New York, were examined in connection with the report made and plan devised under the provisions of the act of 1899. This was followed by a thorough investigation of the system of bookkeeping and accounting used in each of the departments of our state government and in each of the state institutions, including the university and normal schools. The results of this investigation, conducted by an experienced and expert accountant, leave no room whatever to doubt that the bookkeeping and accounting system which has been maintained in each of the departments of our state government and each of the state institutions is superior to that of Massachusetts, New York, and New Jersey; that it has been conducted with great care, minuteness, and detail; that it is faulty only in that expenditures and receipts of the state government, including the state institutions, have not been centralized. It was discovered that a system of centralization may be grafted onto the existing systems without either incurring present expense or entailing the perpetual outlay necessarily to result from sweeping them all aside, and without rendering the whole system cumbersome and complicated with detail and circumlocution. . . - d Mass. Bates. " . . . In general, it may be said that there are two approved methods of providing for the payment of bonded indebtedness—one by the establishment of sinking funds, and the other by serial payments. The first system has prevailed in our state from the beginning. . . The evils of the sinking fund system were not serious when the bonded indebtedness of the state was small; but that there are some evils is apparent today, when our bonded indebtedness, including the contingent indebtedness for the metropolitan district, is over $84,000,000, and the sinking funds are piled up in our vaults to the extent of nearly $19,000,000, and are rapidly increasing. These funds have been managed with absolute fidelity to the people's interest; but the responsibility for their investment is great, the risk to the state is large. . . I am informed that computations most carefully made indicate that there would be an immense saving under the serial payment plan. If this fact can be established, legislation should follow that will in the end relieve the state from the unnecessary burden of the present system." 8 Ja 03, p.48-50

This section should be so amended as to give the treasurer and governor the same power, but to be exercised three months before such bonds become due, in order that the money may be in the treasury at the exact time the option accrues. . . - b Neb. Mickey. " . . . At present, the floating indebtedness of the commonwealth is largely in excess of the amount permitted under the Constitution and is rapidly increasing. There is no defensible reason for the existence of such a condition. It is largely due to the prevalent and pernicious practice of undervaluing all forms of property and franchises which enter into the make-up of the assessors' schedules. . . . Another important contributory cause to the increasing indebtedness is the further fact that many county treasurers are exceedingly lax in the matter of tax collection. . . ."

By reason of delinquent taxes the state has each year been compelled to utilize its credit till the outstanding warrant indebtedness against the general fund reaches the enormous amount of $1,989,328.63. . . . The Constitution limits the indebtedness of the state to $100,000, yet the state debt is now close to the $2,000,000 mark with a stop from further increase conditioned only and solely on such legislation as will compel the payment of taxes by all holders of property. . . ."

- d N. D. White. " . . . On Jan. 1, 1901, there was less than $10,000 in the general fund. The accounts against the state were six months past due, on the auditor's table were $80,000 of funding warrants issued to pay current expenses and more than $150,000 of vouchers awaiting payment. This intolerable condition was not new, but the result of almost continuously since statehood exceeding our revenues by our expenditures. It had been a common practice, and usually one of the first acts, for the Legislature each two years to authorize the issuing of sufficient short time warrants to square accounts. These warrants drew a high rate of interest, were not considered good by investors and were often only sold on the personal assurance of the officers issuing them that they would be taken care of. During the past two years $270,000 of these warrants were issued. It gives me and those who have been associated with me much pleasure to be able to report to you that all of these warrants have been gradually paid off as they became due, that all other obligations of the state have been promptly met and the biennial period closed with practically all bills paid and with a small balance in the general fund. . . ."

- b Id. Morrison. "The proper disposition of state and county funds, pending their disbursement, is a practical question, and, as population and wealth increase, grows in importance. . . . Authority is given for 'special deposit' only, yet the funds are invariably placed on general deposit subject to check in the ordinary way. The funds ought to be thus available, but under very different conditions and safeguards than those which obtain under the present law and practice. . . . I find on inquiry that many of the county treasurers and invariably the state treasurer, demand from th depository banks interest on balances which they appropriate to their own use. Moreover, in many of the counties the depository bank not only pays the premium but assumes the duties of the office as well while the officer draws the salary. . . It is said by those who are in a position to know that the state treasurer's office is now worth for the term of two years, $10,000 outside of the salary. . . In view of these facts and others which obtain, and in order that the state and the several counties may receive the income from their deposits, I strongly recommend a law providing: first, that the county treasurer be required to conduct the affairs of his office at the county court house, and second, that the public moneys, both county and state, under the control of the various treasurers, be awarded for general deposit, under established securities, to those banks within the state which will pay therefor the greatest, equal or in excess of a minimum, interest on balances."

c Kan. Bailey. "And, I would further recommend that our laws be so amended that the accounts of the state fiscal agency and the state depositories be kept with the auditor of state and state treasurer in a more businesslike manner. Under the present law, neither the state fiscal agency nor the state depositories are required to report to the auditor of state. When the state treasurer remits to the fiscal agency or makes a deposit with the state depository, he should be required to sign, with the auditor of state, a statement showing that said remittance or deposit has been made, and the auditor of state should be required to charge the state fiscal agency or state depository with said remittance or deposit, and credit the state treasurer; and, when the state treasurer issues a check or draft on the fiscal agency or state depository, before delivering said check or draft to the party to whom it is issued, the treasurer should be required to present it to the auditor of state, and the auditor be required to countersign said check or draft, keeping a record of the same, charging the treasurer with the amount of said check or draft and crediting the fiscal agency or state depository with the amount. . . I also find that the state has a contract with the state fiscal agency whereby the agency pays the state 2% on the average daily balances of state funds in said agency, which for 1902 would amount to $1027.80. . . I also find from the records of said board that the average amount of money in the state treasury and in the Topeka banks as state depositories for the year 1902 amounted to $768,811. This amount, at 2% on average daily balances would net the state $15,376.22 per annum. . ." 13 Ja 03, p.10-11

d N. J. Murphy. "The last Legislature passed a law requiring the treasurer to demand an interest of 2% on deposits of the state money kept in the various banks of the state. Though the law was passed after a part of the fiscal year had expired, the report of the treasurer shows that the sum of $28,000 has been received by the state from this source, and, of course, a larger sum may be expected this year. . ." 13 Ja 03, p.8

- e N. M. Otero. "As provided by law the territorial funds on hand are deposited in territorial depositories, of which there are nine at this time, and which are entitled under their applications and bonds filed, to have a deposit of $203,000. These banks now have on deposit the full amount of their applications, on which the territory gets interest at the rate of 3% per annum. The present law providing for banks to give bond to the territory for public moneys received by them and setting out the qualifications of the sureties on such bonds, should be changed so as to require all such bonds to be executed by a fidelity or a surety company, authorized to do business in this territory, and I earnestly recommend that you enact a law to this effect, and also providing that all official bonds now required by law be executed in the same manner, and that no personal sureties be received. For many years the territory has been put to a great delay and expense in bringing suits on such bonds, which are invariably contested with great bitterness and very unsatisfactory results, and I believe that the records will show that not 10% of the amounts sued for have been recovered by the territory, while a fidelity or surety company insures the prompt payment of any such forfeited bonds to the great and manifest advantage of the territory." 19 Ja 03, p.5-6
- g W. Va. White. "Another marked source of increase in our revenue is the interest derived from state funds deposited in banks, the amount whereof has doubled in 10 years, and for the last fiscal year reached the sum of $34,379.57. This result has been reached, in part, by holding back the appropriations to the various institutions till they are actually needed, and then only giving the amounts necessary at the time called for. In part, it has been secured by prompt collections of money due the state and getting it into the banks of deposit. A further saving could be effected, if the recommendations of the auditor as to the treasurers of the various state institutions and their methods of keeping accounts, are carried out." 14 Ja 03, p.7-8

"This force, consisting of 12 privates, one sergeant and one captain, has been a most valuable one to the territory ever since its organization, and has most materially aided in the preservation of law and order and in the apprehension of criminals; the only complaint being that the force is too small for the immense area of country in which it is called to operate. . . In the operation of such a force it is inadvisable and unsafe to divide into squads smaller than two men, and it is therefore at once understood that six squads of two men each are hardly capable of covering the whole extent of a territory as large as Arizona. I would suggest that authority be granted the executive to double the number of enlisted men in the force and authorize the purchase of four more good pack animals with equipment. This force has had and will have a good moral effect on lawbreakers."

In nearly all our country towns the law is respected and obeyed. It is in the cities and larger villages that it has been most frequently and persistently violated. This condition of things is apparently due to the fact that in the larger places there has been wanting an active and healthy sentiment in support of the law, and indifference and opposition have made its enforcement more difficult. . . Among some of the most earnest and sincere friends of temperance in the state, there is a strong feeling that the prohibitory amendment should again be submitted to the people, that they may have an opportunity to declare themselves on the question. They believe that such an expression of the popular will would give renewed strength to the law, and lead to more complete and thorough enforcement in those portions of the state where officials have failed to do their duty. . . b N. C. No good reason is apparent why the Legislature should not in all the counties apply the restriction which today exists in more than two thirds of them. . . . I recommend, therefore, that a general law be passed prohibiting the manufacture and sale of liquor throughout the state save in incorporated towns. The manufacture of liquor, even in incorporated towns, should be subject to the same restrictions that now apply to the sale. . . Stringent provisions should be made to prevent the operation of blockade stills. The state should no longer depend on the federal government to suppress this evil business."

Most of you have come here commissioned by your constituents to bring about changes in our statutes which will make them more effective in restraining and regulating the traffic in intoxicants, and thereby lessen, so far as it is possible, the manifold evils of intemperance. . ."

b Vt. McCullough. "The verdict of the freemen of the state on Sep. 2 last was in favor of the General Assembly framing a local option and high license law and submitting the same to the people for their adoption or rejection. . . For 50 years prohibition has been the policy of the state. The mandate comes up now from the people to their legislators commanding them to formulate and to submit to them for their decision some other system. And primarily, on this subject, it must be borne in mind that all sumptuary legislation must be supported by public sentiment to be effectual. In any local option or license system, it is worthy of consideration: whether the vote on license or no license should be taken in any town or municipality oftener than once in three or five years; whether it should not be taken at elections specially called for that purpose and not at any regular election, state or local; whether, if license be voted it would not be wise to require the petition of a majority of the property holders in any block or square of a municipality before issuing a license; whether a majority of the legal voters of any town or subdivision of a city should not be allowed to remonstrate against licensing or continuing the license of a specified person; whether any license should be granted for more than a year; whether the number of licenses where authorized should not be limited to one for every 1000 inhabitants, and prohibited within a limited distance of any church, schoolhouse, theater, opera house, public building, park or other public place; whether all licensees should not be required to give ample bonds, and every applicant for a license furnish evidence of citizenship and good character. As to the licensing body or authorities, it has been well said that judicial purity and reputation for purity are far more important than discreet licensing."

So long as the law is on the statute books, it should be rigidly enforced and penalties imposed on officers failing to report same to the court. If, however, you regard it as impossible to enforce the present law as it now stands, I believe that it would be better that liquor should be sold legally during certain prescribed hours on Sunday than that the saloon should be open surreptitiously all the day, as is the case in many localities in the territory. Many citizens have spoken to me on this subject, and the large majority favor either a more liberal Sunday law, which allows saloons to be open on Sunday at certain hours, or the local option law, so that each ward or precinct could vote on the question, whether there shall be any sale of liquor or not on Sunday. . . It is the custom, in too many instances, for traveling agents to take a list of names, partly or wholly fictitious, and ship in packages of liquor consigned to these names. Then it is the practice for unscrupulous agents of the transportation companies to permit any one who wants liquor to 'claim' one of these packages and pay for it and take it away. If there is any way by which this unlawful sale of liquors can be broken up, it is the duty of the Legislature to find a remedy."

- b Ala. Jelks. "The excuse urged for lynching for crimes which are common in the South is no excuse at all. The man who criminally assaults a woman in this state, if allowed to be tried, will certainly get his just deserts at the hands of the law. . . Other classes of citizens for other crimes escape the just penalty for the violation of the law, but the negro, and for the gravest of all crimes, never escapes. . . There have been quite a number of lynchings since you met here. In the last year and a half, or during my official incumbency of this office, I recall five such crimes. One of these lynchings was for the crime of criminal assault. So easy was it for the mob spirit to get away from the original cause for provoking that spirit that three of the latest of these crimes were for other offenses and two for no offense at all. In one county near the capital city, a lot of self-constituted guardians of the peace and honor of their homes in an attempt to mob a negro who had committed an offense, which, under the law, could not have called for a sentence of more than two years, took his brother, innocent of any offense at all, and hanged him. I am glad to be able to say to you that there was a just judge and a sufficient number of law-abiding citizens to give these men, or some of them, a term in the penitentiary. I believe these are the first like offenders to serve the state since the great war. No man had heretofore gone to the penitentiary for lynching a negro. It is our shame! Now that the law has begun to act, let law-abiding citizens and just judges see to it that other murderers go not unwhipped of justice hereafter. Following this case, a mob in Pike county took a negro away from a constable—I know not with what difficulty—and lynched him. His offense was probably swearing contrary to one of his white neighbors in a justice trial on a proof of character. This was a cold-blooded murder and without excuse at all. . . The murderers go about. None of them will be hanged as they should be. Another case grew out of an assault to murder, and still another in a hunt for a rapist, the murderous mob found the wrong man. The man the outlaws killed in this last case had never seen the rapist's victim or heard of her. Human life is about as cheap in Alabama as it is anywhere. One or two southern states vie with us and may overreach us in the low price we put on it, but we are shamefully near the bad eminence. And sheriffs can prevent this lawlessness in most cases. . . ”

- c Ill. Yates. “A community in Greene county would have been disgraced by a most brutal lynching a year ago had it not been for the steadiness and prompt response to duty of a battalion of the National Guard; and the county of Saline would ere this have been terrorized by an organized band of Whitecaps, or Kuklux, had it not been for the constant vigilance of a company of our state boys in blue on guard in that county, surrounding with their bayonets humble negro citizens. . . ”
- 7 Ja 03, p.15
- d Ind. Durbin. “In the past two years there has been a marked decrease in the violations of law consequent on mobs and masked citizens taking the law into their own hands and visiting vengeance on their victims. The antilynching law of 1901 has been effective in that the sheriff of Sullivan county, after a full and fair hearing before the chief executive, was found not to have performed his duty in properly protecting the life of a prisoner from the assaults of a mob that succeeded in carrying into effect their purpose of lynching. The sheriff was deposed from office, as provided by law, and I believe the effect of this action will have a very salutary influence, not only in this state, but in other states where public attention has been attracted through the enforcement of our very wholesome law." 8 Ja 03, p.36

- e N. C. Aycock. "During the past two years there have been eight lynchings in the state: three for murder, one for attempting to poison, three for rape, and one for assault with intent to rape. . . In newly settled districts, sparsely populated, largely filled with lawless men, committees of vigilance sometimes become a necessity for the preservation of the safety of the citizens; but in a state with an established government, having courts in full operation, there is no justification for resorting to lynch lawlessness, for this is the correct characterization of every lynching. The resort to this practice is neither justified by reason, nor do the results attained by it show its efficacy. The crimes for which this summary punishment is meted out do not decrease. The safety of every citizen is better guaranteed by the orderly execution of the laws of the land. . . If the punishment for the crimes not now punishable by death under the law is inadequate, it is within the competency of the Legislature to make these punishments anything short of death; and I suggest that the punishment for assault with intent to commit rape, and for attempting to poison, be made life imprisonment in the penitentiary, at the discretion of the judge. The punishment for murder and rape is already death. . . Twice since I have been governor of the state have requisitions been delayed by the governors of other states because of the assertion that the prisoners, if returned to this state, would be lynched. One of these delays was in a southern state and one in a northern state. . . I can not too strongly urge on your honorable body the duty of devising some means for the efficient, certain and speedy trial of crimes, and at the same time to make such provision as will protect every citizen, however humble, however vicious, however guilty, against trial by the mob." 7 Ja 03, p. 38-41

- f Tex. Sayers. "The enforcement of law has been vigorous, and in the main successful. It is to be regretted, however, that there have been several instances of mob violence because of the commission of the most heinous of crimes. Wherever, however, lynching has occurred, it was not possible for the state authority to interpose in time. . . It should be observed as against a capias from whatever court, the executive can not, under the law, take action; nor can he remove from the possession of a sheriff or constable a prisoner lawfully in his custody. From this it will be seen that, when the local officials are neglectful or too weak to perform their duty in such circumstances, he is entirely powerless. . . "

- g W. Va. White. “. . . Unfortunately, in both of these lynching cases the race question figured to some extent. But it is evident that, if the good name of the state is to be preserved, some additional powers must be conferred on the governor, and that some punishment should be inflicted on the officers of the law who permit these crimes to take place. In several of our states the governor has the power to remove the sheriff from office, and the heirs of the killed by a mob have the right of recovery of damages from the county in which the crime is committed. It might be well to also give the governor the power to remove a prosecuting attorney who does not do his duty in prosecuting cases of this kind. . . It has been suggested that the judges of the circuit courts be given more power in enforcing the law and in requiring the officers of the law to do their duty. . . I am not prepared to suggest just what form all the remedial legislation on this subject should take; but the governor ought to be authorized to employ detectives and to spend sufficient money to at least make a vigorous effort to bring the guilty to justice. Lynching is a cowardly crime, subversive of social order, productive of no good result, and leads to other crimes by making criminals of those who hitherto have been law-abiding citizens. It was no surprise to those who saw the spirit with which the Brooks lynching was regarded by the good people of Elkins and surrounding country, that a second horrible lynching took place a year later in the same county. There was involved in neither of these lynchings the honor of womanhood, which is so often urged as an excuse for lynching. They were simply cold-blooded lynchings for the sake of lynching. The attention of the Legislature is called to these two cases with the earnest hope that the efforts of the executive to condemn these crimes and bring the guilty to punishment will meet with your approval, and that needed legislation will be passed.” 14 Ja 03, p.30-31

The system of county regulation without re-

The schools and public institutions within the state should be subjected to a closer supervision by health officers, and principles of good sanitation made imperative. I recommend that the law be so amended as to include all food products. . . At least 20 inspectors could be constantly and profitably engaged in the work of inspection. The law should also be changed in some particulars, vesting more power and authority in the board, so that the board could compel a compliance with the provisions of the law. The demands made on the state by the stock interests in the past have certainly not been burdensome, and I cheerfully recommend that steps be taken to place this board on a more substantial and effective basis. . . The whole number of inspectors employed did not at any time exceed the statutory provision. . . The board recommends the amendment of the law which admits cattle intended for immediate slaughter free of charge to our state and markets, and makes them liable for inspection fees, the same as any other cattle. It is claimed this will not increase the work or expense and will nearly double the revenue from that source. It will also eliminate the dangers of the Texas fever contagion in the native division of the Kansas City market, from which source the state has suffered during the past year, as the infection which has been encountered in different counties is directly traceable to the Kansas City yards. . . - f Nev. Sparks. “. . . Our law has vested in the State Board of Health all power and authority for the prevention and control of infectious diseases applicable to human beings and live stock. This board is appointed by the governor, and, of course, the interest of humanity and the health of the people demand first attention. Physicians of repute have always been appointed and have had control, but physicians who are skilled in the treatment of diseases prevalent among men are not likely to be the best veterinarians, and do not have the time to devote to such practice, and, further, under our law, have no power over diseased animals till they get within our borders. The governors of other states have the power conferred on them to quarantine against all states or infected districts; and it is my opinion that it would be to great advantage to the stock interests, if such power was conferred on the governor of this state, and still retain the State Board of Health for the management and control of human diseases. I ask further that an appropriation be made for such purpose, and [the governor] if necessary be empowered to employ a competent veterinary surgeon to examine local epidemics that might break out in different sections of this state. . . .” 23 Ja 03, p.4-5

- i U. Wells. “I am reluctant to recommend the multiplication of offices or the creation of new ones, except to meet the most urgent and apparent necessity. A condition of this kind, however, clearly seems to exist now, in our lack of all provision for an official or board of officials having in hand the enforcement of the laws and the adoption of regulations relating to contagious and infectious diseases of animals. Utah is singularly lax and behindhand in this important matter, and the result is not only that shipments of live stock from this state are the objects of immediate suspicion, which gives our stock interests and the state itself a bad name, but that our shippers are put to great annoyance and pecuniary loss through the delays of inspection, quarantine etc., on reaching or while in transit to their destination. Testimony is before me from prominent woolgrowers as to the alarming prevalence of scab among our flocks, causing the annual loss of thousands of dollars through the decrease and deterioration of the wool clip. . . . The evidence and the suggestions referred to I commend to your early notice, adding the recommendation that there be created without further delay a state board of live stock commissioners, whose secretary shall be a qualified veterinarian and whose compensation shall be such as to justify the bestowal of his entire time on the performance of his duties. . . In this same connection I suggest that the state may receive great benefit if our laws are amended so as to invest the bureau of animal industry of the United States with the right of inspection, quarantine and condemnation of animals, with power to call on sheriffs, constables, peace officers, etc.—in a word, to confer on the officials of this national bureau the same power to enforce the laws of the state as the state inspectors would have. . .”

The Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States, working under the Agricultural Department, has placed many inspectors in this state, who with great thoroughness, examine all flocks before they are loaded in cars for shipment to other states, and they have done their work with such efficiency, that the Board of Sheep Commissioners of Wyoming has asked the department, through its western agent, Mr George S. Hickox, if it was not possible to arrange matters so that all inspections of sheep should be made under the direction of the government inspectors. The board has received a favorable reply—conditioned on our Legislature so amending our inspection laws, as to allow the Bureau of Animal Industry of the United States the right of inspection, quarantine and condemnation of diseased animals, with full power to call on constables and other peace officers in the enforcement of their authority. I would earnestly recommend that this be done, as means will thus be provided by the United States, without cost to the state, for the suppression and extirpation of pleuropneumonia, scab and other contagious diseases among domestic animals in Wyoming.”

I am heartily in favor of all proper and adequate laws which will conserve the waters of the state and safeguard its forests, and I believe in the allowance of sufficient state appropriations to carry into effect practical state projects and plans; but such appropriations should neither be continuous nor excessive, so as to become burdensome to the citizens, nor should the state attempt to trench on the domain of the federal government nor undertake projects and plans which the nation is willing to execute and the expenses of which it is willing to assume." 5 Ja 03, p.9, 20

As a state, we must be prepared to cooperate with it [the national government] by such an adjustment of legislation as will invite aid and remove, as far as possible, every cause of friction or delay. . . The fundamental principle on which the district irrigation law of this state is founded is that the people who till the soil should own and operate the irrigation systems which supply the water. While the litigation is a direct attack on the Colorado use of the waters of the Arkansas river, it is at the same time, and in almost as direct a manner, an attack on our whole system of irrigation. It is the contention of the state of Kansas that Colorado ditches have diminished the flow of the Arkansas river, and that they can not legally withdraw the waters of a Colorado river for irrigation if that diminishes the flow of the stream over Kansas lands; and that, too, regardless of any question as to whether the Kansas lands require irrigation. - a W. Va. White. “I recommend that the Legislature pass an act embodying the following provisions: 1 Railroads and other common carriers should transport all products offered. . . . 2 Railroads should promptly and on reasonable terms establish connections with all branch or connecting lines, and put in switches on application. . . A railroad should not hinder . . . grade crossings or overhead crossings by another railroad. . . 3 There should be no discrimination, directly or indirectly, on the part of any railroad company in favor of or against any shipper, or against any branch or connecting line or shippers thereon. . . 4 The ownership or interest of railroad corporations in coal mines should be prohibited, because it results in placing a limit on production in favor of the railroad combination so owning or so interested. . . 5 Railroads should be confined solely and exclusively to the purposes for which they were incorporated and not be engaged in owning lands, mining or manufacturing of any kind, either directly or indirectly. 6 No railroad should build a parallel or competing line or lines on both sides of any stream or river in the state; nor build on both sides of any stream or river so as to obstruct or hinder the building of another railroad. No railroad company should prevent or try to prevent another railroad company from building a railroad in any place or part of the state. 7 Small mine owners of West Virginia and the so called independent operators are gradually but surely being forced to the wall and out of business, because they can not get switches put in, and those having switches can not get cars. . . It is a fact that in many cases railroad companies refuse to make connections with another railroad company or put in switches, and their officers openly declare they do so for the reason that there is already too much coal mined. These abuses and discriminations should be corrected and prohibited. 8 No firm, individual or corporation shall own, directly or indirectly, or be interested in parallel or competing lines of railroad in the state of West Virginia. . . 9 The obtaining of a charter for a railroad company is now too easy. Before a charter is granted there should be required to be subscribed an adequate amount to the capital stock, and a larger portion than now required of the subscribed capital stock should be paid up in cash. A railroad company after receiving its charter should be required to begin work in good faith and to continue the work till its railroad is completed. . . Laws, however, do not enforce themselves. . . There must be proper and adequate machinery, and the history of railroad legislation shows this to be a commission or court of experts. The commission may consist of one man or of three men. I earnestly urge the creation of a railroad commission. . . ”

b U. Wells. “. . . § 15 of art. 12 provides that the Legislature shall pass laws establishing maximum rates of transportation, for the correction of abuses and the prevention of discrimination, etc., and shall enforce these laws by adequate penalties. This matter has been called to the attention of your predecessors, and is now repeated, in the belief that, while your duty in the premises is plain and should not longer be neglected, it should, nevertheless, be approached in that spirit of conservatism and exact justice which has been characteristic of all our railroad legislation of the past."

- c Wis. La Follette. "... Since the railway companies threaten the use of their unlimited power in imposing rates to coerce the state into exempting their property from its share of taxation, they have, by this very act, aroused public concern with respect to the rates of transportation which Wisconsin shippers have been and are now paying. . . As a means of insuring reasonable transportation charges, laws have been enacted in different states providing for a commission with powers to regulate rates, subject to revision by the courts. Such laws have been enacted in the adjoining states of Illinois and Iowa, the commissions in each of those states being empowered by the Legislature to fix maximum transportation charges above which the railroad companies are not permitted to go without first assuming the burden of establishing in court that the rate is so low as not to yield the railroad company a reasonable margin of profit. In Wisconsin the railroad companies fix freight charges without any control, regulation, or limitation in any manner by the state. The opportunity is therefore presented to apply the tests of comparison to the two systems of railway traffic, namely, the system where rates are fixed by railroads without state control, and the system where the state has assumed and exercises authority in regulating such rates. I am able to present to you comparison between the transportation rates in Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois. The figures for Illinois are not as complete as for Iowa, but in so far as obtained are reliable and indicate discrimination against Wisconsin similar in character to that found by comparison with Iowa rates. This investigation covers so wide a field, extends to so large a variety of shipments as to be conclusive of the whole question. . . "

- a Wash. McBride. "... The practice of giving free passes has been highly detrimental to the public service. Not a single valid argument can be adduced in its favor. Free passes in the hands of an unscrupulous lobby have been a potent instrument in seducing public officials from their allegiance to the people, and in throttling legislation not satisfactory to the railroads. The mandate of the Constitution—the pledges of both political parties—the personal honor and integrity of members of the Legislature, all unite in urging the passage of a stringent antipass bill." 13 Ja 03, p.25-26

Of the 152 cases that have been tried and settled, 106 have been favorable to the complainants and 46 to the respondents. No appeals have been taken from the findings and judgments of this board. . . The Kansas City-Leavenworth Railway Company, an interurban railroad operating by electricity in and between the cities of Leavenworth and Kansas City Kan., carries both freight and passengers, and crosses at grade the tracks of other railroads operated by steam. This road, and all other interurban roads doing business as common carriers and operated by electricity, in my judgment, should be placed under the jurisdiction of this board. The relations between the railroads and telegraph companies are so intimate and close that in some cases jurisdiction over the telegraph companies is necessary in order to get a full and satisfactory adjudication of the issues, and for this reason the board feels that the telegraph companies of the state should be placed under its jurisdiction, and

- this recommendation of the board, in my judgment, is worthy of your careful consideration. . . " 13 Ja 03, p.5-6
- c Minn. Van Sant. "The railway department for years has been hampered in its work from the fact that practically no two railway companies have the same system of bookkeeping, nor have the same basis for reporting the gross earnings for the purpose of taxation. This matter has been taken up by the present commission, and a uniform system has been adopted and accepted by the various railway companies. . . Rates on live stock have been reduced over a large territory. All roads charging over 3c have been required to reduce passenger rates to a maximum rate of 3c per mile. I would suggest for the consideration of your honorable body the extending of the state law so as to prohibit the railway companies from raising the rates on any commodities or merchandise or to so change its classification as to have that effect, between stations in this state, without first obtaining the consent of the commission." 7 Ja 03, p.12
- d Mon. Toole. "I recommend the passage of a law creating a state railroad commission. . . To tolerate in this state any power above the law, or submit to the exercise of privileges, granted by us to corporations, in such manner as to be oppressive or unjust to the people would be to surrender our sovereignty and write ourselves down as amiable idiots, unfit for local self-government." 5 Ja 03, p.49-50
- di Tex, Sayers. "Prior to the organization of the commission in 1891, the provisions of the Constitution and law relating to railway corporations had been ignored, and the wisdom and practicability of their enforcement was gravely doubted by many intelligent and well meaning persons. The management of the railways was then oftentimes conducted regardless of the rights of individuals and of communities; and so great and so many had the abuses become that a commission, vested with all the authority of supervision and regulation which the Legislature could confer, became a necessity, and with it a limitation on the companies as to the issuance of stock and bonds. Accordingly, laws were enacted on these lines, and in the results from an operation of 11 years their practical utility is clearly and forcibly demonstrated; so that, today, there are but few, if any, well informed people, who would have them repealed and the conditions prior to 1891 restored. Nor would the companies themselves, however violent their antagonism may first have been; for rate wars in the state have ceased, and these holdings have become permanent investments, and do not now possess the speculative characteristics of former years. . . In 1891 the number of miles of railway was 8654, with outstanding stock and bonds amounting to $38,765 per mile; on Dec. 1, 1902, the number of miles, exclusive of yard tracks and sidings, was 10,884, with an aggregate in stock and bonds of $33,360 per mile—being a decrease per mile of $5405. This is the direct result of one of these laws as enforced by the commission, the benefit of which comes through reduced freight charges. To better understand and appreciate the value of the stock and bond law, it should be noted that it went into effect on Aug. 8, 1893, and that the percentage of increase in the total amount of stock and bonds per mile was 4.67% for the year previous; whereas, on the other hand, there have been decreases annually since it became operative, aggregating 13.94% to Dec. 1, 1902. Again, the average rate per ton per mile received on freight transported by railways in the state was, during the year ending June 30, 1891, 14.03 mills, but for the year ending June 30, 1902, it was 9.58 mills—a decrease of 4.45 mills per ton per mile. . . It is well to note that the commission has been very materially strengthened by the act of May 16, 1899, in regard to rebates and discriminations, which will, if rigidly and impartially enforced, do much toward the correction of these evils. The policy of the present administration in reference to railways has been to require the construction of additional mileage whenever a privilege has been granted, and wherever practicable, to force them into each other's territory, thereby creating a competition that will be beneficial to the public. . . ”

- e Wash. McBride. “The most important matter to come before you, at this session, is the question of establishing a railway commission. . . But the time for discussing the question seems to me to be past. . . With the depositing of the last ballot on the 4th of November, the discussion was closed. . . On the one hand we have the solemn pledges of the two great political parties; on the other, an unscrupulous and corrupt lobby—a lobby that has become a stench in the nostrils of the people of the state. . . This lobby insolently boasts that a majority of the members of this Legislature are its creatures, ready to do its bidding. I repel this infamous charge. I do not believe it to be true, nor will I believe it, unless forced to do so by the record of the vote taken on the final passage of the measures to which both the political parties of this state are committed. . . ”

- f R. I. Garvin. ". . . I find that the banks of Rhode Island, including the national banks, with capital and surplus of $32,714,704.45, hold deposits of $151,256,736.71, or about 119 millions more than their capital. Of this 151 millions of deposits, 19 millions are protected by the United States government, the other 132 millions should be as well protected by the state of Rhode Island.

I also find that the savings banks' deposits show a falling off, while the trust companies' deposits show an increase of $12,500,000, of which eight and a half millions was in savings or participation departments. This distinctly shows the tendency of such companies to usurp the place of savings banks and absorb the savings and capital of the people. As these large and growing state institutions, having special powers and advantages under their charters, are becoming a very large financial factor, it would seem that the depositors in them ought to be amply protected by the state. The following practical safeguards are suggested as having proved very efficient, if coupled with some proviso as to making loans on real estate: 1 That a state examiner should be appointed, to be paid by the banks a regular fee, and who should make a thorough examination of every bank, trust company and savings bank incorporated by the state at least once in every six months, at 48 hours notice, and at such other times as the governor of the state shall direct, making full reports of same to the governor within two days after each examination. 2 That every state bank or trust company shall keep on hand a reserve of 15% of their deposits and participation accounts. 3 That the amounts placed in trust companies as savings bank or participation accounts shall be subject to the same restriction as to investment and payment of taxes as deposits in savings banks. 4 That every state bank or trust company shall be prohibited from loaning more than 10% of the amount of its capital stock to any one individual, corporation or combination of corporations, provided this does not apply to bills of exchange drawn against actual values, or to loans where United States, state or municipal bonds are actually held as collateral. 5 That all trust companies have the double liability inserted in their charters to make the stockholders liability the same as that of the Manufacturers Trust Co.'s shareholders, who are thus held liable by their charter. Without legislative action, when the next depression in business comes, as come it will, if experience be any guide, then a run may be made on the banks of deposit, suspension of payments will ensue, causing great loss and suffering to a multitude of innocent people. These people it is the manifest duty of the state to protect." 20 F 03, special message

- d Mass. Bates. "The tendency of the times toward the control, through easily acquired corporate franchises, of vast accumulations of capital for promoting and financing all kinds of enterprises, suggests the expediency of investigating the question of the need of legislation the more fully to protect the policy holders of such legal reserve life insurance companies authorized to transact business in Massachusetts as are conducted on the stock plan. A study of the situation, together with a knowledge of what was recently contemplated by a certain company of this class, makes it evident that, if some mercenary corporation or syndicate should secure a majority of the stock of the life insurance companies which are controlled by a stock vote, such combination would be in a position to manage these great accumulations of assets in a way to conserve the interests of the manipulators rather than the security of the policy holders for whom and from whom they were collected. . . These funds to the credit of stock companies alone now transacting business in this commonwealth amount to upward of six hundred millions of dollars, and the temptation and opportunity to control them by any corporate combination or otherwise should be removed by appropriate legislation." 8 Ja 03, p.38-39

- a Or. Chamberlain. "During the past 18 months, great complaint has been made about abuses which exist at the ports of Portland and Astoria, occasioned by interference on the part of sailor boarding house keepers, runners or crimps, with seamen of vessels arriving from foreign ports and carrying the flags of foreign powers. The legislative assembly of this state passed an act at its session in 1880 denouncing penalties against persons . . . demanding or receiving from any owner, master or agent of a seagoing vessel any remuneration other than the fee of $10 per man, for supplying any seaman to be entered on board any such seagoing vessel. . . These penalties are not severe enough to prevent the abuses complained of, but this is not the most serious difficulty. I recommend . . . that the laws of this state be amended . . . in these particulars: first, create a severer penalty by way of both fine and imprisonment; second, invest the municipalities of Portland and Astoria with the broadest authority to enact ordinances on the subject, operative within their corporate limits, not inconsistent with the general purpose and scope of the laws of the state, cutting off the right of appeal in cases arising under such ordinances, thus avoiding delays of which I have spoken."

by the various counties for bounties on destruction of jack rabbits, prairie dogs, muskrats, English sparrows and other destructive birds and eggs. In South Dakota the law limits the amount of bounties to be paid in any one year to $5000. . . In Idaho and Washington the levy for bounties is made by the county commissioners for the several counties, and laid on the live stock interests of the respective counties. . . I . . . recommend that the law be so amended as to reduce the bounties to, or approximately near, those of adjoining states, and that the county commissioners of the several counties be authorized and directed to levy a special tax for the payment of the same in their respective counties, on the stock interests, in proportion to the live stock interests therein, taking as a basis therefor, for the first year, the number killed in such county for the preceding year, as shown by the record of the State Board of Examiners, and that the several boards of county commissioners and the county treasurers be charged with the administration of the law. . . This law was a step in the right direction, but the results obtained from its operation were not so satisfactory as hoped for, one reason, however, being that no appropriation was made for the payment of the inspectors to be employed. Two timber inspectors were employed, who worked under the State Board of Land Commissioners. During 1902 43 square miles of forests were destroyed. One reason for so many destructive fires was on account of the dryness of the season. This law should be amended, providing strict penalties for a violation thereof, and also an appropriation should be made providing for the payment of those employed in the work."

For eight years a system for the prevention of forest fires has been in operation with most excellent results. During this period, while disastrous forest fires have occurred in other states, Minnesota has wholly escaped. The establishment of a forest reserve of 200,000 acres on the Chippewa reservation is to be commended, and so should any measure which has for its object the creation of other parks and reserves. . . I investigated many of these reports, and am satisfied there was much exaggeration in them, and in some cases they were entirely without foundation in fact. But, desiring to have the law obeyed in letter and in spirit, I had a number of interviews with the factory inspector, and urged on him the importance of prompt and vigorous action in every case of infringement of the law. The inspector and his assistants are responsible to the Legislature only. If the power of removal was lodged with the governor, a more vigorous enforcement of the law could be expected at once. . . The present legal age for the employment of girls is 14, and of boys, 12 years. I recommend that the legal age for the employment of boys be increased to 14. That is quite young enough, and is the age prescribed by Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York and eight other states, 11 in all. . . "

c N. Y. Odell. "The laws relative to the employment of children are in such an unsatisfactory condition that their enforcement is almost impossible. . . "

7 Ja 03, p.34

- d N. C. Aycock. “. . . The time appears to be ripe in this state for some legislation in behalf of the children who are working in textile and furniture factories. Most of the states of the Union and many foreign countries have long since passed laws prohibiting the working of children under certain ages in factories of the character named. . . I, therefore, earnestly recommend to your honorable body the passage of a law absolutely prohibiting the employment in such factories of any child under the age of 12 years. This law ought also to provide that no child under the age of 14 shall work in any such factory at night, and after 1905 no child who can not read and write should be permitted to work in any such factory under the age of 14 years. I do not think that any exception should be made in the law passed. I am aware that many people insist that there are dependent widows and invalid fathers who need the labor of children under the suggested age limit, but the community owes something to such widows and invalid fathers, and it ought not to suffer any child under 12 years of age to be required to support its parents. . . ” 7 Ja 03, p.24-25
- e Or. Chamberlain. “. . . A law ought to be passed regulating the employment of children and minors in factories and workshops. Such legislation would not be seriously opposed at this time, because as yet, be it said to the credit of the state, child employment is measurably limited. But, judging by the experience of other states, as manufacturing establishments increase in numbers and in operatives, and competition becomes active, the employment of children will increase in proportion and become engrafted in our social and industrial system. . . ” 14 Ja 03, p.32
- f Pa. Stone. “. . . An active enforcement of the law prohibiting child labor has been productive of much good. It would seem, however, that inasmuch as children who are too young to be employed in factories and mercantile establishments secure employment in coal breakers and in stone and slate quarries, some additional legislation should be passed for their protection. I heartily concur in the opinion of the factory inspector that it is inconsistent to prohibit a child of 12 years of age from working in a factory or mercantile establishment and allow him to secure employment in more dangerous and undesirable places.” 6 Ja 03, p.8
- g S. C. Heyward. Employment of children in textile manufactories. “. . . In my judgment, the General Assembly should pass a law prohibiting their employment, but in doing so time should be given for both manufacturers and operatives to adjust themselves to changed conditions. It is not necessary for me to indicate to you in this message the details of such a law; it is not necessary for me to tell you that it is unjust that an employee of a railroad company in this state who is killed or injured shall be governed by a different law to a passenger on a railroad train whom they are carrying for hire; and I earnestly request and plead with you to pass such a law as that the brakeman, the engineer, or fireman on a train, who is killed by the negligence or carelessness of a coemployee, may be enforced in the courts of the country just as effectually as an injury happening to any other citizen of your state. . . "
- b Or. Chamberlain. " . . . The strict application of the fellow servant law as it has been adopted by the courts of this and other states, virtually defeats recovery by a railway employee, or his personal representative, against the employer in case of death or injuries received in performance of duty, no matter how deserving or meritorious, for the defense is invariably interposed that the injury or death was due to the negligence of a fellow servant, and nearly always successfully. . . Legislation on this subject was defeated at the last session, but it seems to me that the demands of the thousands of men engaged in railroad employment here are entitled to be heard as they have been heard, and favorably acted on, in other states not more progressive than Oregon. . . offered substantial remedy for injuries to persons engaged in this service and reasonable provision for their dependents when death resulted from the negligence of a fellow servant. "It is true that arbitration can not be made compulsory, but measures may be framed whereby the parties to a controversy may be induced to submit their differences to an impartial council or board, which, when so stipulated, may be made binding. I am aware that a statute is now in effect entitled 'an act to provide for a state board of arbitration for the settlement of differences between employers and employees, to define the duties of said board, and to appropriate the sum of $2500 therefor,' approved Mar. 10, 1891, but this statute has proved to be inadequate for the purposes intended, and excepting the expenditure of a portion of the small appropriation by the first and only appointees under the statute, it has been for years an unused law. In the event of the enactment of a new measure, I recommend that the governor and labor commissioner be made members of such council of arbitration." 5 Ja 03, p.58
- b Col. Orman. "The work of this board [of arbitration] during the past biennial period, while zealously carried on, has not been so satisfactory as is contemplated by the provisions of the law creating the board, but the fault has not been with the board itself, but is rather a defect in the law. In the report of the board will be found an opinion written by the attorney general, relative to the jurisdiction and power of the board to issue subpoenas and administer oaths, in which it is held that they have no power to compel the attendance of witnesses before it in an investigation for the purpose of giving testimony concerning difficulties arising between employer and employees, thus destroying in large measure the effectiveness of the work to be performed by the board. . . ." 10 Ja 03, p.53

- c Col. Peabody. "The 11th General Assembly created a state board of arbitration, provided the manner in which its members should be appointed, the duties of the board, its powers, and the compensation of its members. The annual reports of this board, submitted to the governor, as required by the law, show that during the six years of its existence it has investigated nine strikes, in six of which settlements have been arrived at, presumably due to the good offices of the board. The Board of Arbitration, in its last annual report to my predecessor, concedes its inefficiency to accomplish results of a definite nature, attributing its weakness in this respect to defects in the existing law, and suggests certain amendments to the law, which, it is claimed, will invest the board with the authority desired and necessary to make it efficient. A careful examination of the proposed amendments to the law, and the opinion of the attorney general of the state, quoted in full in the report, leads me to the conclusion that, under our Constitution, no legislation can be enacted which will materially change the present status and authority of this board. Conceding the force of every argument which can be advanced in favor of the arbitration of differences which may arise between employer and employee, and which has my hearty support and approval, yet it seems to me that the expense to the state on account of this board is out of all proportion to the results accomplished, and for that reason I would advise that the act creating this board be repealed, and its duties and powers, by appropriate legislation, be conferred on the labor commissioner." 13 Ja 03, p.98-99

During the past two years this commission has made satisfactory adjustment of 42 labor controversies, involving 202 firms and 10,000 employees, not including nearly a score of boycotts lifted during that period. . . The Indiana plan, which provides that men disposed to strike shall continue at work, pending arbitration through the medium of accredited representatives, is most highly commendable because it insures to the families of workmen maintenance that would be denied them under a condition of general suspension of labor during the period of efforts at settlement, as recently witnessed in Pennsylvania." 8 Ja 03, p.9-10
- f Mo. Dockery. ". . . I feel constrained to specially commend to your favorable notice the achievements of the State Board of Mediation and Arbitration. - g N. Y. Odell. “. . . Arbitration between conflicting interests has been resorted to whenever possible by the labor department of our state, and so successful have been these efforts that we have had but little disturbance during the past year between these great interests. I believe that wherever the necessities of life are involved in dispute between employer and employee, that power should be conferred on those affected to apply to the courts for relief, and that no power should be possessed by either capital or labor to deprive the people of that which is necessary for their welfare, but that ample authority should be lodged in the judiciary to properly enforce its mandates, and that such disputes whenever they arise, should not be permitted to interfere with those rights which are paramount and necessary for the well-being of the people. . . The strike on the Hudson Valley Electric Railroad, necessitating the ordering into service of the National Guard, developed a condition, through the expulsion of a member of the guard from a labor union, which is prejudicial to the best interests of the state.”

- i Pa. Stone. “. . . In my judgment a compulsory arbitration law could and should be passed for the settlement of difficulties between employer and employee. As to the deaf, dumb and blind the number provided for is limited by the legislative appropriation, which, up to this time, has been inadequate to meet the demands of all applications. It is unnecessary to argue at length on the injustice of granting the aid of the state to 14 imbecile children to the exclusion of others who have an equal claim to such aid and to an equal opportunity for mental improvement. The same observation can be made as to the deaf, dumb and blind. . . Owing to our limited population it would be inadvisable to erect institutions and supply them with skilled instructors, (an evidently greater expense to the state than the practice now adopted) but the Legislature should make appropriations sufficiently large to provide for all of these unfortunates, and not for those only who make prior applications. . . c N. Y. Odell. "The only change that has been made in regard to the charitable institutions . . . was in the direction of conferring authority on some one whose sole duty it would be to supervise their financial administration and who should have power to suggest and perfect some system similar to that which has so greatly reduced expenditures in the Department of Lunacy, and to take advantage of existing conditions for the employment of the inmates. There is no reason why the farms connected with some of these institutions should not aid in supplying food and other necessary articles which are required for use in other state asylums. . . "

d Tex. Sayers. ". . . During the past four years several of the superintendents have, at their own expense, visited similar institutions in the United States with much advantage to the service. An appropriation of $3000 for this purpose, to be under the control of the governor, would unquestionably be of great practical value; accordingly, it is recommended. The expectation may now be reasonably entertained that henceforth the management of these institutions will not be subjected to change with every administration, and that removals will not be made or reappointments refused, except only for the improvement of the institutions themselves. Such policy, however, should be accompanied by the requirement that their officials and employees, in whatever capacity, shall abstain, under penalty of dismissal, from participation in the contests that occur for official and political preferment. Unless this rule be adopted and its observance inflexibly enforced, the administration of these great charities can never reach the high degree of excellence that is so greatly to be desired. It may be well to add that the tenure of the membership of the boards, not only for these, but for the educational institutions also, should be lengthened to six years, and so arranged that one third of it may expire biennially. The benefit that would certainly follow from such a change is so obvious as not to require explanation."

I am informed that one county in this state has a grandmother, her daughter and three grandchildren, all illegitimate. . . The State School for the Blind, at Janesville, is a school for children. . . This case and that of many others suggests the wisdom of establishing workshops entirely separate from the School for the Blind, to be located in the metropolis of the state, where blind adults may be educated to work, and may secure employment at all times. Such an institution has been successfully maintained in Massachusetts for very many years. Private charity has given assistance; but I believe the reports will show that through the opportunities thus afforded, blind adults in that state have always been able to find employment, a comfortable home and necessary educational facilities, almost without expense to the state. . . General

- a N. Y. Odell. "Important changes were made at the last session of the Legislature in the law relative to the institutions for the insane, which were, first, the substitution of boards of visitors for the old boards of managers; second, the centralization of all powers in the Commission of Lunacy, the details of management as heretofore being left with the superintendent. . . The wisdom of these changes has been shown by the results produced. A more liberal allowance in measuring accommodations has been adopted than heretofore; an extension of the system of joint purchases has been followed with resultant economy. . . The monthly reports of the boards of visitation which the law provides for have brought to the attention of the Commission in Lunacy and the governor at once the necessity for repairs or for the correction of conditions which need immediate remedy. . . The new law has also had the effect of separating the medical from the business administration of the institutions. . . But above all, the entire responsibility for the administration of these institutions has been absolutely fixed in the State Commission in Lunacy. . . "
- c N. C. Aycock. "The insane may be, for economic consideration, divided into these classes: first, the recent and supposed curable; second, the chronic and dangerous; third, epileptic; fourth, the chronic and apparently harmless; fifth, the chronic and helpless. As a matter of economy the recent and supposed curable should at once have treatment by skilled specialists and the best care possible given to restore them to usefulness and productiveness. . . The second class must be cared for

for the protection of society. The third class has consistently been refused admission into the state hospitals for a number of years past, though all insane epileptics may be dangerous, and from their progeny come many who eventually become wards of the state. The separate provision for these, as is done in many states, may properly be considered. The care of the fourth class is the problem which is prominently before the state. . . In leaving to the counties or families as we are now doing to a considerable extent the support and restraint of these unfortunates, we draw on the wealth of the state for their support as certainly as if the state directly cared for them. . . Common humanity demands that the chronic and helpless should have the best of our care, but it is this class who may best be cared for by the counties if any are to be sent there. The state has assumed the care of the first and second classes, but not fully. . . " 7 Ja 03, p.31-32

Probably the greatest present necessity is more buildings to accommodate the insane persons now scattered over the state, there being 300 over and above the number now cared for in the asylums, which should receive the care of the state. These are now kept in jails, almshouses and county hospitals, where they do not receive the proper treatment, and, when at last they are admitted into the asylum, their cases have become incurable. In my opinion, the best way of relieving the overcrowded condition of the asylum would be the construction of an entirely new plant, to be located on a farm of some size, removed from the noise of a city or of railroads, so that the occupants could have that peace and quiet so essential for patients of this character, and where they could have plenty of freedom for outdoor exercise. This institution should be known as the State Hospital, at which curable insane patients could be cared for, utilizing the present institution for the incurable insane. . . ." 10 Ja 03, p.29-30

Some insane females, in consequence, are now confined in parish jails awaiting accommodations at the asylum. . . It is the imperative duty of the state to make adequate provision for the care of these unfortunates, and, as the most efficacious way of doing this, I recommend the establishment of a new asylum in some other locality, for the use, exclusively, of colored insane. By this means, the buildings that would be vacated by the colored patients at the present asylum could be used for white patients. . . ." 12 My 02, p.34-35
- e Mass. Bates. "The most urgent need of the state institutions for the insane is relief from overcrowding. . . While this would not to any great extent decrease the cost, it might have a tendency to the exercise of greater caution in making commitments. Other states have similar laws; and I am informed that good results follow. Many times mildly insane patients, who could and should be cared for at home by friends and relatives, are sent to our hospitals. Under the policy of paying the whole of the expense for the care of the insane, regardless of their financial condition, great abuses have arisen, for often weak-minded persons or those who are old and feeble, being somewhat demented, are permitted to become inmates of these institutions, whereas they should have been cared for by those who are in duty bound to support them, and not have been sent to our hospitals' . . . In my judgment the state should make provision for the care of epileptics apart from the insane because of the injurious effect on both the insane and the epileptic by the contact of each class with the other. For the same reason better results can be obtained if the home at Lapeer be used for the care of the feeble-minded only. "The superintendent of public instruction points out in his report many conflicts and inconsistencies in the present school laws which may be remedied by simple amendment of existing statutes. These relate to the gathering of school statistics, fixing the scholastic year, enlarging the powers of county superintendents, the time and method of electing district directors, the collection of the poll tax, method of enforcing longer school terms in the rural districts, etc., all of which I cordially commend to your prudent consideration. . . Under the law our textbook contract expires in June 1903. The superintendent of public instruction urges the importance of providing some system of free textbooks, at least free to these children of the rural districts, and presents a strong argument in support of his position. It is further pointed out that provision should be made for the publication and distribu-

- e Tenn. Frazier. ". . . While as a state we have made commendable progress, under many and trying difficulties, toward the education of all the people, unfortunately the recent census reports show a degree of illiteracy in Tennessee which should not be allowed to exist in a state whose people have always displayed the highest patriotism and whose natural wealth is unsurpassed by that of any other state in the Union. . . In Tennessee our public school system is a mixed one—partly state, partly county, and partly district—that is, the state exercises a general supervision over the public schools and contributes annually to their support the interest on the so called 'school fund,' paid out of the general revenues of the state. It also levies a poll tax and a property tax of 15c on the $100 for their support; but both the poll tax and the property tax, while levied by the state, do not pass through the state treasury, but are expended in the counties where collected. Each county exercises supervision over its own schools through its county superintendent, and through its County Court is empowered to levy a tax, not to exceed the state tax, for their support. Each school district, through three directors elected by the people, exercises supervision and control over its schools, but has no power to levy taxes or raise money to supplement the state and county funds. . . All of the cities and 15 towns, including most of the larger ones, have now abandoned the district system. It would seem that the time has come to consider seriously the establishment of the town system throughout the entire state by a general law. Georgia was the first in the Union, and probably the first in the world, to incorporate in its organic law a provision for public schools, for in 1777, in its first Constitution, it declared that 'schools shall be erected in each county and supported at the general expense of the state.' . . . It often happens that while a county is unable to supplement the school fund by taxation, those living in a particular militia district are willing to add to the state fund so as to lengthen the school term, and they should be permitted to do so. . . Ordinarily, the unit in our state government is the county, and the general law now of force only contemplates city or county taxation, but authority ought to be given to a militia district or a school district to collect a local tax for school and schoolhouse purposes, wherever the taxpayers so desire, and I therefore, recommend legislation—including a constitutional amendment, if that be necessary—providing that on the request of two thirds of the taxpayers in any militia district or school district, a reasonable tax may be imposed on the property therein, the proceeds of which shall be applied by the school trustees to educational purposes, or to the purchase of land and the erection of school buildings in that particular district." 8 N 02, p.6-8

this would meet the pressing needs of our country schools. But, after a careful study of the subject, I am of the opinion that there are insurmountable constitutional objections to the vesting of this power in the school districts. . . We are then limited to the state and county as the units to which we must look for all the revenues available for maintaining and supporting our public schools. Of these, the county contributes very much the greater portion of the school fund. I think the state unit should be strengthened by enlarging the amount of its contribution. . . By doing so it would in the distribution, according to scholastic population, of the funds thus raised, give a greater proportion to the country schools and weaker communities, which are least able to help themselves and where it is most needed. . . I further recommend that the counties be empowered to raise their rate of taxation for school purposes to some reasonable figure above that levied by the state, and that they be directed to raise by taxation a sum which, added to that raised by the state, shall be sufficient to maintain the public schools for not less than six months in the year. . . f W. Va. White. "The total cost of education, including building fund, expended on our public schools, has grown from $1,914,733.36 in 1899 to $2,197,133.45 in 1902. . . Based on the enumeration of school youth, the cost of education averaged $6.69, while based on daily average attendance the cost was $14.18. It is interesting to note that Maryland spent $21.95, Ohio $21.63, and Pennsylvania $25.12 per pupil enrolled in their public schools. The average pay of the public school teacher in Maryland last year was $416.02, in Ohio $375.38, in Pennsylvania $367.27, in Kentucky $233.45, while in West Virginia it was only $189.03. I believe that so long as the state can lease its lands to an advantage, it is much better than to sell it and be compelled to derive the revenue from other sources; that is, by investing the purchase money so received in bonds and warrants . . . A change should be made extending the rental period, with five or ten year periods of reappraisalment. . . This board has discouraged the sale of lands to a large extent, and I believe this policy should be continued. When sales are made, they should be confined to small tracts, not exceeding 160 acres, and then only when it has been conclusively demonstrated that such sale will materially enhance the value of the surrounding state land, such as the establishment of manufacturing plants, for the construction of reservoirs, or something that will make a demand for the other land at a higher rate of rental than can now be secured. . . The ad valorem taxation of railroads and other former specific tax properties, if sustained, has increased the income of the primary school interest fund by over $2,800,000 each two years. . . If this increase of $2,800,000 should be turned into the general fund it would render unnecessary the levying of a tax for the payment of the current expenses of the prisons, the asylums and the general purposes of the state, which for the last two years aggregated $2,492,000. In order to afford this relief to the general taxpayer, it will be necessary to submit an amendment of the Constitution to the people and this should be done at the coming spring election. . . "

- h Tex. Sayers. "It must be evident from the data given that if the public free schools are to be improved to great efficiency and so maintained, the way must be found to largely increase the present amount of annual revenue. . . It is believed that only two methods are practicable under present constitutional limitations—the one, to increase the ad valorem rate by 2c on the $100, and, also, to draw on funds arising from sources permissible by the Constitution; the other, to supplement the present revenue by local taxation. . . Of the entire revenue for public free school purposes, during the years 1899-1900, in Texas, 25.1% was derived from permanent funds, 49.9% from state taxes, 22% from local taxes, and 3% from other sources." 16 Ja 03, p.16
- i W. Va. White. "It is very desirable that the state should do more for our primary common schools than it is now doing. In a number of districts, though the maximum local taxation is had, and they have their share of the distributable school fund, the terms of the school year are less by one to two months than the minimum of five months prescribed by law. . . ." 14 Ja 03, p.16
- j Wis. La Follette. "In 1885, the law which now stands as section 1072a, statutes of 1898, was enacted. By the terms of this statute a state tax of 1 mill for each dollar of the assessed valuation of the taxable property in the state, as determined by the board of assessment, constitutes, when so levied and collected, a fund for the benefit of the common schools. . . This law, which has been in force for nearly 20 years, has annually produced for the benefit of the common schools a state tax of about $600,000. The State Board of Assessment, following the commands of the statute, fixed the value of the taxable property of the state at its full value, increasing it from $630,000,000 in 1900 to $1,436,284,000 in 1901, and to $1,504,346,000 in 1902, increasing the state mill tax from $630,000 in 1900 to $1,436,284 in 1901, and to $1,504,346 in 1902. This is an average increase for the last two years amounting to $840,315. Under this law the older and richer counties of the state contributed to those counties with a relatively larger number of children of school age and taxable property of less value. This is in a measure justified because of the general interest which all citizens have in maintaining a well developed and well balanced school system throughout the state. I am advised, however, by the Tax Commission that the amount raised under the mill tax levy, together with the corresponding tax levied by the county board on the towns, produced such a sum of money in the aggregate when apportioned to the different school districts as to render it quite unnecessary to levy any school district tax in order to maintain the school. Indeed, in some instances, the district school was maintained without the levy of any local tax and a surplus left over in the district treasury. . . . I recommend that Senate bill 220, limiting the amount which can be collected under the mill tax law to $650,000 be enacted into law." 15 Ja 03, p.13-14

2241 Investment of funds

a Neb. Savage. " . . . The amount of securities held for the permanent school fund now aggregates $5,380,000. The amount of money which the state has forthcoming from sale contracts of school lands approximates $5,000,000. Arrangements must be made therefore for a continuous investment of a trust fund of at least $10,000,000. Under prevailing constitutional limitations investment of anywhere near the full amount of this fund is impossible." 6 Ja 03, p.4-5 b S. D. Herreid. "The 'permanent school fund' at the close of the fiscal year had reached the sum of $4,084,566.59. Of this sum on that day $538,511.06 was lying idle in the state treasury. . . . Our magnificent school fund will in the near future assume gigantic proportions. The commissioner of school and public lands estimates that the remaining unsold school lands can in the near future 'be sold at a price at least equal to the average of those lands already sold, or $14.60 per acre'—a sum exceeding $31,000,000. The question is : What shall we do with this large trust fund? With a decreasing rate of interest on gilt-edged securities, and the public and private indebtedness of the state rapidly disappearing, the day is not far distant when it will be necessary to look beyond the state for the investment of this fund. The judicious management of this money will demand discriminating care and business ability of the highest order, and a comprehensive system sufficiently broad and elastic to remain operative, not till the next session of the Legislature, but for many years to come. . . ." 6 Ja 03, p.11

the state sufficiently guards its interest. It is worthy of inquiry, however, whether, in general, in granting school aid of any kind to towns or to districts, or for any educational purpose, the state should not reserve enough of definite authority to insure compliance with the intent of the state in granting such aid."

- b N. C. Aycock. "But for the fact that some of your honorable body have come to the Legislature instructed by the conventions which nominated you to secure the adoption of an amendment to the Constitution by which the taxes paid by the whites shall go to the education of the white children and the taxes paid by the negroes shall go to the education of the negro children, I should make no mention of any race question. I had confidently hoped that this matter would not be before you. We have just eliminated by our constitutional amendment the negro from any large participation in the government of the state. . . I am not unmindful of the fact that the education of the negro has been somewhat disappointing, and there are many of our people who really believe that education is injurious to the negro. They insist that it tends to make him worthless, and leads to the commission of crime. Unfortunately we have not gathered sufficient statistics to put this contention fully at rest, but the state's prison does keep a record, and from it, it is found that within the last two years of the negroes who have gone to the penitentiary 241 can not read and write, while 179 have been admitted who can read and write. 47.6 of our negro population are illiterate and 52.4 can read and write. So that for the higher crimes punishable in the penitentiary it clearly appears that illiteracy among the negroes is an injury to the state in that it produces over 40% more of crime. But, however this may be, our duty is plain to try to find a way in which his education can be made more valuable to himself and to his state. Certainly this can not be accomplished by leaving him to the pitiful income arising from his own taxes. The negroes of North Carolina pay for school taxes $126,442.90. There are 221,958 negro children of school age in the state. This would give to each child a little less than 57c, and would furnish schools for them for a little more than one month out of the 12. . . The federal court in Kentucky expressly held that a provision dividing the funds between the races according to the sums paid by each race for education was prohibited by the 14th amendment. It seems to me clear that this opinion is right, and if it is the proposed amendment would be declared unconstitutional, and the suffrage amendment which we have adopted, and which promises so much to the state, would undoubtedly follow in its wake. . . In my judgment our Constitution does not contemplate a division of the school fund per capita, but it is required that equal facilities shall be accorded both races. . ." 7 Ja 03, p.7-11

The State Board of Education, by whom the available school fund is distributed, has at no time been at all at fault; because it is required by law to apportion according to the census returns, and not on the enrolment. If the annual reports of the superintendents of public instruction may be relied on, it can not be questioned that many millions of the public money have been wasted, either on fictitious children, or on children who were not present at any time during the year in a public free schoolroom. . . ." 16 Ja 03, p.17

The primary object of the normal school system is often lost sight of, and many pupils are enrolled who have no intention or expectation of adopting school-teaching as a profession, while in some instances they are only doing the work that ought properly to be done in the higher grades of the public schools. The result of this course necessarily lowers the standard of normal school work, and at the same time affects injuriously the public schools wherever the normal school is located. . . The contracts, made under the law, will expire Sep. 1, 1903. Cities of 10,000 inhabitants or over, are not included within its provisions, unless their councils or school boards shall consent. Inasmuch as each session of the Legislature would necessarily have to fix the levy for these purposes and could fix it at 1 mill or half a mill or any other rate it might deem adequate for the ensuing biennial term, I am at a loss to see how the revenues for support of these institutions would be rendered any more secure or certain by the change than they are at present.”

The localities in which they are situated are so apt to look on them as private and to lose sight of their larger purposes and possibilities that I am disposed to agree with the superintendent in the suggestion. Speaking of them largely, I think they are not all carrying out the purpose of their establishment. They are not teaching agriculture, practically or theoretically. They are high schools for favored communities. A general board would establish a curriculum in which agriculture would have a most prominent place. If it were possible for us by means of these schools to give our boys and girls some pleasant theoretical and practical views of the growing of plants and interest them in our most important industry, they would be among the most valuable of all our institutions. . . If a general board is determined on for the purpose of providing the curriculum, it should be composed of the professor of agriculture of the polytechnic, the superintendent of education and the commissioner of agriculture, all to serve without pay. Again, a farmer's boy or girl can not always take a nine or 10 year course, for which some of these schools, at least, provide. They should all have a healthy four years course, the completion of which would carry the youth, beginning at a reasonable age of maturity, from the alphabet through a range of studies which would fit him or her for the most usual demands of life. A nine year course for an agricultural school does not fit the exigency of agricultural needs. . . "

"In both of his messages to the Legislature my immediate predecessor recommended the establishment of a public library system, to which I desire to call the attention of the Legislature. The object is the establishment of free public libraries as a supplement to our system of public schools. In nearly all the states laws now exist encouraging the establishment and maintenance of such libraries. The plan proposed is threefold: first, the creation of a nonpartizan board of library commissioners to serve without salary, but the board may expend a sum not exceeding $500 a year for clerk hire, traveling and incidental expenses; second, every civic division of the state, as school district, town or county, to be given power to levy taxes by a vote of its citizens for the establishment and support of public libraries, either in connection with its public schools or separate from them; third, a system of subsidies from the state to free public libraries, but no library to receive over $300 a year, and all grants to be paid in books to the library. It seems to be time for West Virginia to be making some step in this direction, though whether it is necessary to grant subsidies is an open question in my mind."

- a U. Wells. "The excellent work begun in 1899 by the Utah Art Institute has continued during the past two years and has caused this state to lead at least the intermountain West in art matters, and to obtain a position recognized throughout the country as one of prominence in art circles. More important than this, however, is the refining influence of this organization among the people of the state, who are enabled, through its exhibitions, its lectures and other activities, to become familiar with current art thought and are stimulated to take part in our art development. It is well in line with the tendency of the whole country, that drawing and art become more distinct features of education in the public schools; but Utah was the first to create an art institute as a state organization, and the fact has been widely commented on and always to our credit. Important exhibitions were given in Provo last year and in Salt Lake City the year previous, showing marked advance in merit over those of previous years. School exhibitions of drawings have also become the custom. The institute has continued its lecture work and is now getting into better position than ever to make this feature prominent and effective. The state now owns, in the Alice Art Collection, enough fine paintings to form a permanent art gallery, besides other treasures in design, art photography, architectural drawings, etc., that are fully equal in value to the amount heretofore received in the way of state aid. These are being added to by donation and otherwise, and the institute is now looking for a place where they can be kept constantly before the public. In the meantime they are hanging on the walls of the governor's office, and subject to your inspection whenever you visit the executive. The usual appropriation of $1000 per annum to be expended by the institute as defined by the statute creating it, should be continued for the ensuing two years." 13 Ja 03, p.41-42

Local government

Municipalities

The usage of terms designating local bodies varies widely in different states. The word municipality is here used throughout in its original and strictest meaning to designate any densely populated, incorporated community; thus including cities, villages, boroughs and "towns" (as a name for villages) but not including townships. Where the word town is used to designate the primary of the county it is grouped with township government, though in the case of the New England towns the nature of the government approaches more nearly that of a municipality than that of a western township.

In many states, municipalities, specially cities, are divided into classes according to population. As the classification varies widely, the limits of population designated thereby are in these references substituted for the number of the class.

- b Cal. Gage. "I venture to call your attention to a matter which, by reason of its disintegrating tendency, seems to me to be portentous of future probable peril to the local sovereignty of the state. Constitutional amendments, proposing large grants of power, specially to municipalities, have been so often loosely worded by their framers in the Legislature, that after adoption by the people, when judicially construed, it becomes evident that excessive power has been ceded, thereby limiting the sovereign functions of the people. I strongly favor the right of cities and towns to be free from legislative interference in those purely local concerns which are necessary for their maintenance as municipal bodies. I have a most sincere affection for city and town government. . . Laws of a broad and flexible character definitely limited to purely local needs and concerns are both proper and necessary for the growth and welfare of a municipality; but irrevocable, ambiguous constitutional charters are a lurking peril to the supreme interests of the state. The members of the Constitutional Convention of 1878, though having the right idea of preserving municipalities from Legislative interference with their local interests, did not design that the state should suffer by the provisions inserted in the Constitution providing for municipal organization. Yet the gradual addition to the Constitution of incautious constitutional amendments relating to municipal charters has tended to abstract from the necessary power of the state. While moderate decentralization is essential to municipal liberty, immoderate decentralization leads to disintegration. . . I regard this excessive growth of municipal power as a peaceful mode of secession from the state and an unconscious blow against the state's integrity, and, indirectly, an unpatriotic assault on national existence. Municipal leagues exist at the present time throughout the United States whose common object is the extension of municipal powers, and in consequence the limitation of state power. In view of this massing of opinion toward decentralization, it behooves patriotic legislators to be cautious and conservative in the drafting of constitutional amendments which have for their object the augmentation of municipal power, considering the special provisions of our state Constitution." 5 Ja 03, p.59-62

- a N. Y. Odell. "The charter of the city of New York presents many anomalies and renders difficult the fixing of responsibility where it properly belongs. . . Additional power should be conferred on the mayor, so that he shall be charged with full responsibility as is the case in every other municipality within the state. The conditions in the city of New York relating to the police force, the fire department and other branches of the city government, are of such a character that amendments should be made to the city's charter to correct the evils which exist. . ." 7 Ja 03, p.24-25
- b O. Nash. "During the last days of June the Supreme Court of the state handed down several decisions, which practically deprive our municipal corporations of all government. . . Under the old Constitution, the General Assembly was left free to provide for any city or village such a government as it might wish. As a result they were given special charters, each differing from the other in many important particulars. . . The subject was carefully considered by the convention which made the Constitution of 1851. The result of their labors was art. 13 of that Constitution, § 1 of which provides, 'The General Assembly shall pass no special act conferring corporate powers,' and § 6 of which reads, 'The General Assembly shall provide for the organization of cities and incorporated villages by general laws, and restrict their power of taxation, assessment, borrowing money, contracting debts and loaning their credit, so as to prevent the abuse of such powers.' This command was fairly well obeyed for several years. Then, what seemed to be the wants and demands of the people caused a resort to various modes of classification. These grew to be absurd in their character. . . This transgression of the law of the Constitution could not last forever. . . It has been suggested, by very respectable people, that you can authorize the citizens of municipalities to do something that you can not do yourselves; that you may empower the people of the 800 cities and villages in Ohio to assemble in constitutional conventions, and, each for itself, adopt a charter for its government. The result would be as many schemes for the government of cities and villages as there are municipalities in the state. . . I have devoted much time, thought and study to this subject, have called to my assistance skilled and learned men, and have prepared with their help a bill which contains all the

The classification as now provided is based entirely on the assessable valuation of property, a method which, in some instances, has tempted county boards of equalization to reduce the entire assessment roll below the actual value of the property, rather than submit to the increase of salaries as well as the number of deputies to which certain officers are entitled by reason of the property valuation of the several counties.” 5 Ja 03, p.12-13
- c N. J. Murphy. “I recommend that a law be passed abolishing the fee system in payment of various county officials throughout the state, and fixing their compensation in a suitable salary. . . . As to most offices and in all the larger counties, the saving to the people would amount to very large sums. This is specially so as to the office of sheriff. There is no practical reason why this office should not be salaried; and, when it is stated that this office in many counties yields in fees over $20,000 a year, the gain to the people is at once apparent. . . .” 13 Ja 03, p.6-7

A manufacturer requires no franchise in order that he may construct and operate his factory. The streets are dedicated to the public and the sovereignty of a municipality over them should never extend to the right to conditionally prohibit their use by the public. . . . It is a fact . . . no well informed person will deny, that the value of municipal franchises is not so much in the right to operate as in the ability to prevent others from operating, thereby creating and maintaining a monopoly the logical fruition of which is arbitrary and often inadequate service with excessive charges accompanying it. It may be contended that this would result in the promotion of irresponsible and designing undertakings, but this can be effectually and amply safeguarded by indemnification and by charter provisions. To guard against the consolidation of competing interests, it is only necessary to stipulate and embody in the charter that the public shall have a proprietary interest, and that the relinquishment of control and ownership shall be a waiver of all rights to occupancy and operation. The people should be compensated in some degree for occupancy of the public streets by public service corporations, and to this end I recommend that a law be enacted requiring the license of all such corporations to operate to be contingent on the payment of a fixed per centum of their gross revenues into the municipal treasury annually. . . ."

The methods now employed are antiquated and useless, being those employed for a century or more ago, with some few exceptions, where a superior enterprise of some locality has led to the adoption of somewhat more efficient processes and the use of better materials. . . The state should borrow an amount sufficient to construct at once a public highway of macadam from its northernmost to its southernmost boundary. The road, when completed, will be the best in the state. The engineer estimates the total cost of the road at $40,000. The convict labor will probably amount to twenty-five thousand ($25,000) dollars. When this road is completed, I have very little doubt that it will be a paying investment, but apart from the pecuniary returns to the state in the way of tolls, the development of the country into which it goes will add materially to the wealth of the state. . . . There is another act of the Legislature requiring the penitentiary to furnish convicts and take stock in a turnpike to be constructed from Marion, in McDowell county, to Spruce Pine, in Mitchell county, and from Spruce Pine a road to Burnsville, in Yancey county, and a separate road from Spruce Pine to Bakersville, in Mitchell county. I hope that this act will be permitted to remain on the statute books. I know of no greater work which the state can do than in constructing these roads where it is impossible for them to be built by private enterprise or by county effort. . . ." 7 Ja 03, p.42-43
- i Pa. Pennypacker. "I suggest that the Legislature consider the propriety of imposing a slight tax on some one of her [Pennsylvania] productions, the proceeds to be applied to the betterment of our roads. . . ." 20 Ja 03, p.5

2705 General improvements. Contracts2713 Road taxes and work2714 Poll tax and road work

- a S. D. Herreid. ". . . In this connection I would recommend the abolition of the primeval custom of 'working out' the poll and road tax. . . . I could mention more than one county in the state where for 20 years or more the road tax has been 'worked out,' and the only tangible evidence of this fact consists in huge packages of canceled warrants on the county fund drawn for imaginary services on the part of the district road supervisor. . . ." 6 Ja 03, p.39

2722 Miscellaneous2723 Automobiles

- a Ct. Chamberlain. "The speed of automobiles and other vehicles on public highways should be limited by statute law." 7 Ja 03, p.15
- b N. H. Bachelder. "There is a widespread, earnest, and just feeling that some restrictions or regulations should be put on the use of our public highways by automobiles. . . ." 7 Ja 03, p.15
- c N. J. Murphy. "The increasing use of automobiles, and the record of accident and death caused by them, make it important that the Legislature should pass a law regulating their use. . . In the interest of the lives and comfort of the community, I ask the Legislature to pass a law that will require a suitable examination to be passed before any one may be allowed to drive an automobile, and that no automobile shall be allowed in this state that is geared to run at a higher speed than 15 miles an hour. If, because of the construction of certain machines, this is impractical, definite speed regulations in such cases might be defined." 13 Ja 03, p.13-14

Trees. Grass plots

- a Mass. Bates. "I believe that the time has come when more attention should be paid to the beautifying of the highways of the state, and particularly to the matter of planting trees and shrubbery. . . "

NEW YORK STATE LIBRARY AND HOME EDUCATION

Scope of library. The State Library includes general, sociology, law, medical, education and history libraries and the Library School. Besides the usual work of a great reference library, its field covers compilation of catalogues, bibliographies, indexes, reference lists and other aids for readers not having direct access to the library, also loans of books to students and promotion of general library interests of the State.

Use. As the library was founded for the benefit of the whole State, books not readily accessible elsewhere and not so much used at Albany as to make their brief absence from the shelves serious are lent under the rules guarding against loss or undue detention to:

- 1 Any institution in the University.
- 2 Any registered public or free library.
- 3 Responsible heads of state institutions, departments or courts, or to those connected with the state government and needing books for use in their official work.
- 4 Registered study clubs, extension centers, summer schools or other recognized educational agencies.
- 5 Any resident of the State making studies or investigations in which he needs the assistance of the State Library, provided that his responsibility is known to the library or that he gives satisfactory references or makes a deposit covering the value of the books.

The library recognizes this lending of books to distant points as a very important part of its work and aims to help the largest number possible of those needing its assistance, not only by lending but also by recommending the best books and furnishing, through its Home Education Department devoted specially to such work, printed or manuscript aids to those pursuing studies or courses of reading without a teacher.

Home Education. This includes promotion, sympathetic assistance and supervision of summer, vacation, evening and correspondence schools and other forms of extension teaching, lectures, university extension courses, study clubs, lyceums, debating societies, literary clubs and other agencies for promoting and extending more widely opportunities and facilities for education to those unable to attend the usual teaching institutions.

The most potent factors in home education are: (1) putting the best reading within reach of all citizens by traveling libraries and annotated book lists; (2) aid given in organizing new and increasing efficiency of established local libraries by the public libraries division, through which the State yearly expends about $60,000 for the benefit of free libraries. This division is devoted to promoting general library interests of the State and in all practicable ways assisting communities willing to do their part in providing the best reading for their citizens.

New York State Library Legislation bulletins

Annual summary 1-7, 9-11, 13, 15, 18, 21 Comparative Summary and Index of State Legislation, 1890-date. 50c each, except $1 for no. 11 (1899)

These are minutely classed annual summaries of new laws passed by all the states, followed by a full alphabetic index of specific topics. As a decision of a state Supreme Court or of the United States Supreme Court declaring a statute unconstitutional is in effect equivalent to its repeal by the Legislature, a digest of such decisions is included. The votes on constitutional amendments and constitutional conventions are also given, and important provisions of new constitutions summarized.

Annual review 16, 19. Review of Legislation, 1901-date. 25c each.

Contains contributions from leading specialists in all parts of the country. For each important subject there is an article treating briefly of the most important acts, indicating the general trend by references to previous laws, and in general giving, so far as practicable, a historical and sociologic setting to the year's legislation.

Messages 17, 21 Digest of Governors Messages, 1902-date. 25c each.

Monographs 8, 12, 14. 8 State Finance Statistics, 1890 and 1895. 57p. Mar. 1897. 10c.

This bulletin was prepared by E. Dana Durand Ph.D. when legislative librarian. It is a comparative summary of the receipts and expenditures of all the states, including also statistics relating to endowment funds and state debts.

—12 Trend of Legislation in the United States. 40p. May 1900. 5c. By Robert H. Whitten Ph.D. Sociology librarian.

A sketch of the general trend of recent legislative regulation from a sociologic standpoint. Laws relating to the organization of the government itself are not considered, merely a broad, comprehensive view being given of the general tendency of attempts at social regulation and control.

—14 Taxation of Corporations in New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and New Jersey. 198p. May 1901. 25c. By Robert H. Whitten Ph.D. Sociology librarian.

Contains (1) a brief review of the corporation tax systems of the four states; (2) a summary by states showing the various state and local taxes imposed on each class of corporations; (3) a compilation of corporation tax statutes.

Annual subscription price $1 payable in advance.

Subscribers will receive annually:

1 Comparative Summary and Index of Legislation [average 300p.]

2 Review of Legislation [average 200p.]

3 Digest of Governors Messages [average 200p.]

4 Any other bulletins issued of less than 500 pages.

Volumes 1-3 (each containing 5 annual bulletins) $2 each unbound or $2.25 in cloth. Subsequent volumes $1 each unbound, $1.25 in cloth.

Volume 4 contains bulletins 16-19. Beginning with Digest of Governors Messages 1903 the three or more bulletins of each year will constitute a volume.

Legislation and administration

Of the 358,000 volumes in the library, about 102,000 are in law and sociology including statistics, economics, political science, public documents and administration. The city, state and United States documents afford unusual advantages for many lines of research.

Card indexes. A consolidated card index of state legislation, beginning with 1890, makes it easy to refer to laws on any subject in any state within the past 14 years. A very useful classed list of books and articles treating comparatively the laws and administrative systems of cities, states and nations is also maintained.

PREFACE

As a contribution to better organization of material for comparative study of state government and laws the State Library now issues three annual bulletins; Digest of Governors Messages, Summary and Index of Legislation, and Review of Legislation.

The Digest of Governors Messages is a topical digest covering all the states and including related topics in the president's message.

The present Summary and Index of Legislation, the 14th of its series, is a minutely classified summary or index of new laws passed by all the states, including votes on constitutional amendments and decisions declaring statutes unconstitutional.

The Review of Legislation contains contributions from specialists in all parts of the country reviewing governors' recommendations and the laws enacted on each important subject.

These three closely related annuals make up a yearbook of comparative legislation useful to legislators, public officers, journalists, investigators and all interested in keeping track of the movement of legislation in general or on any special subject.

MELVIL DEWEY

N. Y. STATE LIBRARY SUMMARY OF LEGISLATION 1903

EXPLANATIONS

These must be carefully read to understand the bulletin.

Scope. All general permanent laws are included. Private, local and temporary acts, unless of great general interest, are omitted. Many acts, general in form but special in their application, are also omitted. Private acts applying to particular persons or granting relief to specific public officers and local acts applying to a single political division or to but a small proportion of the political divisions belonging to the same class are omitted. All general appropriation bills are omitted. Special appropriation acts providing for the establishment of a new institution or making some extraordinary appropriation marking the beginning of a new state policy are included. Laws providing for the general management and control of a particular state institution are included but those relating to some detail in the administration of a particular state institution are omitted. All laws legalizing acts already performed are omitted.

Method. Usually but one entry is made for a law. To ascertain what legislation has been passed concerning a subject it is necessary for the reader to refer also to the more inclusive heads and to observe carefully the cross references. The change made by the new law is shown, if it is practicable to show it concisely. Italics are used to indicate new matter; matter superseded by the new law is included in brackets.

Citations. A citation to an act indexed or summarized is set off at the end of the entry. It contains chapter number or page of act or resolution and day and month of approval or passage. In all states except Georgia, Alabama, Illinois, Missouri, Ohio and Oregon the session laws are numbered consecutively. Where this is the case the abbreviation for chapter (ch.) is omitted; e.g. 94, 5 J1 03. In the six states in which acts are not numbered consecutively number of page is given preceded by the abbreviation p.; e.g. p.471, 9 My 03. If resolutions are printed and numbered separately from the acts the number of the resolution is given preceded by the abbreviation (r., j.r., c.r.)

In North Carolina and Rhode Island where the governor's approval is not necessary, in a number of states where joint and concurrent resolutions do not require the approval of the governor and in the case of bills that become laws by the expiration of time without the signature of the governor, the date of passage by Legislature is given. In a few cases the date of passage and approval are both omitted in the session laws, and in these cases the year only is given.

Citations to statutes amended or repealed by the act indexed always begin with the most general part and end with the most specific; e.g. '95 ch.859, §2; '98 p.78; R.S. '96, t.3, art. 10, §3 ¶ 4. For abbreviations used in citing compilations of statutes see page 272.

Classification. The classification of the summary is the same as that used in the Digest of Governors Messages and will continue unchanged from year to year, except for insertion of new headings necessitated by new subjects of legislation. The numbers assigned to headings will also remain unchanged so that readers can follow recommendations and laws on any subject by looking under the same marginal number in each bulletin. The numbering corresponds to the consecutive numbering of headings in our card index of legislation 1890 to date. Where there is no legislation this subject number is skipped. The entries under each head are alphabetized by states and each entry is designated by a letter or a letter and a numeral; e.g. b, d2.

Subject index. This is an alphabetic list of the subjects included. References are to the marginal class and entry numbers.

Local government

Municipalities

The usage of terms designating local bodies varies widely in different states. The word municipality is here used throughout in its original and strictest meaning to designate any densely populated, incorporated community; thus including cities, villages, boroughs, hamlets and "towns" (as a name for villages) but not including townships. Where the word town is used to designate the primary division of the county, it is grouped with township government, though in the case of the New England towns the nature of the government approaches more nearly that of a municipality than that of a western township.

In many states, municipalities, specially cities, are divided into classes according to population. As the classification varies widely, the limits of population designated thereby are in these references substituted for the number of the class.
